U.S. approves overpass plan

The preliminary plan for construction of the proposed downtown Granite City overpass has been approved by the U.S. Department of Transportation, it was announced Tuesday.

The action resolves all preliminary technicalities such as the route of the new highway, determination of right-of-way needed and EPA regulations requiring details of environmental impact.

Mayor Paul Schuler said the DOT approval clears the way for design planning which is to be started immediately by M.W. Architects & Engineers, St. Louis planning engineers handling the overpass project.

Monroe Brewer, city engineer, said the design plans still are subject to approval of the DOT, but that acceptance of the preliminary plan by the federal agency is a strong indication that full approval of the project is virtually certain.

The overpass will be constructed at Nineteenth Street and will span the railroad tracks to West Granite City and connect with FA Route 151, the Great River Road.

Schuler announced that a hearing will be held in Springfield Sept. 15 before the Illinois Commerce Commission on an application by Granite City for financial aid from the state's grade crossing protection fund which is administered by the ICC.

The commerce commission also will determine to what extent the railroad will play a financial role in construction of the overpass.

Railroads now using the Granite City crossings in the downtown area include Conrail, Terminal Railroad Association, Illinois (Gulf) Central, Norfolk & Western and Illinois Termination.

Granite City has been allotted $2.2 million in Federal Aid to Urban Systems (FAUS) funds as part of the overpass cost.

The city has applied to the Illinois Commerce Commission for approximately $3 million in grants from the grade crossing protection fund.

Cost of the overpass is estimated at approximately $5 million.

May hike GC tax 21 cents

A state ultimatum that Granite City levy taxes this year to fully fund requirements of its police and fire pension funds could result in a tax rate increase of 21 cents per $100 assessed valuation, city officials disclosed Tuesday night.

In a discussion immediately preceding Tuesday night's regular council session, City Attorney George Filcoff said that to meet state requirements in funding the fire and police pension funds, the city would need to levy taxes of $300,000 for each fund.

Last year Granite City levied taxes of $144,466 for the fire pension fund and $101,007 for the police pension fund. In previous years, levies for these funds were even less on some occasions, resulting in diminishing reserves with which to pay pensions and disability claims.

Al Barnes named to United Way PR post

Al Barnes, vice-president, director of advertising for the Tri-City Grocery Co., has been appointed public relations chairman of the 1977 Tri-Cities Area United Way campaign. It was announced today by John Blasingame, general chairman of the drive.

Barnes started with Tri-City Grocery Co. immediately after graduating from Collinsville High School in 1954. He began as a stock boy in the company's Belleme Village Supermarket.

After one year in the store, Barnes was appointed assistant advertising manager in the firm's warehouse-office facilities in Granite City.

He was named advertising manager in 1966 and appointed to the board of directors in 1973. He became vice-president in 1975.

Barnes has been president of the Granite City Jaycees and Paddlers' Swim Club. He currently is serving as a director of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce and is an active member of the local Elks lodge, serving as membership chairman for the past three years.

GC special election bill ok'd

Granite City voters will go to the polls Oct. 4 to vote on the controversial question as to whether the city street superintendent shall be elected or appointed.

An ordinance setting the election date was given final passage by the Granite City Council Tuesday night after it had remained on first reading for the past week.

The ordinance was presented after petitions bearing more than 8,400 signatures asking a vote on the issue were filed with the aldermen by a group of persons opposing council action on April 28 that changed the street superintendent's post from an elective to an appointive one.

An effort to place the ordinance on final passage during the Aug. 16 council session failed. At that time a motion to suspend the rules so that the bill could be offered for final passage lost by two votes. The bill then was placed on first reading.

Only one negative vote was recorded.

A program of celebration, merry-making, dancing, cultural exhibits and entertainment marked with feasting will highlight the second annual Madison Ethnic Festival this weekend.

The event will begin Friday at 5 p.m. and continue until midnight, and Saturday and Sunday will operate from noon until midnight on the grounds of St. Mary's School in Madison.

The performance schedule, according to George Amish, chairman of entertainment, will be as follows:

Friday 4 p.m. until 7 p.m., Joe Ray's Bluegrass Subodusters, followed until midnight by Vince Delev's International Polka Band.

Saturday it's bluegrass again from 4 p.m. until 6 p.m.; Checker Board Squares 6 p.m. until 7 p.m.; Slave Serenaders 7 p.m. until 8 p.m.; and David Hylla's Polka band from 8 p.m. until midnight.

Sunday, Ukrainian dancers, 2 p.m. until 3 p.m.; St. Stanislaus Polish Dancers, 3 p.m. until 4 p.m.; Little Cosacks of the Activity of the Virgin Mary Eastern Orthodox Church from 4 p.m. until 5 p.m.; Vesili Paidashi, 5 p.m. until 6 p.m.;

Happy Strings Junior Tamburitars, 6 p.m. until 7 p.m. and Vince Delev's polka band from 8 p.m. until midnight.

Groups participating include: Italian-Americans, Mexican Honorary Commission, Armenian Relief Society, Madison Fire Department, Madison Ladies City Organization, Madison Ladies

Democratic Club, Third Degree Knights of Columbus, St. Mary's Parents Association, Explorer Post 10-4, Danica Tamburitars, Slavic Serenaders, Nativity of the Virgin Mary Eastern Orthodox Church, Amvets Post 204, Khoury League, and Polish Hall.

A wide variety of ethnic foods will delight those who venture forth to taste them, according to William Gushleff, chairman of the festival.

"There really are too many fine dishes to name, but a few are piroshki, borsch, piroshi and Russian tea being prepared by the members of the Eastern

This county a 1978 political battleground?

(23rd in a series on politics in Madison County)

There have been times in the past 30 years when Republican candidates despaired of making a dent in the Quad-City Democratic stronghold and didn't bother to campaign here.

Those times have changed, largely because Grand Old Party aspirants began to realize that the margin of victory or defeat here had a big effect on how they fared in the county or state.

A narrow loss in a Democratic area could mean overall success for the GOP.

Governor Richard Ogilvie, Republican, managed to carry Madison County by a big margin, a feat that he frequently calls attention to, describing this county as the most Democratic in Illinois.

Both Madison County and Illinois have shown an increasing tendency to "split the ticket." While many voters still put an "X" in the party circle also the ballot, others mark favorite individual candidates in both party columns.

In 1976, Secretary of State Alan Dixon (D) of Belleville won by an overwhelming margin and Michael Bakalis (D) upset highly-regarded State Comptroller George Lindberg (R).

But in the same November '76 balloting, Thompson won by nearly 2-1 for governor and Attorney General William J. Scott (R) gained re-election

GC teachers ok new pact

According to the agreement reached Tuesday, the board will contribute $100 per year for those currently in steps one and two; $450 in steps three through 12, and $850 for step 13. Both the district and the teachers contribute to the retirement fund.

A salary schedule for 1976-77 provides a non-degree teacher hired at $6,000 could advance to step 13 with a salary increase to $12,400, and a first-year teacher with a BA degree hired at $9,300 would receive $16,700 from step one.

A master's scale from step one to $19,050 increases to $17,450 at step 13.

Those holding bachelor degrees with additional semester hours are on a first year pay schedule. A first year teacher with a bachelor degree with 150 additional hours would start at $9,550 and at step 13 receive $16,950, while a teacher with a bachelor degree with 175 hours would receive a beginning salary of $9,800 and increase to $17,200 at step 13.

Beginning salary for a teacher with a master's degree and an additional 190 hours is set at $10,300 and will reach $17,700 at step 13.

Hillmer said the two-year contract includes a salary reopener at the second year and other minor additional retirement benefits.

There were no changes made in the employer insurance program which the district provides at the present time.

How to strengthen the criminal justice system in Madison County?

Madison County and its criminal justice agencies should undertake a thoroughgoing program to reduce the threat of crime in the county by further increasing the risk of punishment to perpetrators of such crime.

In considering the implementation of such a program, however, concerned county officials should recognize that:

1. The points of vulnerability are broader and less clearly crystallized in Madison County than elsewhere in this region.

2. The infusion of new resources is required at several levels in the county's criminal justice system, but principally in those levels under the county government's jurisdiction.

The County must pinpoint its governmental priorities more clearly, recognizing, though, that appropriate investment of resources can prove effective only if sound leadership is provided to guide their use.

4. The formulation of specific programs of action for improvement in the county's system is an easier task than beneficial, but the panel's principal efforts should be open and cooperative en-virement within the system, the creation of which is a prerequisite to the successful implementation of such a program.

To provide the first steps toward the creation of such an environment, the Madison County Board must assume the burden of leadership.

The chairman of the County Board should be empowered to convene a special panel or ad hoc committee for the express purpose of:

A. Considering the findings and recommendations of this report, especially as they pertain to the existence of the county's criminal justice system.

B. Publicly pinpointing responsibilities for achieving measurable improvements in the county's system.

C. Monitoring progress actually attained and assessing this progress publicly.

The membership of this panel should include the County Board chairman himself, the chairman of the county's Judiciary Committee, a judge of the Circuit Court, the state's attorney, the sheriff, a representative chief of police and a representative mayor, with the latter two being drawn from the county's larger municipalities.

The staff assistance of such groups as SILEC may prove beneficial, but the panel's principal efforts should be directed toward gaining the firm personal commitment of the county's leadership structure to a program of change and improvement.

In the absence of such personal commitment and of leadership by example, the formation of such a panel or committee would be unwise, as it would create the appearance rather than the substance of a response to the issues noted.

Madison County officials and criminal justice agency leaders should likewise embark on a program to inform and educate the public that crime can, in fact, be controlled and to stimulate public support for needed improvements in the county.

Tevis quits as librarian

Raymond H. Tevis, director of the Granite City Public Library, has announced his resignation, effective Monday, Sept. 5. Tevis will join the teaching faculty of the Department of Library Science, Bell State University, Muncie, Ind.

Tevis assumed his duties here Sept. 1, 1974.

In 1973-74 he was the librarian at Granite City High School South and previously taught at the School of Library and Information Science University of Missouri at Columbia.

Tevis received his doctorate in American History from St. Louis University in 1976. He holds a bachelor degree from Greenville College and a master's degree from SIUE and the University of Missouri-Columbia in history and library science.

In a letter to Alderman Ronald L. Coleman, president of the board of library directors, Tevis said:

"The remodeling and renovating program completed last year at a cost of approximately $150,000 was celebrated with an open house on Oct. 24, 1976 — a proud moment for all library board members and staff members. The interior of the library, with its soft, warm colors, has never been more beautiful. And with the addition of a complete new lighting system, the library's beauty has few competitors in southern Illinois, Tevis said.

"Our full-time library staff has increased by three members during this period. Most important has been the addition of two professional librarians — the Head of Adult Services and the Children's Librarian.

These two professionals have expanded services to our community, and I have received many comments from library patrons about the high quality of their work. The high volume of work in the Adult Department required the addition of another desk assistant.

"The Children's Department now has a full range of programs, and the activity and interest generated by these programs has exceeded expectations. In the Adult Department, the retrospective periodical collection has been converted to microfiche, providing a greater amount of floor space for other activities as well as making it easier for desk assistants to retrieve older magazines upon request.

Cassettes have been added to the collection, and the demand for them is increasing. The most significant improvement in the Adult Department, however, has been the updating and expansion of the reference collection; it is now a quality collection," according to Tevis.

"Library services will be further expanded later this year when the branch library opens at 6 Namecki Village, 3400 Namecki Road, in the Namecki Village Shopping Center — the

'Y' has new publication

The Tri-City Area YMCA has announced the first in a series of Family Edition publications depicting all program and membership activities for fall and winter 1977-78.

The Family Edition is available at the YMCA and will be mailed upon request to Tri-City residents.

The Family Edition includes complete program descriptions for the upcoming fall and winter seasons. Special emphasis is placed on fitness classes for men, women, and senior citizens with conveniently scheduled classes.

The fitness emphasis this fall will include cardio-vascular based programming for adult businessmen and includes jogging and calisthenic classes and distance swimming programs.

New this fall will be the senior citizens fitness and aquatic programs beginning on Sept. 7 and 9.

The women's fitness program will be Monday through Thursday from 10 to 11 a.m., Tuesday and on Thursday from 12 to 1 p.m. and 7 to 8 p.m.

Other programs and schedules included in the Family Edition are swim classes for ages 6 months through adult; dance classes including square, disco, social, belly, and ballet classes; youth programs including a complete aquatic schedule, gymnastics, soccer, YBA basketball, judo, wrestling, and the swim team.

The program calendar indicates new classes and activities from Sept. 17 through April 24, 1978.

To receive Family Edition, Quad-Cityans may call 876-7200 and ask to be placed on the mailing list.

Leukemia drive opens Sept. 4

Over 14,000 area volunteers are prepared to begin their neighborhood rounds for the Metropolitan St. Louis Chapter, Leukemia Society of America annual fund raising campaign. They will march from Sept. 4 to Sept. 17 until a goal of $76,000 is reached so that the society's programs of research, patient-aid and public and professional education can be broadened.

"Leukemia can occur at any age. Though it has long been considered a childhood disease, it afflicts more adults," stated William M. Ward Jr., chapter president. "It is estimated that leukemia and related diseases, such as Hodgkin's disease, will strike approximately 50,800 Americans during the coming year.

There is no known cure for leukemia but more effective treatment is prolonging lives beyond the predictions of ten years ago. It has been leukemia research during the past decade that has brightened the future of leukemia patients."

The Leukemia Society of America, Inc. is a national voluntary agency with chapters throughout the country. It concentrates all of its efforts on the problem of leukemia, its control and eventual eradication. To achieve these aims the Metropolitan St. Louis Chapter, which includes this area, provides financial assistance to leukemia patients and their families in the form of payment for life-prolonging drugs and transportation to and from treatment centers not covered by insurance or any other source. The Chapter also supports a researcher at Washington University School of Medicine in St. Louis.

CURIOSITY GOT THE CAT

That's how the old saying has it. Kids have that in common with cats—CURIOSITY. Medicines, both prescribed and over-the-counter, are generally not for children. Cycles, skateboards problems at Madison Loud motorcycles, bicycle riding on the sidewalks and skateboards on the streets were topics of concern discussed at length Tuesday night during the Madison City Council meeting.

First Ward Alderman Paul Ashford said, "We seem to be getting more and more loud motorcycles in town and are getting a lot of complaints. I am sure we can get these people to ride them at a level so as not to cause so much noise. I have been getting a lot of complaints particularly after 9 and 10 p.m."

Several other aldermen voiced similar objections to the noise and "hot rodding" of motorcycles in Madison.

Mayor Mike Sasyk said, "I'm sure our police can do something about this and if the riders won't cooperate on a voluntary basis they can be arrested."

Chief of Police Donald L. Bridick said, "I feel that we can talk to motorcycle riders and ask for their cooperation, and if they don't cooperate I will instruct the police to start giving citations."

"We need to find some way to get the kids not to ride these skateboards on the streets, before we have a fatality and one of the children gets killed or badly hurt. It won't be the driver's fault. The kids are small and dart around on the boards."

Third Ward Alderman Ronald Grzywacz said, "Maybe we could get the parents and the children to ride them in the alleys. They are all paved now and far less dangerous. I would hate for the kids not to be able to ride skateboards as there is not a lot for kids to do, anyway. If the police talk to the kids, I think we can get both parents and children to cooperate. They are dangerous in the streets, even the side streets."

Riding bicycles on sidewalks also was discussed.

It was pointed out that riding bikes on sidewalks is against state law and bicycle riders are, by state law, to follow the same basic requirements as an automobile driver.

The council approved condemnation proceedings to begin on 1455 Second St., 1312 State St., 1611 Fifth St., and 1534 Third St.

Approval was given Disabled American Veterans (DAV), Chapter 53, to hold a "Forget-Me-Not" campaign in Madison, Sept. 12 to 17.

Second Ward Alderman Frank Dutko said, "Can anything be done to get electric stop signals at the Third street and McCambridge Avenue intersection? We also need to reduce speed signs put up on the overpass."

Mayor Sasyk said, "We are meeting with the representatives of the Department of Transportation to see if anything can be done, and hopefully it can."

Sewer program still alive—board told

As a three-judge Appellate Court panel prepares to rule on the validity of a suit halting construction of sanitary sewers for Nameoki, Chouteau and Venice townships, reports indicate that sewer opponents are studying ways to further delay the project, even if the Appellate Court rules against them.

During Monday night's Nameoki Town Board of Trustees meeting, Mrs. Helen Hawkins, a precinct committeewoman, told the board she has heard that the sewer opponents who filed the current suit, including a township general assistance caseworker Ruth Andrews, are considering the filing of a whole new suit, should the present suit be turned down at the Appellate level.

Mrs. Andrews and George Dyckman, who has sold most of his property in Gaslight Walk and the sewer area, are named in a circular being distributed to homes requesting more money to continue the court fight.

M. Joseph Hill, attorney for the objectors, has said he feels the case can be appealed to the Illinois Supreme Court, if the Appellate Court rules against the suit.

Mrs. Hawkins, however, contends a separate suit may be used to keep the project at a standstill, rather than preparing an expensive Appellate Court appeal.

Mrs. Hawkins was one of those who filed the original suit, but since has withdrawn over differences of opinion among those who were objecting to the method of funding for the project.

She has continued to criticize some portions of the sewer project, but indicated Monday night she hopes those problems can be resolved without losing the whole project.

Louis Whitsell, former Nameoki Township supervisor and a member of the county's special sewer committee, said he attended the Appellate Court hearing in Mount Vernon Aug. 17 and noted, "I have strong hope the Appellate Court will rule in our favor."

He noted, "There is still a ray of hope for that project, since the contractors, Gene Sternberg and S.M. Wilson, have said they could extend their bid if there is no further delay and no appeal and 75 per cent federal and state grant is being held for us until Jan. 1."

"If there is no appeal, we can get the project going in the next few weeks, should the Appellate Court dismiss the suit," Whitsell commented.

Mrs. Hawkins said she objects to the program including sewer lines which already are served by Granite City sewers.

She said one of the strongest arguments being considered by the Appellate Court is double taxation of those who already are paying for sewer service and would have to pay an additional tax when new sewers are installed.

Whitsell noted several persons tapped into the Granite City sanitary sewers "without anyone's knowledge, including Granite City. Granite City found out and started charging those people for the sewer service. This borders on being illegal since there were grants to Granite City for sewers to serve only Granite City residents." He said he hopes a way can be found to amend the area which will be taxed to exclude those already having sewers. "This is a problem we can solve. It is a valid argument, but not valuable enough to keep my neighbors and everyone else in the area from having sewers. Former trustee Kenneth Gieson asked the township's attorney, Irvin C. Slate Jr., if an appeal would be expensive and Slate replied, "Not as bad as starting from scratch, but there would be quite a bit of work involved in preparing the case and it would be quite expensive." A ruling from the Appellate Court on the sewer case is expected within about a week, Whitsell said.

ERA Walkathon Saturday

A "Walk-A-Thon for Equality" will take place nationally on Saturday, in commemoration of women winning the right to vote with ratification of the 19th Amendment some 57 years ago.

The Metro-East Chapter of the National Organization for Women (NOW) is one of three area groups sponsoring walkathons in the metropolitan St. Louis area.

J. Dianne Rains, public relations officer for the chapter, said the walk will begin at 9 a.m. Saturday at Edwardsville High School parking lot, along a 10-mile route. Women will be awarded to the person raising the most funds for the walk, she noted, with 30 additional prizes also being offered to those collecting money from sponsors.

All proceeds will go to a national Equal Rights Amendment fund to help passage of the legislation. The ERA has been passed in 38 states, while three more are needed to make it an amendment to the U.S. Constitution, Miss Rains said.

The amendment, stating "Equality of rights under the law shall not be denied by the United States or by any state on account of sex," was first introduced in 1923. It has until early in 1979 to be passed. Participants in the walkathon will have several stops they can make along the 10-mile route, which is estimated to take about four hours walking time.

Maps of the route will be available at the starting point and walkers are being reminded to wear comfortable clothing and sturdy shoes, and to provide their own water canteens and snacks.

Refreshments will be served about 2:30 p.m. in the high school parking lot, where the walk will terminate. Prizes also will be presented at that time. Walkers tiring during the event will be picked up by officials along the route, Miss Rains said.

Pledges and donations to the walk may be mailed directly to: Metro-East NOW, 2145 Pontoon Road, Granite City, Ill. 62040. Additional information may be obtained by calling 931-5400.

Information concerning the St. Clair NOW walkathon in Belleville may be secured by calling 235-2509.

A walkathon is planned in St. Louis NOW chapter. For details, those interested may call 1-314-721-8248.

With the 1970 Illinois Constitution requiring that election of Illinois state officials be moved into non-Presidential years, two-year terms rather than four-year terms were decided last year and the same offices now will be up for regular four-year terms in 1978.

Thompson, Scott, Lieutenant Governor Dave O'Neal (R) of Belleville and U.S. Senator Charles H. Percy seem to be sure bets to seek their same offices next year, giving the Republicans a strong voting lineup.

Democrats also offer powerful slugs, with Dixon considered likely to seek another term as secretary of state unbeaten Bakalis eager to try for governor.

Daniel Walker, governor in 1972-76, also has indicated he may try for the 1978 Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

To bolster their already bright prospects, relative newcomer Thompson and 11-year Senator Percy said this week they are sharing the same polling service and advertising agency for next year, enabling them to divert more of their reelection funds to other portions of the campaign cost structure.

"Chuck" and "Big Jim," as they prefer to be known to the typical voter, will maintain separate campaign treasuries. They will take separate stands on issues, and will follow independent courses in a number of other aspects of the electioneering activity.

With the intense competition and the split-ballot trend, it appears likely that Madison County will be among the key 1978 election battlegrounds.

Five hurt in crash

Five persons were injured when the autos of Cynthia J. Balcer, 21, of 2212 E. 24th St. and Milton Walker, 29, East St. Louis, collided on Route 203 at Harrison Street, near Eagle Park Acres, at 5 p.m. Monday.

Witnesses said the Walker auto was leaving a stop sign on Harrison Street and turning onto Route 203 when it and Miss Balcer's auto collided.

Both drivers and three passengers were treated at St. Elizabeth Hospital after the accident.

Miss Balcer bumped her head and suffered pain to her head and neck and abrasions to her knees. X-rays were taken and she was released.

A passenger in her auto, Mrs. Adele Balcer, 55, also of 2212 E. 24th St., sustained a cut to her chin, an abrasion to her upper lip and a head injury. She was admitted for observation.

Walker was treated for a cut over his left eye and was released. James McNeil, 16, East St. Louis, a passenger in Walker's auto, was injured and went to the emergency room, but declined to be treated.

Another passenger in Walker's auto, Louis Winford, 30, East St. Louis, had pain in his left rib area, but was released after x-rays were taken. Walker was issued a ticket alleging failure to yield the right-of-way.

Carnival against dystrophy Saturday

A neighborhood carnival against dystrophy, a muscle disease, will be held Saturday at 136 Briarcliff Drive, with Bobby Buecker, 6, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Edward Buecker, serving as ringmaster, assisted by Linda Wickham.

The carnival which begins at 10 a.m. will feature such games as balloon-darts, fortune teller, a magic show, fish pond and at 2 p.m. the Buecker family band will perform.

All proceeds will go to aid the fight against dystrophy and related diseases. Last year, in cooperation with Muscular Dystrophy Associations of America, 42,239 such carnivals were held by children across the country and over $1,372,472 was raised for research and patient service programs.

For additional information call 451-1238.

Burglary charge

Ronald Q. Hamner, 18, who said he has no permanent address, was arrested at 3 p.m. Tuesday and charged with a weekend burglary of a construction trailer on Independence Drive.

The trailer was owned by G.H. Sternberg & Co. Entry was gained by breaking a window in the southwest corner and two air conditioners were stolen.

Also taken were three heavy-duty batteries valued at a total of $420. The batteries were removed from two tractors and a construction drag line and the batteries weighed 175 pounds each.

Prisoner taken to hospital

Clifford Moss, 44, of St. Charles, Mo., was admitted to the intensive care section of St. Elizabeth Hospital at 3:42 p.m., suffering with chest pains, multiple contusions and abrasions.

Moss earlier in the day allegedly was involved in a disturbance in the 1300 block of Madison Avenue and was advised by police to stay away from a particular residence.

Police received a phone call about a second disturbance and placed Moss under arrest on charge of disorderly conduct and assault.

While in the police station, Moss was allowed to make a telephone call. He then started complaining about pains in his chest and police took him to the hospital.

Bail for Moss has been set at $100.

DOWNTOWN DRENCHING: The Quad-City area received 1.7 inches of rain during Tuesday morning's downpour which caused extensive flooding of many streets. These motorists brave the flooded intersection of

1.7-inch rain hits area

Thick cloud cover turned daylight into dusk about 9:30 a.m. Tuesday when a severe storm system passed through the Quad-Cities, eradicating flash flooding at intersections, stalling vehicles, and knocked out pumping stations in Granite City.

The storm dumped 1.7 inches of rain in about 45 minutes time, according to readings at the Chain of Rocks Canal Lock 27.

Although lasting less than one hour, the cloudburst boosted official rainfall figures in the Quad-City area to 3.56 inches since Aug. 1, almost doubling the amount of precipitation already received here this month.

Rainfall on five days in August amounted to 1.86 inches.

Prospective students may register at Madison High School from 6 p.m. to 9 p.m. today and from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Friday and Saturday, Aug. 26, or call 878-7010 for details.

Among the courses still open are air conditioning, welding, auto mechanics and auto body repair, photography, upholstery, typing and physical fitness, Steptoe said.

Scholarships for BAC students

Women enrolled this fall in construction classes at Belleville Area College or Lewis and Clark Community College are eligible to apply for a scholarship from the National Association of Women in Construction Chapter 215.

The $200 per year scholarship is for tuition, books, fees and funds, according to Scholarship Administrator Kitt Taylor Lewis, of Biebel Roofing Co.

Applicants for the scholarship must have a "B" average, and be pursuing courses of study leading to a degree in some phase of construction, i.e., architecture, engineering, general contracting, material supplying, or construction, 2) enrolled in construction trade courses or 3) enrolled in the Construction Management Technology Program.

The deadline for applying is Aug. 31. Applications may be picked up at the Belleville Area College Financial Aids Office. For information, Quad-City area call 235-2700, ext. 288.

Falls from moving van

Laura Hill, 23, of 22114 Cleveland Blvd., was injured when she fell from the moving van of David Wayne, 23, of 2119 Benton St., at 3:15 a.m. Wednesday in the 1800 block of Madison Avenue.

She said she grabbed her purse from the door handle and the door opened. Wayne said the van was southbound at about 30 miles-per-hour at the time.

Mrs. Hill bumped her head and suffered contusions to her forehead, right hip, both elbows, both knees and her left foot and X-rays indicated a possible skull fracture. She was transferred to Firmin Desloge Hospital, St. Louis.

Man beaten with hammer

Nathaniel Pryor, 18, of 124 Guesche Homes, Madison, was admitted for observation at St. Elizabeth Hospital at 10:35 Wednesday suffering a cut to the right side of his head, abrasions to the right shoulder and right upper arm.

Venice police were called to a residence in the 1000 block of Calhoun Street in Venice in regard to a disturbance.

On arrival they found Pryor lying face down on the floor bleeding from the mouth.

Police believe Pryor was struck with a hammer found lying on a couch near him.

A 17-year-old girl was questioned and released pending further investigation.

Whitlock twins die Wednesday

Brad Allen and Jeffrey Michael Whitlock, infant twin sons of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Whitlock, 2246 Lee Ave., died at 7:40 a.m. and 7:46 a.m. Wednesday at St. Elizabeth Hospital a few minutes after birth.

Funeral arrangements are given in the obituary column.

Madison rail yard expansion part of consolidation plan

Plans for consolidating about 43 Illinois railroad yards in the St. Louis metropolitan region into three major yards — one of which will be the Madison yard of the Terminal Railroad Association — are being studied by the 18 railroads serving the St. Louis area.

The three-yard concept was explained to representatives of federal officials by railroad executives during a tour Wednesday morning. U.S. Congressman Robert Young and two representatives of his office also accompanied the railroad officials on the tour.

The dignitaries traveled in two cars equipped with rail wheels and left from the 19th Street crossing in Granite City, going south into the present Madison rail yards.

After studying operations there, they continued south through the site of a proposed new rail yard into the Alton and Southern Railroad yard, located at the southern edge of East St. Louis.

The railroad modernization and consolidation program was developed during the past year by a consulting firm under the guidelines of the Federal Railroad Association.

The plan, designed to free rail-laced riverfront land for other purposes, received the approval of the railroad steering committee (top railroad executives) and later the railroad technical advisory committee approved the plan.

The Regional Commerce & Growth Association of St. Louis also is supporting the program and has given modernization of rail facilities a high priority among the association's goals.

The Pittsburgh consulting firm of Corad Research Corp. conducted the study, which cost $250,000 for the first phase, completed June 30.

Charles DeWeese, general superintendent of the Terminal Railroad Association of St. Louis, which owns and operates the Madison rail yard, said the new plan calls for moderate expansion of the Madison yards which may call for some "limited property acquisitions."

He said most of the changes in the Madison yard would be changing the location of some rails, particularly at the overcrowded South end where the yard merges with other railroads.

However, a "modest" amount of land acquisition in the Madison and Venice vicinity would be necessary in order to comply with the plan.

The change in the plan would be creation of a large new rail yard between the Madison yard and East St. Louis. DeWeese said much of the property needed for the new yard is not owned by railroad rights-of-way no longer in use, so no major industries or residential developments would be involved.

The gateway yard also would undergo a major expansion program to handle the volume it would be expected to handle.

If the program is put into effect, the three large yards would be operated by individual computer systems which may be linked together to share information. DeWeese described the Madison yards now as being "somewhat automated," and said new switching controls, "the best the current technology has to offer" would be installed.

Rail cars then could pass from St. Louis through the three consolidated yards being switched only once or twice in the transition.

"Currently rail cars go through a series of switching operations in many of the yards they pass through. Each switch operation consumes time and leaves an opportunity for a mistake to be made.

"By decreasing the number of switching operations, we can save time and increase reliability that a car will move through St. Louis quickly on its destination," DeWeese stated.

He added speed and reliability are what rail customers are seeking and many are using barges or trucks to move their products for those reasons.

Some opposition from the trucking industry and barge lines is anticipated by the railroads, but major changes will be required if St. Louis is to remain a major rail center, observers believe.

DeWeese noted three previous rail consolidation plans have been considered and turned down, but noted, "There are no known reasons that this one can't work."

Funding of the plan is a major concern, but the sale or trade of riverfront land to be vacated by the plan is an essential part of financing the new yards, it was explained.

Cost estimates are not being released, but DeWeese commented the new plan will cost "substantially more" than the 1974 plan, which had a price tag estimated at $152 million.

The VIP treatment given federal officials yesterday morning indicates federal cooperation, possibly in the form of financial aid, may be essential to the program.

DeWeese said all the railroads are working together on the project and a great deal of agreement and cooperation has been exhibited. "Of course each railroad is looking out for its own interests, but we have much in common and each realizes not all can benefit to the same degree in the beginning and we will all benefit in the long run."

Congressional representatives on yesterday's tour were from the offices of Representative William Clay, Congressman Richard A. Gephardt, Sen. John Danforth and Sen. Thomas Eagleton of Missouri and Sen. Charles Percy and Sen. Adlai Stevenson III from Illinois.

Also present were officials of the TRRA, Illinois Terminal Railroad, Alton and Southern Railroad and R. J. Crisafulli, an official of the Federal Railroad Administration.

A $150 violin and its case, a $50 savings bond and a silver pig ornament valued at $20 were stolen from the home of Alice Curless, 2308 E. 25th St., between Aug. 16 and 12:10 p.m. Monday.

Her son and another relative checked the home at 12:05 a.m. Tuesday, Aug. 16, and said they heard someone run from the back yard and north in the alley.

Police were called and checked the house, noting it appeared to be secure at that time.

When the victim returned home Monday, she found the main fuses of the house had been pulled from the fuse box and thrown into a neighbor's yard. Entry was gained by forcing open a south basement window.

With a collection of well over 200 species of trees, Wilson Park is one of the finest arboreta in the area. Dr. George T. Wilkins Sr. told the Tuesday noon meeting of the Rotary Club at the Granite City YMCA.

"I live just a block away from the park and never really realized the variety of trees there. As I began walking from my home to the park to swim in the senior citizen program in the mornings, I began noticing the trees," he said.

"Being interested in and having taught botany, the more I looked around the park the more interested I became in these trees," Wilkins told his fellow Rotarians.

Dr. Wilkins noted that he counted 21 Ginkgo trees, more of them facing 27th Street. The Ginkgo tree is the oldest living species in the world and dates back to the glacial period, according to Dr. Wilkins.

The large ornamental tree is native to China, has fan-shaped leaves, fleshy fruit and edible nuts.

"There are a few of these trees at the SIU Carbondale campus and at Illinois University, but not nearly in the numbers as in Wilson park," Dr. Wilkins said.

"The late Ernest Sieveking to whom the formal gardens are a memorial, performed a real service in bringing the many species of trees to the park. We are fortunate that Harold Brown, our current superintendent, has added to and maintained the variety of species we have."

"There are two Australian Cypress trees, at least three types of ash, better than 20 varieties of oak, 10 to 15 types of spruce and even aspen. The variety at the park is truly amazing."

"It is unfortunate Mr. Sieveking died before the park was chartered to the location of the various trees," Dr. Wilkins said.

Dr. Wilkins also showed samples of fossils he collected in the 1930's from the strip mines of Southern Illinois and explained various aspects of the glacial period and its effects on our terrain.

Schuman, told the committee, the only way to avoid substantial tax rate increase is a series of cutbacks in city expenditures.

He said he is preparing a new inventory control plan for purchase of city supplies and equipment and suggested that the aldermen look into "a lot of cutbacks" that we may be able to cut back" on the city's present financial outgo.

"We have to pay these pension funds," Bowler commented.

Bowler suggested that the aldermen consider varying means of cutting costs or increasing revenue. He suggested proposals as a sales tax, possible employee layoffs or elimination of overtime.

Bowler said he believed the use of split shifts could eliminate the need of overtime. He suggested also that a system of heating and cooling control could result in extensive savings in the power bills.

Alderman Fred Schuman Jr., a member of the Finance Committee, outlined a potential tax levy for this year, noting that if the city needs to levy the full $300,000 for police and fire pensions, the tax rates for these funds, on which tax bills will be collected next year, would be approximately 16.88 cents per $100 assessed valuation for each fund.

Schuman noted that his estimates were based on the 1976 valuation of $177,699,021 by computing the tax needs of the city to establish possible rates for this year. Tax rates for 1977 will not be established officially until the spring of 1978.

Schuman said the estimated 16.88-cent rate for the fire and police pension funds compares with a 1976 tax rate of 8.13 cents for the fire pension fund and 5.69 cents for the police pension fund.

On this basis, the rate for the fire pension fund would increase by 8.75 cents over last year, and the rate for the police pension fund would jump 11.19 cents over the 1976 rate of 5.69 cents — for total rate increases of 19.94 cents.

Schuman said his projections also indicate other rate increases. He said it is likely that last year's rate for street lighting will increase from 2.79 cents to 3.52 cents, that last year's rate for police protection may go from 15.9 to 16.27 and that the rate for fire protection may go from 15.62 cents to 17.29 cents.

The council took no action on its tax levy Tuesday night.

Bowler said he expects to work out an inventory control program under which all departments would list existing supplies and equipment and estimate needs for these items during the fiscal year.

In the manner purchasing could be done in larger quantities by buying for all departments at the same time. This could apply to many items, he said, such as tires, gasoline, oil and other items.

"The Armenians will be making pastries such as paklaba, pooh beoreg and boorma which are really fantastic tasting and a bit fattening," Gushieff said.

"Everyone attending our festival regardless of age will have a good time and plenty of fine food and fellowship," he concluded.

Members of the Madison Business Association (MBA) will be holding special sales during the weekend and awarding numerous prizes at the festival, according to Wayne Scannell, president of MBA.

BAC career awareness month

Are you a Belleville Area College student interested in a medical or health related field, science or technology, business, or the social sciences?

October is career awareness month at Belleville Area College. Throughout the month, films and mini-career workshops will focus on resume and application preparation, skills identification, the job search, sharpening your interview skills, etc.

Different career fields will be featured each week: Social Sciences from Oct. 3-7, Business on Oct. 11-14, Science and Technology on Oct. 17-21, and Medical and Health related fields on Oct. 24-28.

Each Wednesday, people from the various occupations will be invited to Belleville Area College to sit on the "hot seat" and interact in a forum with students.

Belleville Area College students with career questions will be able to find out what their field of interest is.

Thieves break into 2 cars

Two vehicles parked side-by-side on the parking lot of apartments at 100 Briarhaven Drive, were broken into, the owners discovered at 6:40 a.m. Tuesday.

The left vent window of the Volkswagen of Bruce Frech, Apt. 211, was pried open and the ignition switch was broken in an unsuccessful attempt to start the car. A $20 FM radio also was taken.

The Jeep of Wade Huff, Apt. 107, also was broken into and the ignition lock was punched out. Nothing was taken. A wire or coat hanger was believed used to unlock a door.

Granite City Jaycees seeking new members

The Granite City Jaycees are seeking to boost membership in the young men's service club and are inviting those interested to contact a member for information.

Jerry Gann, new president of the local Jaycee chapter, said membership in the state Jaycee organization now totals more than 16,000.

"This is an all time high in membership and we are encouraging any young man in the community to learn more about the Jaycees," Gann said.

Those interested may contact Gann, at 931-4640, after 6 p.m., or call the Granite City Jaycee clubhouse, at 976-6669, after 7:30 p.m. on the first, second and third Wednesday of each month. At the summer general assembly of the Illinois Jaycees in Quincy, the Southwest Region was rated the top region out of nine regions within the state, Gann said. The Granite City chapter is a member of the Southwest Region, he noted.

This region also won a "enthusiastic" award for the first quarter of 1977-78 for maintaining its leadership in membership, Gann reported.

The Illinois Jaycees have pledged their support at the state conference to the Muscular Dystrophy Association to help raise funds to find a cure for the disease and related crippling neuromuscular diseases.

This Saturday, the Granite City chapter will conduct a drive to aid the MD fund by seeking donations from passersby at Nameoki and Ponton roads, Fehling and Nameoki roads and 23rd Street and Madison Avenue between the hours of 9:30 a.m. to 8 p.m. Gann announced.

MR. AND MRS. RANDY E. DAY. They were married at Bethesda Baptist Church in an afternoon ceremony. Formerly Miss Carol Lynn Ellis, the bride is a daughter of Mrs. Pearl Ellis, 3048 Nameoki Drive, and the late Earl P. Ellis.

Downtown GC event Labor Day weekend

A Labor Day weekend carnival in Downtown Granite City, sponsored by the Granite City Jaycees, will launch festivities in the Quad-City area marking the traditional holiday.

Scheduled Thursday, Sept. 1 through Saturday, Sept. 3, the event will take place on Edith Avenue, between 18th and 19th streets.

Midway rides and booths, the latter sponsored by local youth organizations, are among the plans for the carnival.

The young men's service club is staging the public event in cooperation with the Downtown Granite City Promotion Committee of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce.

Proceeds from the carnival will be divided equally between the Illinois Jaycees Camp for Disabled Children and the National Muscular Dystrophy Foundation.

In addition to raising funds for the approved Jaycee projects, the local chapter also hopes to attract further attention to the various business firms in downtown, a spokesman said.

Discount tickets, which enable carnival patrons a 20 cent reduction on rides, are being distributed by the Jaycees to downtown merchants for free distribution to customers.

Approval for the carnival was granted by the City Council, which also sanctioned local organizations establishing booths along 18th Street.

Community groups, participating in the carnival are being asked to pledge a portion of their proceeds to Muscular Dystrophy Fund in the name of their specific organization, the Jaycees said.

Bethesda Baptist scene of Day-Ellis wedding

Floral arrangements of pink and white summer blossoms intermingled with greenery provided the setting in Bethesda Baptist Church for the wedding on Aug. 20, of Miss Carol Lynn Ellis, a daughter of Mrs. Pearl Ellis, 3048 Nameoki Road, and the late Earl P. Ellis, and Randy Eugene Day, 708 Twenty-eighth Place, a son of Kenneth Day of Chicago.

Preceding the service Mrs. Margaret Meredith played a selection of nuptial music including "Young and Restless."

The Rev. Luther Abbott officiated at the 4 o'clock afternoon double ring ceremony.

Escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her uncle, Horace Hoffman, the bride wore a long white satin gown accented with a lace panel in the front. The decorative lace trim formed the high stand-up collar and defined the sheer yoke and was repeated on the long slender sleeves.

Her A-line skirt was designed with a detachable train and she wore a veil of bridal illusion trimmed with white satin bows. Her bouquet was composed of pink and white carnations.

A sister of the bride, Miss Phyllis Ann Ellis, served as honor attendant, and Jim Tadlock attended the groom as best man.

Miss Ellis selected a formal length lavender floral organza over lavender satin gown. She carried a bouquet of white carnations etched in pink.

Tara Dawn Holmes, a niece of the bride, was the flower girl. She wore a pink knit gown trimmed in white lace and she carried a basket filled with pink and white blossoms.

David Holmes, the bride's nephew, served as the ringbearer.

Golden Agers birthday meeting

Mrs. Ruby Corbett greeted members and guests at the Kirkpatrick Home Recreation Hall, Tuesday, as they arrived to attend the business and birthday meeting of the Golden Age Circle Club.

Those attending recited, in unison, the opening prayer and pledge to the flag.

Mrs. Lumeta Durbin, Mrs. Peggy Gibbons and Mrs. Caroline Lux submitted reports during the business session. Mrs. Lux noted cards were sent to 111 members including Kathryn Grimm, Mary Andria, Evelyn Smith, Arthur Lindner, Ethel Stark, Lola Miller and Herman Fahstner.

An announcement was made of the third anniversary of the Senior Citizen Center set for 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Wednesday.

Birthday members were Mrs. Lux, Alma Klaus, Mildred Rees and Edith Young. Games were played and prizes won by Mildred Moss, Carrie Hart, Mildred Rees, Juanita Crawley, Arthur Lindner, Minnie Kushnit and Lumeta Durbin.

The next meeting on Sept. 13 will be a noon pot luck dinner. Guests will be State Representative Jim McPike and Mrs. Parker from the Senior Citizen Legal Aid.

'Dynamic Daley' image lives on

By KEN WATSON

SPRINGFIELD — Illinois is a state of great contrasts and this is never more clearly evident than when a Downstate visitor visits Chicago.

To one who makes his living writing about state government and politics from a Springfield viewpoint, a visit to Chicago is always an educational as well as a refreshing and enjoyable experience.

One can, for instance, write dozens of stories over the years concerning the problems of the Chicago Transit Authority (CTA) and their political interlocking with such things as Downstate highways or schools.

Yet one has no real grasp of the situation until he rides the elevated and subway trains, crowds onto a packed Michigan Avenue bus, or joins the sophisticated suburban commuters on a rush-hour ride to Wilmette.

By the same token weeks of research and interviewing and poring over myriad tables of Public Aid statistics are suddenly illuminated in human terms as one rattles past slums enroute to the ball park.

The late Richard J. Daley was such an overpowering symbol of Chicago that one returning to the city for the first time since his death expects that he will detect a change.

But this is not so. The accustomed informational signs relating to the "City of Chicago" with the familiar accompaniment of "Richard J. Daley Mayor" are missing, presumably being replaced by those that will bear the name of his successor, Michael Bilandic. But the dynamic, hustling spirit of Chicago so typified by Daley certainly remains unchanged. It is still a city on the go and Carl Sandburg's epic poem is as descriptive today as the day it was written.

The never-ending construction and re-construction still causes traffic jams. However, the indomitable Chicago taxi drivers have long ago learned how to cope with this situation, and a ride from Union Station to the hotel remains one of the most fascinating if nervous experiences available in this state. But what about Bilandic anyway? To be candid, few Chicagoans seem to be very excited about him. The average person is inclined to give him a chance, while those closer to government dismiss him as a typical product of the Democratic organization with little intellect or potential for greatness.

The memory of Dick Daley still glows brightly and Chicagoans take pride in the fact that he was a national figure and created for Chicago a reputation of "the city that works." In this euphoric summer of 1977 it is even more than that.

It is a happy city, more free of under-the-surface tensions and fears than the occasional visitor can recall in a decade or more.

There are still a significant number of aggressive pan-handlers about even on the best-lighted and heavily-used streets. But police patrols are abundantly evident, and the rude and arrogant typical Chicago cop of an earlier era has been replaced by polite, well-trained men and women officers who impress the tourists.

Redmond kept session moving

By RAY SERATI

SPRINGFIELD — It was quiet in House Speaker William A. Redmond's office.

The Bensenville Democrat had returned to his Capitol office after a few days of rest upon the completion of the spring session.

He appeared pleased at the work of the House members during the six month session. The House had missed the June 30 deadline going into the early hours of July 2. But other deadlines had been met. For the most part a great many members were happy that the deadlines in the middle of the session were reached.

In the final weeks of the session, Redmond did ruffle some Democrat member's feathers when he helped move some legislation dealing with unemployment compensation. The bill was a Republican bill, coming over from the Senate. House Democrats had their own legislation, which eventually got passed and signed into law by Gov. James R. Thompson. The Republican version was held up in the end, with Redmond's help.

"But at least we got everything moving in this area," Redmond said. "We might have just sat and done nothing."

Unemployment compensation and programs have been the center of some squabbles between Republicans and Democrats for the past year. At first it looked as though perhaps Redmond might have problems as he was going contrary to the party's floor generals.

But through his insistence on meetings to keep the Democrats informed, it appears he overcame any problems that might have arisen. In the final closing hours of the session, Redmond ruled that Thompson's anti-crime package which had been added in an amendment by the Senate was not germane to the House bill that was carrying it. He thus nipped one of Thompson's legislative proposals.

His ruling therefore held up the bill. Redmond called for more study over the over-all criminal laws in Illinois.

Since the end of the session, Thompson has taken a few pokes at Redmond. But strange as it is, few House members have said a great deal. Some Republicans did say they were not happy with the ruling, but none made any major blasts at Redmond.

With the ruling, it looked as though Thompson would have to call the Legislature into special session to discuss ways to combat crime-on-the-street.

But again Redmond beat him to the punch. Redmond huddled with Senate President Thomas Hynes, a Chicago Democrat, and the two called the special session for Oct. 24. Crime-on-the-street will be one of the topics of discussion. Again, even this move brought no major repercussions from the lawmakers.

Redmond now indicates he may be wanting to give his side of the ruling, which also stopped the Class X felony list of crimes that Thompson wants instituted.

Now Democrat legislative staff members are busy researching various criminal laws and procedures. This information will be needed for the special session.

But at the same time there are indications that Redmond may be planning to make do-attempt appearances to explain his position.

As far as the legislative session was concerned, Redmond feels a great deal of work did get accomplished.

Rockefeller awards

The Office of Research and Projects at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville has announced the Rockefeller Foundation program of awards for 1978-79 that will support the production of works of humanistic scholarship intended to illuminate and assess the values of contemporary civilization.

Areas of research identified as possibilities which may be appropriate for the awards include: ideas and concepts in contemporary culture; the humanities in an international context; and science, life sciences, technology, and society in the context of humanistic values.

Also included as research possibilities are: values and moral choices in the humanities and the professions; the humanities and contemporary culture; and the humanities and the media.

The fellowships will normally extend for one year with the average grant being $10,000 to $15,000, according to John Rodman, director of the SIUE Office of Research and Projects. Awards cannot be made for the completion of graduate or professional studies.

Deadline for submission of a preliminary proposal is Oct. 1. Additional information may be obtained by contacting the Office of Research and Projects, Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

disseminate to the public information that will permit criminal justice agencies to be held accountable for results. Certain basic principles should be followed in developing future police services in Madison County.

1. The most basic goal of county police agencies should be to raise crime clearance rates sharply to levels proposed previously for St. Clair County, initially to 25 per cent and in the long term to 35 per cent.

2. In the long term, basic structural changes in the county's police forces should be pursued.

Larger municipal forces — those with 20 or more officers — should be maintained.

Smaller municipal forces and the Sheriff's Office law enforcement functions should eventually be replaced by a Madison County police department.

With the assistance of SILEC, county and municipal leaders should actively discourage the retention of old police forces (creation of new) police forces that are too small to be effective and efficient.

3. The underlying thrust of future improvement efforts should be toward strengthening the quality, rather than expanding the size of most police forces serving county residents.

County and municipal leaders and law enforcement executives should join in supporting the expansion of the forensic capabilities maintained in the region by the Illinois Department of Law Enforcement.

Pending long-term conversion to a Madison County police department, several steps should be taken to strengthen the services provided by the present Sheriff's Office.

Over the next few years, the office's road force should be expanded by six to eight sworn personnel, and its detective complement increased by three or four sworn personnel.

Initial expansion requirements should be met by phasing out full-time process server positions and converting these to professional police positions within the next two years.

During the same period, road patrol forces should be redirected toward increased and more visible coverage of the county's rural areas, and the state police should be encouraged to assume principal responsibility for patrol and accident response on major highways.

Once these improvements have been made, the county should authorize a modest increase of five to six road deputies to further intensify rural patrol coverage.

Madison County needs a central bureau of criminal investigation similar to the one proposed for St. Clair County. Such a bureau should eventually be established within the proposed Madison County Police Department.

During the interim, however, conditions prevailing in the county appear to preclude the successful introduction of this concept at the county level of government.

As a short-term measure, county law enforcement leaders should instead support the establishment of a major case squad to provide ongoing assistance to local police forces and to monitor countywide crime patterns.

This squad, consisting of four to five senior detectives, should be carefully located in one of the county's stronger municipal forces, such as the Granite City Police Department.

The county's police forces should be encouraged to participate more effectively in the

be assigned to:

- Maintaining day-to-day liaison with police forces in given areas of the county.
- Prosecuting the bulk of felony cases generated by these departments, on an individual assignment basis in all post-grand jury proceedings.

Tentatively, one senior trial attorney should be assigned on this basis to:

1. The Alton Police Department and neighboring forces.

2. The Granite City Police Department and neighboring forces.

3. The Edwardsville and Collinsville Police Departments and the Sheriff's Office.

Third, the State's Attorney's Office should undertake a long-term effort to once again secure responsibility for the prosecution of most misdemeanors that occur in the county.

To accomplish this, one to three assistants should be assigned to support each of the senior trial attorneys; these assistants should assume lead responsibility for prosecuting misdemeanors charges originating in departments in given areas of the county.

Successful implementation of these programs will require:

A. Further improvement in office organization and management.

B. The adoption of more stringent case management and control systems at both the misdemeanor and the felony level.

Consistent with the overall recommendations of this report, the Madison County State's Attorney's Office should adopt a policy requiring the documentation and periodic analysis of reasons underlying the case dismissals and the reductions of charges in plea bargaining situations.

The Madison County Public Defender's Office should undergo expansion proportionate to that proposed for the State's Attorney's Office — or a 50 per cent expansion of staff capabilities over the next several years in terms of full-time public defenders. As elsewhere, to attract and retain competent personnel, the office should be able to offer compensation competitive with the State's Attorney's Office.

Through active participation in the ad hoc county committee previously proposed by the Madison County Circuit Court should contribute the stature of its leadership to efforts to improve the criminal justice system in the county.

The court should also lend its support to:

1. Proposals for the general administrative strengthening of the state's court system proposed in this report.

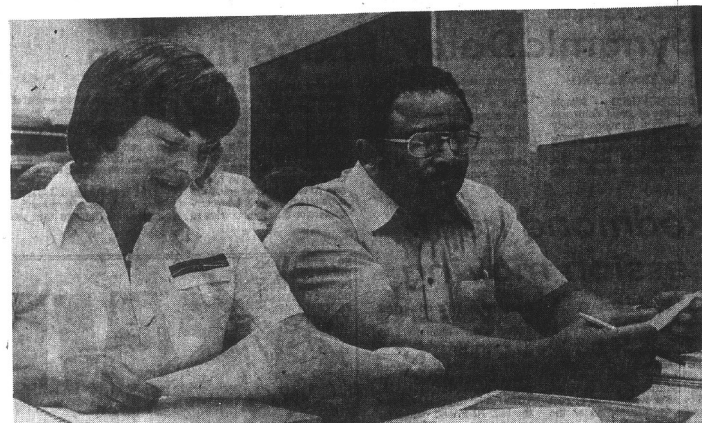

2. Recommendations presented, for proposed expansion of the State's Attorney's and Public Defender's offices and eventual construction of more suitable court facilities.

The court should pursue further development of the management information system currently being developed and should encourage further utilization of this system for analysis of the overall performance of the county's criminal justice system.

The County Board should authorize, and the court should concur in the conduct of, an objective study of the work flow, staffing and costs of the Madison County Circuit Clerk's Office to determine whether opportunities for improvement exist that should be pursued.

The court should be encouraged to maintain the rigorous sentencing policies adopted in recent years and to support actively the recommendations presented for both statutory reform and the creation of a broader and more varied range of facilities for the incarceration of convicted criminals.

The urgency of proceeding with the construction of a new county jail should be recognized by all concerned.

TEACHERS CRACK THEIR BOOKS during vacation. Nancy Marti, 3917 Gaslight Walk, Granite City, discusses a classroom assignment with Robert Vickers, 700 Broadway, Venice. The two educators, who were students for the summer, participated in an educational workshop at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. Miss Marti is a teacher at Washington Elementary School while Vickers is the district superintendent of the Venice Community School District No. 3.

The county should ensure either that the jail that is constructed of a new county jail should be recognized by all concerned.

The county should ensure either that the jail that is constructed can meet the demands that are projected over its useful life, or that the facility can be expanded in the future to meet these demands. Caution should be exercised in reducing the work force of the county's probation arm when grant support expires.

Consideration should be given to the probability that future increases in workload, especially for the conduct of pre-sentence investigations, may be significant if the other recommendations of this report are adopted.

As in the case of St. Clair County, little substantive improvement in juvenile delinquency realistically be anticipated in Madison County until statutory reform is accomplished and state correctional programs are overhauled.

Improvement efforts during the interim should, therefore, be directed at:

1. Strengthened training of police juvenile officers.
2. The adoption of school liaison and diversion-oriented programs directed at juvenile offenders who are in fact engaged in their limited contact with the criminal justice system.

3. Expansion of organized service programs, such as recreational activities. In summary, Madison County should embark on a continuing program to further raise the risk of punishment to the criminal element in the community.

This should be accomplished principally by:

- A. Strengthening police investigative performance.
- B. Strengthening the aggressiveness and effectiveness of the county's prosecutorial services.

To provide an atmosphere that is conducive to the implementation of a program of this nature, the county's leadership structure should first undertake a searching analysis of the current obstacles to coordination and cooperation among elements of the criminal justice system in Madison County.

Your cigarette may harm your children

By MARION WELLS
Many a newborn seems bent on proving to his bleary-eyed parents what a healthy set of lungs he has. How long they stay that way depends a lot on mom and dad.

smoke have a much higher incidence of bronchitis and pneumonia in the first year of life," the American Lung Association reports.

Smoking during pregnancy may even affect a baby's breathing before birth. "By flexing certain muscles," a new Christmas Seal publication said, "the fetus prepares for the instant it will have to breathe on its own. A dramatic reduction in these breathing movements can be measured in the unborn child after the mother smokes just a few cigarettes."

There are other reasons parents would do well to post and themselves heed a sign saying, "Thank you for not smoking in front of my kids."

According to ALA medical director Donald A. Young, M.D., "secondhand" smoke weakens the lung defenses, steps up the heartbeat, increases blood pressure and reduces the body's oxygen supply.

The health of more vulnerable children and adults is especially likely to suffer from "secondhand" smoke. Those with heart or respiratory problems fall into this category. The ALA says, "An estimated two million Americans are sensitive to tobacco smoke and suffer smoke-induced asthma attacks."

Parents who puff risk passing on the smoking habit itself. Dr. Young calls parents' habits "... a strong influence on children. Most teen-agers who smoke, have parents who smoke." Among teen girl smokers interviewed in one study, the percentage of parents who smoked or had smoked was over 80 per cent of those and over 60 per cent of sons.

Graduates take key governmental posts

By AL MANNING
SPRINGFIELD — Graduates of the Illinois Legislative Staff Internship Program have made a significant contribution to state government.

Of all the graduates of the program James Fletcher ranked as top in terms of influence. He is Gov. James Thompson's deputy.

Fletcher is credited by members of both political parties as having done an excellent job for Thompson during the recently-completed legislative session.

Nearly every political observer assessing the legislature has given the governor reasonably high marks for his first six months in office.

Some persons have wondered how he pulled it off, considering his inexperience in politics and the fact that he had very little background in state government.

The answer is simple: Fletcher did it.

Fletcher, although staying out of the spotlight, pulled the strings and made the deals on the governor's behalf.

He had the experience, by virtue of his internship and service as parliamentarian to both the House and Senate, to guide Thompson through the legislative maze.

He succeeded. Thompson's budget was approved with few changes and the only major setback involved his proposals for the sentencing of criminals.

Others deserve credit for Thompson's success with the General Assembly, too, but without question the key man was Fletcher.

What about the other 145 graduates of the program? A number of them have become highly successful in state government, also.

Terry Bruce of Olney, who was an intern during the 1969-70 school year, was elected to the state Senate immediately after graduating from the program and he is now an assistant Democratic leader.

Prescott Bloom of Peoria, who followed Bruce by a year, is serving his first term in the Senate.

Other interns who are now Senate staffers include: Peyton Harris, Judith Redick and Jim Jensen. Leon Bradley formerly served on the staff.

In the House, four of the top Democratic aides are former interns. They are David Epstein, Lee Schwartz, Tom Ohler and Jim Andrews.

Andrews was one of the two original interns in 1961-62. Other House staffers include: Daniel Elsas, Terry Scroggins, Allen Grobball, Dave Olen, Kurt DeWeese and Sarunas Valiukenas.

Samuel Hohmann is working for the legislative science unit in Minnesota; Thomas Schwerteger is in Louisiana; and Richard Bird is in the Virgin Islands.

Weidner honored as first '10-4' officer

William W. Weidner, 22, was honored Wednesday evening as the first member of Explorer Post 10-4 to become a commissioned police officer.

Weidner is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Marion (Bernadine) Weidner, 1030 Washington Ave., Madison.

Members of the post, adviser and committeemen held the surprise party for Weidner, Wednesday at the Madison police station. He was commissioned as a probationary patrolman on Monday, Aug. 15, with the Madison department. Sgt. William Papa, president of Madison Police Unit 110 which sponsors Post 10-4, presented Weidner with a plaque commemorating Weidner's being the first post member to become a commissioned police officer.

Ed Ray Dubish, president of the Madison Board of Police Commissioners, read to the entire group of Explorers "The Policeman's Code of Ethics."

The 35 Explorers, advisers, and committee members then sang "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow" in honor of Weidner, as Third Ward Alderman Ronald Grzywacz presented a large decorated sheet cake with "William Weidner No. 1" on it.

Alderman Grzywacz is a member of the Explorer committee and Weidner lives in his ward.

Second Ward Alderman and former Madison Police Chief Frank Dutko, a member of the post committee, furnished soda for the group.

Explorer Post 10-4 was organized by W. F. "Mick" Strange in late 1969 to interest young men in career police work, and has several members in college studying law enforcement.

Weidner joined the post shortly after it was organized in March 1970 when he was 14 years of age.

He served as secretary of the post for three years and was president in 1973-74. In 1975 he became an associate adviser.

In August 1974, Weidner was hired as a police dispatcher at Madison, a position he held until his police commission this month.

Weidner currently is a senior at SIU Edwardsville where he is majoring in Human Services. He graduated in 1973 from Madison High School. While at MHS he was president of the band, vice-president of the senior class and a member of the Student Council.

Asked why he chose police work for a career, Weidner replied, "Well, I joined the Post when asked by a friend, but at age 14 I was not sure what I wanted to do for a living. I have been involved with police work through the post for the past seven to seven and a half years; that's one third of my life. I like dealing with and helping people. Becoming a policeman just seemed to become part of my life."

Strange read a letter from Chief of Police Donald L. Bridick, which said in part: "I am sorry I cannot be at the party tonight due to previous commitments but my thoughts are with you."

"I would like to congratulate you on your appointment to the Madison Police Department and wish you every success in the future. You have always excelled in every endeavor you have assumed and I am sure this will be no exception. It is very rewarding for me to see a member of Explorer Post 10-4 become a police officer."

Nameoki van in service

The Nameoki Township Helping Hand van was received by the township yesterday and has been placed into service aiding the elderly and handicapped with transportation to medical appointments and other important errands.

Although the van had been available to the township for several weeks, inability to purchase proper insurance kept the bus from being picked up until yesterday.

The bus was donated through the Madison County Board by Bo Beuckman Ford of Collinsville free of charge. The township is responsible for providing insurance, a driver and a dispatcher.

Elderly or handicapped requiring transportation may call the township office at 931-1230 at least 24 hours in advance of their appointment to make arrangements. Regular schedules for use of the bus will be made in the future.

Other insurance problems being encountered by the township, however, remain unsolved as several liability and property coverage policies are due to expire in October and the companies do not wish to renew them, the Nameoki Town Board was told Monday night.

The board will meet informally Monday night to review the insurance problem and discuss available policies. The township's highway department also is experiencing insurance problems and may have to sue the township's carrier to try and collect for a burglary earlier this month in the township garage.

An air tank, water jugs, a battery charger and an employee's personal tools were stolen, Highway Commissioner Frank Mehelic said the in-

PLAQUE PRESENTED. Madison Police Sgt. William Papa, left, president of Madison Police Unit 110, presents a plaque to William Weidner at a Post 10-4 meeting Wednesday. Weidner has been a member of the police-sponsored Explorer post since 14 and has been commissioned as a probationary police officer.

Tom Christopher, 46, dies

Tom Christopher, 46, of 3507 Johnson Road, an employee of the St. Louis Terminal Railroad, died at 8:45 a.m. Wednesday at the Missouri Pacific Hospital, St. Louis. He had been ill two years and a patient at the hospital for two days.

Born in Venice, Mr. Christopher was a lifelong resident of the Quad-Cities. He had worked as a clerk for the railroad for 28 years.

Mr. Christopher was a member of St. Joseph Catholic Church. He also served in the Korean Conflict.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Betty (Epperson)

Christopher; one son, Willie Christopher, at home; one daughter, Mrs. Ervin (Betty) Kunkel of Fenton, Mo.; a sister, Mrs. Daniel (Mary) Hooper of Granite City and a brother, William Christopher of Indianapolis, Ind.

Funeral arrangements are given in the obituary column.

Batteries can maim

By LEW SCARR
All of us are driving around with bombs under our hoods. And more and more of these bombs — automotive storage batteries — are exploding us into hospital emergency rooms with eye injuries ranging from painful burns to outright blindness. Serious eye injuries from car battery explosions have more than doubled in the last three years. Many of them are caused because of lack of understanding about the potential lethality of batteries. The most common injuries are chemical burns of the eye surfaces from exploding batteries or spilled or splashed acid or from crust from the terminal posts. There is a direct relation between eye injuries and the time of year and time of day. Battery accidents, particularly the serious ones, occur more often during the colder months and at night. Dr. Timothy J. R. Holkamp of the Washington University (St. Louis) School of Medicine's Department of Ophthalmology has reported that 78 per cent of the severe cases occur in winter months and 60 per cent of them at night. This is because batteries are most likely to fail in cold weather and explosions are most common at night when visibility is reduced and the risk of accidental shorting or sparking is higher.

Two-thirds of battery-caused eye injuries studied by Holkamp were caused by explosions. Automotive wet-cell storage batteries are filled with a mixture of water and sulfuric acid. Under certain conditions, particularly when being charged, the electrolysis of water in a battery produces hydrogen and oxygen gas. This very explosive mixture is easily ignited by a match, cigarette or perhaps even by a high-voltage trouble lamp.

Small vent holes in battery caps release some pressure, but their design is not wholly satisfactory.

A spark or flame around even a closed battery can ignite gas escaping through the vents. This, of course, fuses the bomb. Holkamp said that a little-publicized source of explosion is gas being ignited by internal sparking when the conductors between the cells crack in old or defective batteries.

Sparking results if the fluid level in the battery falls below such a crack. This apparently is the cause of some spontaneous battery explosions. Jumper cables increasingly are being used by motorists, but at least one expert says they never should be used.

"Stay away from jumper cables," advises one expert. "You're talking about generating 24 volts of energy when you jump-start a car with a 12-volt system."

Wise parents can learn from kids

By DR. WILLARD ABRAHAM

Who are the best teachers? Sometimes our children are. Here is what some parents recently wrote about what they learned from their youngsters.

Q. I'd like to share with other parents something that I just discovered: We'd better not try the "psychology bit" unless we really know what we're doing!

Our 5-year-old was using his water colors the other day, and I noticed that he painted picture after picture with black paint. That worried me because I began to think that he must be very concerned about something. Why was he using only black? What had I done to bring on this depression of his? What should I do to get him out of this dismal kick?

I heard somewhere that parents shouldn't interrupt a child's creative activity, but I couldn't restrain myself. So I asked him about the black paint.

He explained quickly and clearly. "The other colors were all dried up or used up." It was as simple as that!

Parents can be too analytical, I guess.

A. You've raised a very good point. We often look for reasons that may not even exist related to the way children act. Behavior is caused by something, but that "something" may not be as serious as we sometimes think.

For example, 2-year-olds may appear to run around erratically, but perhaps because they are physically closer to flowers and snow flakes than adults are. A 6-year-old may seem to have a lisp, but the cause might not be a speech problem at all. It may only require a few new teeth to fill the empty spaces to "cure" it!

Q. My 9-year-old son recently rode his bike with many other children in raising money for the mentally retarded. Because I so often turn down or avoid fund-raising activities, I didn't pay much attention to what he was doing.

However, he wouldn't let me get away with not knowing about this involvement of his. In very plain terms he told me what the money was to be used for and all about the Special Olympics. Then he asked me questions like what causes mental retardation and all that happen in our family too.

I ended up being so proud of his feelings, insight and awareness — all because he practically forced me to listen to him.

A. Sometimes we are tempted to turn off the torrent of words as the mother did with her hearing aid when her dozen children over-whelmed her with verbiage. But as this writer found out, it is a mistake to do it all the time.

What they say and ask can be important. That point of view apparently wasn't usually accepted by one father who hid behind the newspaper every night. His 4-year-old asked him, "What makes the grass green? ... Why is the sky blue? Where is the sun at night?" When he received only grunts in reply, the boy stormed out of the room, screaming, "I won't ask you anything, ever again!"

That finally grabbed his father's attention. Putting down the paper, he anxiously yelled back, "You have to ask questions? How are you going to learn anything other-wise?"

So it's a good idea to listen — selectively.

Q. I'm not a very neat person, and I'm finding out from my teen-age son that neatness and orderliness pay off. I lose keys, forget appointments and neglect important grocery shopping, all because I don't keep track of things.

He does, and gets so much more accomplished than I do, without a lot of turmoil. I'll never be able to be as systematic as he is, but I'm trying and I'll have to admit that it makes life easier on me, my husband, our family and my friends.

A. It may be difficult (or impossible) to change basic personality patterns, but some habits are certainly correctable. This wise mother has listened, learned and demonstrated a rare kind of strength.

Rusick wins men's title in park tennis tourney

GRANITE CITY'S BILL RUSICK, who beat Jerry Johnson to win the men's singles and then teamed up with Johnson to win the men's doubles in the Granite City Park District Tennis Invitational.

For young Bill Rusick—Granite City's tennis wonder—it was a happy weekend spent in his hometown.

For St. Louisan Jerry Johnson, it wasn't quite as happy, even though he did take home a trophy or two of his own from the 17th annual Granite City Park District Tennis Invitational. But then again, he's known the thrill of victory in the Park District tennis tournament himself. He won the very first one, way back in 1960. He was 18 years old at the time.

Rusick, who also plays on the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville tennis team, took the men's singles division title with relative ease Monday over Johnson by scores of 6-1 and 6-0.

Rusick found the way to the finals a little tough, but not extremely so. He beat Nunez in the semifinals of the singles in straight sets by scores of 6-4, and 6-2.

But things got a little better for the 35-year-old Johnson. He teamed up with Rusick later to take the men's doubles crown. They beat Bob Nunez and John Ingles, both from Edwardsville, to win in a tough three set match, 6-7, 6-4, and 6-3.

The women's division seemed to be almost a carbon copy of the men's. In the Women's Singles, Pat Phillips of Belleville found the going to be pretty easy as she defeated Cathy Hatfield from St. Louis in straight sets by scores of 6-1 and 6-0. But that's where the similarity ended.

Instead of Hatfield teaming up with Phillips to win the doubles title, she teamed up with Georgene Heinz to defeat Phillips and her doubles partner, Pat Ziegenfuss, also from St. Louis, and take the crown.

The match was long and hard-fought. Hatfield and Heinz won the first set 6-4. They then lost the second set 4-6. The third and deciding set was finally won by Hatfield and Heinz 7-6 to gain revenge for Hatfield.

It was an all-St. Louis final in the men's 35-and-over division. Jim Riley took the title over Bill Munz in two straight sets by scores of 6-3 and 6-2.

Then, once again, the loser teamed up with his partner to win a trophy out of the doubles division.

Munz and his partner, Jerry Edminston from Collinsville, beat Bob Sabin from St. Louis and Jerry Kohler from O'Fallon 6-3 and 6-4 to win the title.

Nancy Barnes of Granite City, won the women's 30-and-over crown. She defeated Carry Huxar from Highland in two sets, 6-4 and 6-3.

One of the toughest female players in the area, Dana Hawkins of Cahokia proved that reputation to be correct in winning the girl's 18-and-under division... but not without a battle.

She beat Cathy Stringer from Collinsville in two sets by scores of 6-4 and 6-3.

The boy's 18-and-under singles provided the fans with another long, hard match. Steve Lesko of Belleville outlasted his opponent Tom Baker of Granite City by scores of 7-5 and 6-3 to win the title.

Keeping with the pattern, Lesko team up with another Belleville resident, Mark Dechant, to win the title in the boy's 18-and-under division doubles. They defeated a pair of Granite City youths, Mike Papes (who also was tournament director) and Jim Eftimoff, by scores of 6-1 and 6-3.

In the boy's 16-and-under singles, Russ Hawkins from Cahokia (Dana's brother) kept it in the family by taking the title from Dave Daisy of Greenville 6-4 and 6-0.

Jay Leskera of Collinsville defeated St. Louisan Todd Kros 6-3 and 6-2 to win the crown in the boy's 14-and-under singles.

Cathy Stringer, who lost to Dana Hawkins in the girl's 18-and-under singles, snapped back to defeat Becky Ingram of Alton and win the title in the girl's 16-and-under Division.

Another Collinsville resident, Judy Collins won the girl's 14-and-under Division. She beat Rebe Abiler from Fairmont City 6-1 and 6-0.

Madison's Trojans: small in size but large in intestinal fortitude

When your quarterback is the biggest player on the team, you know you could be in a little trouble.

That's sort of the condition that Madison High School head football coach Nick Jackich finds himself in.

As the Trojans began their second week of pre-season practice and conditioning, Jackich seemed cautiously optimistic.

"We're going to be not-too-big in the line," he said. "We've had this problem for a couple of years now."

"But what we lack in size, maybe we can make up in quickness."

What the Trojans have to change is their losing ways from last season. Last year they had a record of 0-9. But Jackich isn't worrying about last year.

"The kids last year never gave up," they didn't quit," said Jackich. "Not even in the last game of the year."

But the same group of players there now juniors and seniors gave Madison a 6-2-1 record on the junior varsity when they were freshmen and sophomores.

"I know these guys can play ball," he said. "But the important thing is that they know they can play ball too."

"We played some pretty tough opponents when these guys were on the JV team, and we beat them."

terback is senior Joe Piechocinski. He guided the Trojan offense last year and has almost certainly grown in experience by being on his back after many of the plays last season.

Besides Piechocinski, other returnees are James Heard at halfback and Wingback Ernest Davenport in the offensive backfield.

The line which is small in physical stature, but big on heart and quickness, includes center-tackle Tim Granderson, guard Ed Burns, tackle Keith Layton, and guard-tackle Gary Woodson, all back from last season.

Another returnee that Jackich hopes will add strength to the line is Doug Burris. Last season, he broke an arm in the early part of the season and was lost for the rest of the schedule.

The Trojans' defense will include returnees Rich Niehaus, Tim O'Mara, Greg Dandridge and Nick Fecurka in addition to Granderson, Layton, and Woodson who will play both ways.

Dropped from the schedule of last year are Eldorado, St. Francis Borgia (St. Louis) and Alton Marquette. Added teams are Reary (St. Louis), St. Charles West and Hardin (Ill.).

"I'll test us, definitely," said Jackich. "Rosary is a very tough school."

Jackich and his team began practice last Wednesday with a two-day workout. They practiced from 9 to 11 each morning and 6 to 8 each evening.

"Many of the guys on the team had jobs and couldn't make a practice," said Jackich. "But with the practice schedule like it was, most of them made at least one of the daily workouts."

Now that school has begun, Jackich thinks he can have a better overall look at how his team is shaping up.

"It's really too early to say," he said. "Until we see more of what the guys can do and how everybody looks together, it's just too early," he said.

One thing that Jackich is depending on is the growth the team has undergone... both because they are a year older and due to the mental and physical growth they underwent last season.

"Things may turn around for Madison Coach Jackich puts it a little light-heartedly..."

"Heck, when your basketball team wins the state championship, you want a little of that action yourself."

Local gridders at ISU

Three former Granite City North football Steelers are among several area players hoping to make the 1977 Illinois State University football team formidable.

for the number one tailback spot. Last season, he gained 101 yards rushing for the Redbirds against Marshall University.

Hamilos is a 6-foot, 210 pound junior. He'll be vying for a linebacking spot on the roster.

Jateff is a 6-1, 200 pound fullback hopeful. He was a fullback on last season's Steeler squad.

Women's soccer . . .

The Granite City Park District will begin its 1977 women's soccer program on Thursday, Sept. 1. On that date, an organizational meeting will be held at 7 p.m. at the Wilson Park office.

All persons interested in coaching a team or helping out are urged to attend the meeting.

League play will begin with the first games set for Sunday, Sept. 25.

3M baseball seeking teams

On August 23, the 3M Amateur Baseball League held an organizational meeting, necessitated by the sudden death of 3M Commissioner Andy "Bonzi" Semanek of Williamson.

Going back to an original practice, when P.G. "Pop" Dietiker of Staunton was president of the league, the 3M members elected J.H. Augustine of Livingston as its new commissioner and Terry A. Wray of Livingston as its new secretary-treasurer.

The league currently consists of Alton, Jerseyville, Livingston, Standard City, and Worden.

The new commissioner, who played, coached and managed in the 3M league for 17 years, and the new secretary, with 10 years 3M experience, jointly pledged to continue the work of Mr. Semanek and are looking for expansion of the league.

Teams in the area interested in joining the 3M league for the 1978 summer season may do so by applying in writing to the new secretary, Terry A. Wray, P.O. Box 1547, Livingston, Ill. 62058.

The 3M amateur baseball league ranks as one of the oldest amateur leagues in Illinois (organized in 1925). It plays a summer league schedule running from the latter part of May through the month of August, including a championship playoff series.

Local squads dominate Msgr. Mattingly tourney

The Monsignor Mattingly Soccer Tournament, held at St. Elizabeth's Field in Granite City and co-sponsored by the Tri-City YMCA soccer program and the St. Elizabeth's Holy Name Society, concluded Sunday.

In the semi-finals on Saturday, Farm Fresh of Collinsville defeated Otto Daech Insurance, also of Collinsville, 4-2 in the senior atomos (8-year-old) division.

In the junior bantam (10-year-old) division, Mitchell beat Cain Lumber from Collinsville 4-2.

The senior bantam (11-year-old) division winner Saturday was Big Four Chevrolet of Collinsville, beating St. Elizabeth's of Granite City 2-0.

Ferguson Confectionery of Collinsville defeated St. Margaret-Mary's of Granite City 6-1 to win in the junior midget (12-year-old) division.

The senior midget (13-year-old) division was won on Saturday by St. Elizabeth's over Bo Buckman of Collinsville 3-1.

The finals on Sunday saw Granite City teams win four out of the five division championships.

In the senior atomos, St. Elizabeth's beat Farm Fresh 3-0. The junior bantam winner was Barnett's Pest Control of Granite City over Mitchell by an identical score of 3-0.

The senior atom champion was Big Four Chevrolet, defeating Wells-Harrison 3-0 after losing the first of a two-game playoff to Wells-Harrison 3-2 in sudden death overtime.

The junior midget champion was St. John's, beating Ferguson's Confectionery 4-1. The winner of the senior midget championship was Finley Plating of Granite City. They defeated St. Elizabeth's 6-5 in two sudden-death overtimes.

New physical director to join Y staff

The Tri-City Area YMCA announced Tuesday the addition of Ed Mercer to the YMCA staff as physical director.

Mercer and his wife, Dawn, will move here from Cortland, N.Y., where Mercer completed his physical education degree with emphasis in exercise physiology at Cortland State University.

He will develop and supervise the complete YMCA fitness program and adult membership enrollment. Upon his arrival on Sept. 1, Mercer will begin preparing personal fitness prescriptions for each participant in the YMCA fitness program. Interested individuals may contact him after Sept. 1 at the Tri-City Area YMCA.

Bicycle motocross honors for 7

Granite City youngsters were among the winners in the "Bicycle Motocross" (BMX) races held in Collinsville during the weekend.

Bicycle motocross is a variation of the motorcycle version and involves youngsters going over and through obstacles and hills, just like motorcycles do in their version.

The motocross in Collinsville is open to children ages 6 to 15 and is held on a course especially designed for it at 615 Johnson Hill Road.

Contestants come from as far as Springfield, Ill., and Evansville, Ind.

Of the 31 contestants from Granite City and Madison, eight were awarded trophies.

Trophy winners were: Class A (6 years and under) — first, Elizabeth Weckbeck, second, Jason Sharp, and third, Gregory Stentzer. Class C (9 and 10 years old) — fifth, Jackie Willman, Class D (12 years old) — fourth, Jeff Sharp. Class E (14 years old) — second, Tony Davis. Class F (15 years old) — fifth, Todd Razer.

Safety equipment is worn by all riders including racing gloves and helmets.

The next race is scheduled for Saturday, Sept. 3, at the BMX track west of Collinsville. The track opens at 10 a.m. and races will begin at 1 p.m. Anyone interested in further information may call BMX headquarters at 931-0270.

Park seeking coaches

The Granite City Park District is in need of persons interested in coaching boys' flag football teams for this fall's program.

The boys range in ages from 8 to 12 and league play will be on Saturdays with an occasional evening game during the week. The first games will be on Saturday, September 17. Interested persons may contact the park office in Wilson Park or call 977-3599.

Cycle season ended suddenly by shower

Because of heavy rains which hit the Granite City area Tuesday, the motorcycle races at Tri-City Speedway were cancelled.

The races will not be rescheduled. Because Tuesday's races were the last scheduled for the year, the point standings will be finalized where they stood after last week's races.

LIKE TAKING CANDY...

About $10 worth of candy was stolen during a burglary at the West Granite Park concession stand between 10 p.m. Monday and 4:50 p.m. Wednesday. The ramp to a roll-up door was broken off and a window was broken. The ramp also was broken from the rear door to the building, but nothing was believed taken from the rear.

TRIOJAN TRAINING AT ITS FINEST. Pre-season training for Madison's gridders involves balance and strength exercises. At left, freshman Robert Niehaus goes through the "crab drill." At right, quarterback Joe Piechocinski drives through the tires to build up strength. The Trojans will conduct sessions everyday after school preparing for the Sept. 10 season-opener.

Woman faces two charges

Janis B. Bellman, 23, of 2713 Maryville Road, was arrested at her home at 11:10 p.m. Monday after an off-duty Granite City policeman alleged seeing her driving in a reckless manner near Fortune Drive and Dogwood Avenue.

A patrol car searched for her after the report and saw her auto driving into the driveway of her home. The patrolman attempted to arrest her as she got out of her car, but alleged she ran toward her house, saying she was not going to be arrested.

The officer grabbed her arm, but alleged she spun, broke loose, ran back into her car and locked the car doors.

Attempts to talk her into unlocking the doors were unsuccessful until officers said they would tow the car to the police station with her inside it, police related.

She then surrendered and was charged with resisting arrest and reckless driving.

She was released at 1:20 a.m. Tuesday after posting $35 cash bond.

REPAIR SHOP LOOTED

Items valued at more than $400 were stolen during a burglary at Ted's Auto Repair, 2560 Washington Ave., which was discovered at 8 a.m. Tuesday. Stolen were three battery cleaners, two oil squirt cans, a tachometer, three gauges, an impact wrench and other tools. A rear window was broken to gain entry.

Hunting season dates announced

By ART SCHUMANN

The first sure signs of fall are already arriving. No, the leaves haven't started turning, but various Midwest states have started announcing hunting seasons.

In Illinois, the bow hunting season for deer is Oct. 1-Nov. 13, Nov. 21-Dec. 4 and Dec. 12-31.

In Cook, Du Page, Kane and Lake counties, which have no shotgun season for deer, the bow season is Oct. 1-Dec. 31.

This is the first Wisconsin dates won't be made official until mid-August, tentative dates for deer bow hunting will be Sept. 17-Nov. 13 and Dec. 5-31. Limit again will be one deer of either sex.

Michigan also announced its deer season for bow hunting—Oct. 1-Nov. 14 and Dec. 1-31.

Michigan will offer a new season for taking bear by bow and arrow, Oct. 1-9 in certain counties of the northern lower peninsula.

This is the first bear season since 1965 and is open because there is an excellent bear population. Some top trophies can be expected.

Minnesota's bow season for deer will be Oct. 1-Nov. 28 statewide and Dec. 3-18 in the southeast. Last year 1,167 deer were taken in Minnesota.

Minnesota will also offer a new, special season for deer this year—a muzzle-loader season Dec. 3-18. Hunting will be restricted to the Washington State Forest in Itasca County and the Ralvaag Mille Lacs and Carlos Avery Wildlife management areas.

Hunters who plan to take advantage of the season may not hunt deer during the state's regular November firearm season.

15-YEAR-OLD BEATEN
Scott Jenkins, 15, of 3279 Westchester Drive, was beaten while walking at Johnson and Nameoki roads at 9:35 p.m. Tuesday. He said the driver of an auto got out and assaulted him. He also said he did not know the driver or why the attack occurred. The man was described as 5 feet, 7 inches tall, weighed about 200 pounds, had dark collar-length hair and wore a dark green tee shirt.

Economist predicts moderate increases in farmland prices

By MICK COCHRAN
SPRINGFIELD — The price of farmland in Illinois should rise only moderately in the next few years, according to a University of Illinois economist.

But only if inflation remains at the present rate and farmer's incomes don't change significantly. "Polke Doving, a land economist at the U of I, says the drastic rise of farmland prices in the past five years is directly related to the rise in income most farmers experienced during that time.

In a report published in "Illinois Agricultural Economics," Doving says, "Rising incomes not only bring farmers a higher level of net return, but also place more cash in the hands of farmers who want to buy land."

Basing his report on 1974 farm census figures, Doving says the increase in farmland prices over the last two years lacks any parallel in the past. "This is especially striking for the last year, 1975-76," Doving says.

Doving says up until a couple of years ago land values were rising faster than the rate of inflation. He says that is because of the way farmers finance the land they buy.

"If about half the purchase price is credit-financed, the rate of inflationary capital gain on the equity would be twice that of inflation," Doving says.

Operating farmers make up most of the buyers of farmland, and their buying power affects the values of farmland. Doving says data on farm income and land values confirm that there is a connection, even though farmer's reactions to increased income may increase farmland prices on a delayed basis.

"The connection was clearly to be expected for the past few years, when the incomes of Illinois farmers climbed to unprecedented highs," Doving says.

In total, the rising price of farmland in Illinois is a complicated situation.

"The upsurge in land values is not merely the result of inflation and inflationary psychology," Doving says, summing up the problem. "It relates to recent rises in real incomes of farmers. There has also been a reversal of the long-term trend in which Illinois farmland values rose the most on lower-priced land and the least on higher-priced land."

At the present time, Illinois' highest priced farmland is increasing in value at a higher rate than less valuable farmland.

Since 1969, farmland prices in Illinois have risen 96 percent, better than 10 percent per year.

The only census period which rivals those figures is from 1850 to 1880, when Illinois was in transition from frontier to settled land. In 1850, Illinois land was valued at eight dollars an acre. By 1880 its value had increased to $20 per acre. In 10 years, land value had risen an astronomical 150 percent.

Land tenancy also has its effect on the price of land, Doving says.

Previous to 1920, as land prices rose, farmers had increasing difficulty in buying the land that came up for sale. As land values dropped from 1920 to 1934, farmers were too often in financial distress, Doving says, to acquire land. So more and more farmers leased the land they farmed.

"The opposite trend has prevailed in Illinois since 1940," Doving says. "High farm incomes in the 1940s made this possible, but so did inflation since the 1950s."

Doving says there are two reasons for the current trend towards more farmer ownership of land.

"First, the low-price land made the greatest gains on productivity. Second, the higher rates of farmer ownership in the low-priced counties of Illinois made it less difficult for farmers to finance land purchases," Doving says.

For the future, Doving says the drastic rise in farmland prices in 1975 and 1976 should have absorbed the effect of higher farm incomes over the past few years.

"Unless the pace of inflation quickens and unless farmers' incomes go up again dramatically, the immediate future should see moderate increases in farmland values at most," he says.

There may even be a new "lull" of a year or two before earlier patterns of changes in land values are resumed."

THEFT FROM OFFICE
A $488 electric typewriter was stolen from the Granite City Steel Works office number two, officials discovered Monday.

First John 2:1—Hereby we do know that we know him, if we keep His commandments.

Have you ever heard anyone say I don't really know if I'm a Christian? I have many times. If I asked how to know the answer to this question I always made the above scripture. It is quite simple, keep His commandments.

We do not keep the commandments to become Christians, we become Christians and then we keep the commandments. We are never forced to do good against our will. The reason is quite simple, we must serve God out of love and not fear!

We love Him because He first loved us. If you are keeping the commandments out of your love for God, then you know that you know Him!

Know Him, Today.

TO MARRY. Miss Paula Lynn Danco and Peter G. Krieshok Jr., whose engagement is being announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul L. Danco of Granite City. A spring wedding is planned.

Krieshok-Danco engagement

Mr. and Mrs. Paul L. Danco of Granite City are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter Paula Lynn to Peter G. Krieshok, Jr. son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Krieshok, also of Granite City.

Miss Danco is a 1973 graduate of Granite City High School and attended SIUE-Edwardsville. She is currently employed as a secretary at Wagner Electric Corporation in St. Louis.

Her fiancé graduated in 1972 from Granite City High School and attended SIUE. He is presently employed at Metro Placement Systems, Division of TES, Inc. as a personnel consultant.

Plans are being completed by the engaged couple and their parents for a spring wedding.

Final report on Project Micro

Members of the Title VII Student Advisory Council and the Student Council met on Monday to make the final report for Project MICRO for 1976-77. They were greeted by John Rush, principal of VHS. Mrs. Althea Cross, director of Title VII Project MICRO, and Miss Mary Donna Scaturro, sponsor.

Rush explained the contents of the handbook and checked with the students for further suggestions. He had utilized those additional ideas which he had received from them and the staff last year, he said.

Staff members of the Supportive Service Team were introduced. They are Mrs.

Georgea Falwell, counselor and career specialist; Miss Myrtle DeLoach, parent counselor, and Mr. Raymond Mosby, home-school coordinator. They will be assisted by Mrs. Carol Williams, Mrs. Delores Scaturro, Mrs. Rosalyn Johnson, and Miss Jerri Gray, teacher aides.

Both the pilot and basic programs for 1977-78 were discussed. The components for the pilot include remedial reading and math and improvement in attendance. Components for the basic program include career education, work study skills in social studies and science, and in-service training in communication and human relations.

The students received copies of the Student Advisory Committee Handbook.

Members attending were Nanette Henry, Gerlie Rupert, Paula Walker, Eric Rupert, Jayne McClelland, Cheryl Baker, Sabrina White, Walter Bodie, Tommy Voegelé, Carolyn Richmond, and Debra Ware.

MR. & MRS. LABORAY ANNOUNCE 3RD CHILD

Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Lee Laboray, 2904 Fortune Drive, are announcing the birth of their third child, born Aug. 19 at Jewish Hospital, St. Louis.

The new arrival has been named Joseph Edward and weighed seven pounds, three ounces. He is a 6-year old brother Dennis and a 3-year old sister Lori Ann.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Lee of Laboray of Granite City and the great-grandmother, Mrs. Anna Kowalczyk, resides in Madison.

YOUNG PEOPLE DIRECT

The Stepping Stones, a gospel singing youth group from Trinity United Methodist Church, direct themselves in their presentations, according to Mrs. Elizabeth Stevens, who arranged for their appearance last week before senior citizens.

Did You Know?

That North America was once named after the grape. The Norsemen found native grapevines so abundant that they called the country "Vinland." Only a few varieties of the grapes we know today originated in this country. The delicious blue Concord grape was developed by a visionary who came to Concord, Massachusetts in the early 1800's. Because he never tried to make any money from his Concord, the epitaph on his tombstone in Sleepy Hollow Cemetery says simply: "He Sowed ... Others Reaped."

TO WED. Miss Janet Jablonski and her fiancé Charles Holman Jr., whose engagement is being announced by their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Jablonski, Nashville, Ill., and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Holman of Oakdale, Ill., former residents. Wedding plans are indefinite at the present time.

Holman-Jablonski betrothal

From Nashville, Ill., comes news of the engagement of Miss Janet Jablonski and Charles Holman Jr., a former Granite City resident.

The announcement is being made by the engaged couple's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Jablonski of Nashville, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Holman of Oakdale, formerly of Granite City.

Miss Jablonski is a graduate of Nashville High School and Kankaskia College. She will attend Eastern Illinois University this fall.

The groom-elect was a student at Granite City High School South and graduated from Nashville High School. He is presently employed at Sparta Printing Co.

Wedding plans are indefinite at the present time.

SUMMER VACATIONIST Mrs. Norma J. Jackson, 2454 Delmar Ave., shown aboard the Emerald Seas which sailed from Miami, Fla., to Nassau and Freeport. The tour includes visits to historic and quaint Nassau and modern Freeport, shopping, sightseeing and relaxing on the beaches.

Mr., Mrs. Aléman entertain

Mr. and Mrs. Louis J. Aléman Jr., 2816 Dogwood Drive, entertained family and friends at a buffet dinner in their home Wednesday evening in honor of the eighth birthday of their son John Aléman.

Cakes decorated in a baseball and mothers motif centered the buffet table for the guest of honor and his grandmother, Mrs. Helen Kukarola who share birthday dates.

Others attending were Mr. and Mrs. David Cruise and son David, George Kukarola, Carl and Jim Kukarola, Mrs. Rita Rosenberg and children Jeffrey and Ann, Erin Bayer, Mr. and Mrs. Ken Kalk and son Davis and Mrs. Helen Feeberly and daughter Kristine of St. Louis County and the hosts 4-year old son James Aléman.

Potential candidates for statewide office

By RAY SERRATI

SPRINGFIELD — Illinois Republicans appear to be looking for some possible candidates for statewide offices.

Rep. Donald L. Totten, a Hoffman Estates Republican, is currently being mentioned as a possible candidate for either state treasurer or comptroller.

The top part of the ticket has already been formed. U.S. Sen. Charles H. Percy is expected to announce this fall he will seek reelection to another six-year term. He was first elected in 1966.

Gov. James R. Thompson and Lt. Gov. Dave O'Neal will seek election to a full four-year term. They are expected to announce their definite intentions after Labor Day. Percy and Thompson come from the moderate part of the Republican Party in Illinois. In fact it is no secret that in some sections of the state Percy does enjoy support from Democrats.

Incumbent Atty. Gen. William G. Scott tends to be matched with the conservative group of the party. But Scott has shown an ability to work with both sides. Scott is also expected to run again. There are some growing indications that Republican Party leaders might want to get another candidate that tends to be conservative. Totten could fill that part of the bill, but which office would he seek? It is doubtful that he would be interested in running for secretary of state. If Totten is interested in seeking a statewide office, he will have to make his intentions known in the not too distant future. One of the reasons would be that state representative terms are two years, and he will have to file nominating petitions near the end of this year. Another state lawmaker has been mentioned from time to time as a possible statewide candidate. He is Sen. James (Pete) Philip, an Elmhurst Republican. Philip also serves as Du Page county Republican chairman, the county is the top Republican county in the state. At one time during the just completed legislative session, Philip did show some inclinations about possibly being interested in running for comptroller or treasurer. The current state treasurer Don Smith, a Villa Grove native, (Du Page county) has said he would not seek election to the post. He became state treasurer via a plan worked out by Thompson and Secy. of State Alan J. Dixon, who was state treasurer. Former comptroller George W. Lindberg of Crystal Lake, doesn't appear to be interested in running again for his former post. He is now working for Scott.

He could be a candidate for treasurer. However, he has indicated he might be interested in running for the appellate court from the Second district, which sits in Elgin.

Lindberg has told some party officials he plans to make his intentions known shortly.

There could be a lot of testing of the political waters between now and the end of September.

Can you imagine Gen. Ernie Ford?

By NANCY ANDERSON
SHELBYVILLE, Tenn. —
Ernie Ford got his first radio job in Bristol, Tenn., because his eighth-grade teacher said he "read aloud mighty well."
He still does.
Sitting, and sometimes standing, plunk in the center of the Shelbyville, Tenn.,

Walking Horse Celebration Ground, Ol' Ern was sailing along so smoothly, reading the narration for a television documentary about "Tennessee walkers, that his would have been a one-take performance except for unpredictable elements.
He'd come home to Tennessee to tape the walking horse documentary, to make some commercials and to visit his sons, Brion and Buck, who live in Nashville.

"Have you heard him sing
"Sixteen Tons"?" the proud dad asked, speaking of Brion who performs at Opryland.
"Buck's performing, too, and also writing and producing demo records for different companies.

"So my boys are getting along fine."
With the boys so well established in Tennessee, Ernie and his wife, Betty, might be expected to resettle in Brion's old stamping ground, too, but he said they plan to stay in California insofar as they stay anywhere.

Ford's progress as an entertainer, begun not too auspiciously at a radio station in his home town, was interrupted by World War II, during which he served in the Air Corps and met Betty.
He briefly considered making the military his career, and, a little later, he and his bride considered homesteading in Alaska, but instead he went back into radio in California.

"I think God, good luck and happens — in that order — put me where I am now," Ford said. "I'd been a radio announcer before the war and I loved it."
"But I did consider going to Alaska to homestead. That's when the government was giving those farm things to people who'd work them for five years.

"We really talked seriously about going up there and farming, but in the meantime I went back to work at a radio station."
"I also very nearly stayed in the Air Force, and if I had I might have been a general by now. My skipper — I was his bombardier — he's now a four-star general.

"Maybe I'd have been one too, but I don't regret the choice I made. I like what's happened."
What's happened began happening in October, 1955, when Ernie recorded "Sixteen Tons," and one million records sold within three weeks.

He was literally an instant wonder whose popularity has
It's to Ford's credit that he retains the same coterie of aides he retained when he first became famous — the same publicist, the same attorney.
However, he has made a move from one record company to another.

"I've just signed with Word Records," Ern said,
"after 27 1/2 years with Capitol. The first thing I'm going to do for Word is an LP of old, basic hymns."

Ern has more projects than an LP of hymns on his agenda, of course.
He's a headliner at clubs in Las Vegas and Reno, and recently he and Danny Thomas have been discussing the possibility of splitting a bill.
Thomas doesn't particularly like playing dinner shows; while Ern feels the same way about late ones, so they're considering going into a hotel as a team with Ern starring early and Danny, late.

An upcoming Ford television special will be taped on The Mississippi Queen, a stern-wheeler traveling between Cincinnati and New Orleans.

Singers of all descriptions
Frankie Avalon, Elvis, Bing Crosby, Paul Robeson and Frank Sinatra, to cite only a sampling — have played dramatic roles in movies with both relish and success, but Ford says he won't try that.

"Oh, yeah," he agreed,
"I've been offered some chances to try dramatic acting, but I'm not interested."
"You see, I've already got a job."

Nurse aides graduate

In graduation ceremonies last week at Venice Recreation Center on Broadway, 13 nurse aide students received their diplomas upon graduating from Venice-Lincoln Technical Center, 400 S. 4th St., Venice.
Venice Superintendent of Schools Robert N. Vickers presented the certificates.

Nurse graduates are Terri
Grimes, Judy Evans, Janet Miller, Claudia Carter, Vanessa
Walker, Fran-Ki Short, Dorothy Hinkle, Eloise Williams, Rickie
Endicott, Juliana Miller, Brenda Davis, Linda Brown and Bonita MacIn.

Growing reliance on foreign steel

(Second of a series.)
In order to understand the implications for the U.S. economy of growing dependence on foreign steel, steelmakers and steelworkers say it is helpful to first consider the political and economic considerations which motivate producers in Japan and the European Economic Community (EEC).
Japan's steel strategy has been an integral part of the remarkably successful Japanese postwar industrial development effort.
Not only is steel a key component in the manufacture of necessary capital goods and infrastructure, but it is also an important source of foreign exchange.

Illustrating the importance of steel to Japan's foreign trade activities, iron and steel products alone accounted for 18 per cent of all Japanese exports in 1975.
Beginning with the recognition that steel is a critical industry, Japan's government planners, banks and, of course, Japanese steel companies themselves have evolved a three-part strategy for building a large and internationally competitive steel industry.

First, the industry has been encouraged to rapidly increase its production volume, thereby permitting modern capacity additions and scale economies.
Second, the steel industry has been provided with enormous capital inputs, primarily in the form of debt.
Third, government and business leaders have cooperated closely to maintain high operating rates and protect the industry's highly leveraged financial position.

Steel exports have played a critical role in executing each element of this strategy.
For example, the Japanese steel industry has benefited from rapid growth in its home market.
But direct exports of steel products and indirect exports of steel-intensive products such as ships and automobiles have enabled Japanese steel producers to grow much more rapidly than otherwise would have been the case.

Aggressive export programs were undertaken initially to offset the cost of necessary raw materials.
However, during the 1960s, steel exports began to serve the additional purpose of supplementing production growth and offsetting cyclical downturns in domestic demand.

As a "target industry" favored by government planners, the Japanese steel industry has been provided with capital levels, which by U.S. standards, would appear virtually unlimited.
Steel companies in Japan, that in 1974 had debt to total capital of 83 per cent, obtain most of their financial requirements from the large Japanese City Banks.

These banks in turn are heavily overloaned and look to the central government bank—the Bank of Japan—to finance this overloaned position.
This system permits the government to exercise close control of the economy without directly guaranteeing any individual steel producer's debt.
The Japanese system of financing, together with the policy of effectively guaranteeing jobs to regular employees, makes the Japanese steel companies highly sensitive to any changes in their operating rate.

In fact, because of their high fixed costs of interest and employment, Japanese companies are immediately threatened with losses when their operating rates begin to decline.

To stabilize their highly leveraged position, Japanese producers rely on extremely aggressive countercyclical export programs.

Each downturn in domestic demand is met by a sharp surge in export activity.
Conversely, when domestic demand improves, export activity is reduced.

These countercyclical export movements are managed by the manipulation of export prices, which at various times may be either substantially above or substantially below average production costs.

Furthermore, these price manipulations clearly occur without corresponding changes in home market prices.

During the 1974 period, for example, the price of Japanese carbon steel exports to the U.S. rose to $100 per net ton above average production costs.

In 1975, prices began to decline as demand fell off, eventually dropping in 1976 to $35-45 below production costs as Japanese producers desperately sought to boost exports and maintain their operating rates by underselling producers in the U.S.

The Japanese export statistics testify to the success of these tactics. In 1976, Japan increased its total steel exports by more than 20 per cent over 1975 and exports to the U.S. increased over 36 per cent.

Regardless of the direction Japan takes in the future, it is important to understand the Japanese strategy of the past 25 years, simple because many other developing nations are likely to emulate it in pursuing their own growth plans.

Although each European nation is different, the more prominent elements of the Japanese steel strategy can be found in the EEC as well.

Government participation in steel operations is even more direct in the EEC than Japan, and government support has also contributed to aggressive capacity expansion programs.

Excess capacity in Europe, as in Japan, creates great pressures to expand exports.
And aggressive export programs, including government-sponsored incentives and volatile export pricing, are a trademark of EEC producers.

However, efforts to expand exports have met with less success in Europe than in Japan.
Unlike the Japanese, European producers have not been able to completely isolate their export and home markets, and low export prices have tended to "leak" back into home markets.

Also, especially in more recent years, European producers have had higher variable costs than Japanese producers.
Therefore, other factors being equal, the price needed to sell exported steel—while in some cases below average cost for One's lifetime eating habits formed early

Since eating habits of a lifetime are established in childhood, the wise parents will begin early to train their young in good eating habits.
It is almost inevitable that fat babies and overweight youngsters will grow up to be fat adults. "Baby fat" never goes away by itself. Parents who feed a child in the mistaken belief that fat babies are healthier or cuter may destine the child to a lifetime of obesity.
As the child grows from infancy into childhood there is a rapid increase in size that is unique to this period of life. Rapid growth calls for more nutrients. The growth pattern in children occurs in spurts followed by a slow height increase but a rapid gain in weight.
During a slow growth period the need for nutrients is often decreased and may be reflected in the fluctuation of the child's appetite. These fluctuations often cause parents concern. However, it is common and perfectly normal for even the most hearty appetites to fluctuate.
If a lowered appetite persists for a prolonged period, there can be evidence of fatigue, susceptibility to colds, infections and irritability, all of which suggest undernutrition. This can happen when the child is filling up on sugary, fat-laden foods, to the exclusion of good meals, the stage is set for malnutrition.
The youngster's weight is not necessarily an indication of his health. It is very possible to be overweight and to suffer from malnutrition at the same time. Many parents who pay little or no attention to the child's diet feel they are satisfying nutritional requirements by giving the youngsters a vitamin pill. They hope this will overcome the effects of a bad diet and protect against ill effects. It won't.
Soft, sugary food, for the older child, doesn't permit the natural development of jaw and facial muscles, and induces rapid dental caries. Manufacturers of such products as their TV commercials toward children. They suggest to the child and his parents that cupcakes, candy and sugar-flavored water are "ideal" snacks. Wise parents do not keep junk food in the house.
Children will emulate parents and develop the same kind of eating habits. Parental hang-ups on food are happy circumstances far more than many parents realize.

SIUE outside funding shows record increase

The Office of Research and Projects at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville has reported a record increase in outside funding for the University during fiscal year 1977, according to John Rodman, director.

Grants for research, training, institutional and student support totaled $5,629,093, an increase of almost $1.5 million over fiscal year 1976. According to Rodman, external funds have doubled over the past two years. The 119 extramural grants and contracts awarded to the University this year represent a 23 per cent increase over FY 1976. The number of training awards increased from 35 to 68 (94 per cent), and the dollar amount climbed from $1,158,389 to $1,945,746 (66 per cent). Student support increased by over a half million dollars and research awards, after a significant increase last year, continued to rise to slightly under the half million dollar mark, Rodman said.

The largest grant for research was $126,465 awarded by the Illinois Department of Transportation to Sidney Denny, associate professor of anthropology, for an archaeological survey of highway right-of-ways for FAP 410. Two training grants, each for over a quarter of a million dollars, were awarded by the Office of Education. The largest one-year grant was for a national demonstration project for developing science awareness and capability in low income students. The project is under the direction of Emil Jason, assistant vice-president for special programs and minority affairs.

The other grant, a two-year teacher corps project to assist elementary school teachers in the East St. Louis School District, had a first year funding amount of $249,232, with a second-year funding potential of approximately $175,000 more, Rodman said. The director for the teacher corps project is James Comer of the department of elementary education. The number of proposals submitted to external agencies this year was 209, a three per cent increase over last year, Rodman said. The ratio of proposals funded during the fiscal year to the number submitted during the same period increased from 45 per cent to 56 per cent. Rodman feels that the increase suggests that, not only the quantity, but also the quality of the proposals submitted by SIUE has improved significantly and that the University has become more competitive in seeking support for academic, research and service programs.

Dedicate new Chouteau hall on October 9

Dedication plans are now being made by the Chouteau Township Community Development Citizens' Committee for the recently completed Community Center.

The dedication will take place on Sunday, Oct. 9, at the Center, which will accommodate up to 350 people and will be available for meetings and social events.

The building was made possible by Federal Revenue Sharing and Community Development Funds.

Federal Revenue Sharing and Community Development provided the funds to erect the building and to purchase some equipment. The Chouteau Township Bicentennial Committee has been accepting contributions from interested individuals and area businesses to purchase the remaining equipment required.

The names of persons and businesses contributing $25 or more are being engraved on a permanent plaque to be located in the Community Center. Gordon Routh, chairman of the citizens committee, has announced that all contributions must be made before Wednesday, Sept. 14, to ensure that the names will be on the plaque in time for the dedication.

Contributions received after that date will be recorded on the plaque at a later time. Routh stated that many people are contributing in honor of former citizens of Chouteau Township, as memorials to their service.

Anyone interested in the project may contact Gordon Routh at 831-0639, Betty Lavelle at 787-0495 or any member of the Chouteau Township Community Development Committee.

Injured boy to undergo surgery

George P. Mathis, 15, is scheduled to undergo spinal surgery on Tuesday, Aug. 30, in Cardinal Glennon Hospital.

He is in room 415 and according to a family member would appreciate cards from friends.

Mathis, son of Mrs. Sherry Mathis of 2718 Myrtle Ave., ran away from home July 1 and went to work for a carnival in Akron, Ohio, where he injured his back on the midway.

He was reportedly paralyzed from his fifth rib down. Emergency surgery was performed in Akron to relieve pressure in the spine and he was flown to St. Louis.

Doctors are hopeful that the spinal fusion surgery will give the boy back the use of his legs.

He is expected to be in a full body cast for several months after the surgery.

ARIES: (March 21 to April 19) — Also Aries Ascendant — Much is going on behind the scenes — things of a secret nature. Avoid disagreements with mate or partner. Good time to redecorate and improve your home environment. Some may begin negotiations to buy or sell property.

TAURUS: (April 20 to May 20) — Also Taurus Ascendant — Think and act toward the future — resist complacency. Relationships with mate or partner are slowly improving, so be patient. Present projects, ideas to those in authority for critique and acceptance.

GEMINI: (May 21 to June 21) — Also Gemini Ascendant — Career matters are favorably accented. Some may get a raise, finances improve for all. Be the innovative "idea person" for best results. Opportunity is around you — be alert. Good time for a vacation.

CANCER: (June 22 to July 21) — Also Cancer Ascendant — Those who vacation now should take care of plans and details themselves to avoid error. Good time to study — take courses that improve your working skills. Make career decisions promptly and don't procrastinate.

LEO: (July 22 to Aug. 21) — Also Leo Ascendant — Stay in the background and allow others to take the lead now. Feelings of nostalgia and reliving childhood experiences may be part of the picture. Good time for a vacation if possible. Give deserved credit to associates.

VIRGO: (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) — Also Virgo Ascendant — Your personality shines and you feel very self-confident. Project yourself actively in all areas of your life. Agree with mate or partner on financial matters — avoid extravagance. You're somewhat impractical now.

LIBRA: (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) — Also Libra Ascendant — You could change your residence now and it will make a big difference in your life. New friends could replace old ones too. As soon as possible, get back to work with vigor. You could win a coveted prize if your attitude is positive.

SCORPIO: (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) — Also Scorpio Ascendant —

— You could be dealing with some serious problems now. Past mistakes may come home to roost. Make your own decision carefully. Not a good time to loan money. Avoid overindulgence in food or drink.

SAGITTARIUS: (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — Also Sagittarius Ascendant — Some could receive a raise, and the need to take special job-oriented training may take up a lot of your time. Your mood is happy and you can lift the spirits of others. Good time to buy new clothes.

CAPRICORN: (Dec. 22 to Jan. 19) — Also Capricorn Ascendant — A trip to help out an elderly relative could be necessary now. You'll feel good about the help you can give. Avoid quarrels with mate or loved one. Delay wedding plans 'til later if at all possible.

AQUARIUS: (Jan. 20 to Feb. 18) — Also Aquarius Ascendant — Any physical complaint could probably be corrected by diet. Get doctor's advice for a weight reduction program. Be especially kind and selfless with mate and children. Guard against impulsive spending.

PISCES: (Feb. 19 to March 20) — Also Pisces Ascendant — Your financial picture is positive now and will continue. Your romantic life is fulfilling. Handle a critical elder who wants to run your life with patience. Don't allow a moment of anger to endanger an important friendship.

Senior hot line— answers to social security problems

(Office of Lieutenant Governor
Dave O'Neal)

We have a lot of questions on Social Security Income. The following questions and answers are typical and do not constitute legal advice. Security Administration office.

Q. If a person receiving SSI has children who are able to live with his son and family, will SSI be affected?

A. The amount of monthly payments may be affected because of a change in living arrangements. Also, if income came from the sale of the home increases total resources to more than $1,500, the person would be eligible for SSI and checks will stop. Social Security should be notified of changes in income or living arrangements.

Q. How much are social security benefits reduced if a person retires before age 65?

A. It depends on how early a person starts getting benefits. If they retire at age 62, for example, will be 20 percent of the full amount. The closer a person gets to age 65, the less begins drawing checks, the smaller the reduction.

Q. Can a person's social security benefits affect an individual disabled (not retired) at age 65 but keeps on working?

A. Yes, it can. A person's benefit will be decreased 1 percent for each year between 65 and 72 that a person works. But regardless of delayed retirement until after age 65, an applicant must wait two months before age 65, since a person does not get paid until he has Medicare coverage.

Q. Can a husband collect social security benefits from his wife's earnings record?

A. Yes, if the husband's benefit is larger than the amount the husband is getting, or if the husband is over 62 and does not receive Social Security benefits on his own record, he may claim on his wife's work. For more information get in touch with your social security office.

Q. If a person is receiving both SSI and social security disability benefits, will income affect either benefit?

A. Rental income will have no effect on either benefit. But rental income is considered in determining the amount of SSI payments received. If a person receives SSI must report promptly to social security any changes in income or living arrangements.

SIUE stage set gets national recognition

A stage set designed and constructed by television students at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville for the production of Top Gun received national recognition, according to John Regnell, executive director of the communications department.

Constructed as the backdrop for six half-hour episodes of the television series Top Gun, the winning entry has been accepted into the National Student Design Competition Broadcasters' 1977 Graphic and Design Awards Show.

Presentation of the awards will be made at this year's annual convention held in Washington, D.C. November 12-14. The winning set is on exhibition during the convention and have been included in a special film presentation.

MR. AND MRS. MIKE ARAKAKI. The bride is the former Miss Kim Hewlett, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hewlett, of East Alton. The wedding took place at Emmanuel Baptist Church, Granite City.

Mrs. Hornberger is club hostess

Mrs. Ruby Hornberger entertained the AC & Pinocchio Club, Tuesday evening, at a meeting held in her home.

Members and guests celebrated the 24th anniversary of the club during the evening and were served an ice cream cake by the hostess.

Those excelling in the games and winning prizes were Mrs. Margaret Bell, Mrs. Velma Scroggins and Mrs. Lenna Williams, both guests and Mrs. Sue Kruger.

Also present were Lillian Naeve, Penny Ousley and Elvira Thurber. Mrs. Bell invited the club to meet in her home for the September social.

LOOT MOBILE HOME
Richard Langley, who is moving into 289 Sunny Shores Mobile Home Park, discovered at 7 p.m. Monday that someone had forced his way into the unit and stole a smoke alarm, the bathroom drapes and a lighting fixture.

Arakaki-Hewlett nuptials at Emmanuel Baptist

The Rev. Vernon Covington performed a double ring ceremony on Aug. 6 at Emmanuel Baptist Church, uniting in marriage Miss Kim Hewlett and Mike Arakaki.

Evergreens arranged in wicker baskets decorated the sanctuary for the 7 o'clock evening candlelight service. Jeff Hewlett and Alan Arakaki, brothers of the bride couple, and Danny Wehrle, a nephew of the bride, served as candlelighters.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hewlett, 400 Spruce St., East Alton. Parents of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Arakaki, reside at 214 Miracle Ave.

Planner Veda Traw accompanied Miss Marjean Ellsworth as she sang several nuptial selections.

For her wedding the bride chose a full length A-line satin gown accented with Chantilly lace and fashioned with a detachable train.

She wore a cathedral length veil of Chantilly lace and she held a bouquet of white roses, carnations and baby's breath. The maid of honor Miss Vicki Braundmeier selected a blue satin Empire style dress enhanced with a rose and blue embroidered lace.

Her bouquet was an arrangement of blue roses, carnations and baby's breath. The bridesmaids Miss Emily Morgan and Miss Darlene Arakaki, a sister of the groom, wore yellow and pink gowns trimmed in matching lace.

Each held a nosegay of roses, carnations and baby's breath in hues to match their dresses. The groom chose Pete Johnson as his best man. Kevin Tucker, Rusty Cripps, Ray Wehrle, a brother of the bride, and Scott Dodson completed the corps of groomsmen and ushers.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the Vital Service Building in East Alton. The groom's parents hosted a rehearsal dinner at Charlie's Restaurant.

The newly married couple are now residing in Granite City after a wedding trip to Hawaii. A 1976 graduate of Roxana High School, the bride is now employed at Weber's Produce Co. the groom works at McDonnell Douglas and is a 1974 graduate of Granite City High School.

Surprise party fetes Mr. and Mrs. Davis

Mr. and Mrs. Ted (Effie) Davis, 2610 Sheridan Ave., were complimented at a surprise 70th birthday party given, during the weekend, by their daughters in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bernice Crockett, 53 Lucinda Drive, Edwardsville.

Mr. Davis observed his birthday on July 20 and Mrs. Davis will mark her birthday on Monday, Aug. 29.

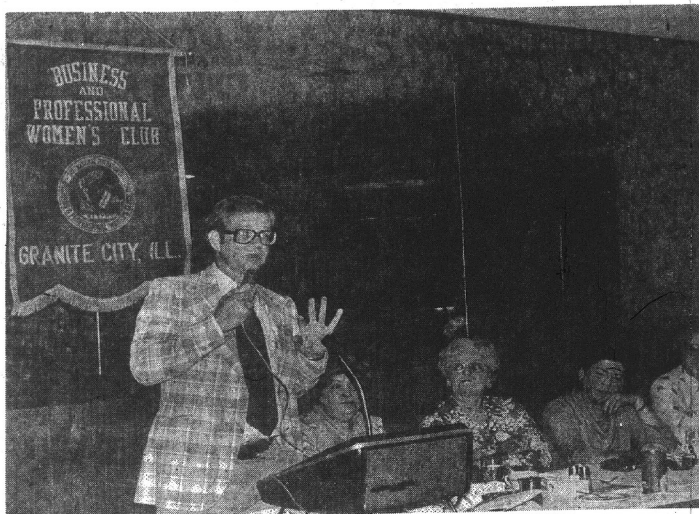

Hosting the social event were Mrs. Gene (Ruby) Hardy of Bonne Terre, Mo., Mrs. Ann Howard and Mrs. Larry (Maxine) Hoeller both of Granite City, Mrs. Joan Teal of Collinsville, Mrs. Evelyn Fowler of Granite City and Mrs. Shirley Crockett.

The honorees received approximately 70 guests during the afternoon including sisters and brothers of Mrs. Davis who were together for the first time in 20 years.

Sisters and brothers of Mrs. Davis were Mrs. Ernest (Bea) Trawick of Tennessee Ridge, Tenn., Mrs. George Naomi Pfaffen, Mrs. Lloy (Lorene) Gipson of East Alton, Raymond, Herman and Jack O'Dell.

Brothers, sisters and widowed sisters-in-law of Mr. Davis who attended were Mr. and Mrs. John (Dorothy) Cuyar, Mr. and Mrs. Elmo (Corrine) Hinson, Jim Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Harry (Hazel) Thureau, Nat Davis, Mrs. Luther (Evelyn) Davis and Mrs. Joe (Effie) Vrenick.

UNDERCOATING—RALPH'S TEXACO 22ND & MADISON AVE.

MEDICAL DANGERS of teenage pregnancy are reviewed by Dr. Dennis Petroff, St. Elizabeth Hospital physician, at the Granite City Business and Professional Women's dinner meeting at Charlie's Restaurant. The special program was part of the local BPW club's increasing involvement with young people and an effort to better understand their problems. Seated front left to

Dangers of teenage pregnancy are real

Reasons behind medical dangers of teenage pregnancy were reviewed by St. Elizabeth Hospital physician Dennis Petroff, M.D., at the August dinner meeting of the Granite City Business and Professional Women's Club at Charlie's Restaurant.

"In 1965, there were 600,000 deliveries. That figure has declined since, but is on the rise again," Dr. Petroff said.

One of the major reasons for increased teenage pregnancy is an earlier onset of menses, according to Dr. Petroff. Today—largely as a result of dietary changes—menses occurs as early as 10 years old, he said.

"Consequently, the higher fertility rate means a girl today has a greater chance of becoming pregnant at an earlier age than her grandmother," Dr. Petroff explained.

An increased recognition and acceptance of sex rather than increased sexual freedom also may account for the rising number of teenage pregnancies, Dr. Petroff believes.

"Twenty per cent of 14-year-olds asked will admit to experiencing sexual intercourse. Of babies born out of wedlock, 42 per cent were accounted for by teenagers," he said.

The emotional and psychiatric composition of the teenager plays an important role in a large portion of teenage pregnancies, Dr. Petroff said.

Because young girls have smaller pelvic diameters, there is an increased rate of C-sections, Dr. Petroff noted. In addition, the typical pregnant teenager has poor pre-natal care because she is not seen until she has been pregnant for 24 to 34 weeks, is emotionally unstable, has a poor nutritional background (is a "junk" food eater and a heavy smoker), and runs a higher risk of anemia because she does not follow her physicians' advice, Dr. Petroff said.

"But, the main problem among pregnant teenagers is toxemia, a condition causing high blood pressure, water retention, and protein in the urine," according to Dr. Petroff.

The mortality rate for newborns of females under 15 years of age is 41.2 per cent one thousand. For females between the ages of 15 and 17, the newborn death rate is 22.7 per cent per one thousand, he said. The normal mortality rate is 15 per cent per one thousand.

The "post partum blues" also is more prevalent among teenagers, Dr. Petroff pointed out.

In addition to Dr. Petroff's address, Wanda Stephens spoke on cystic fibrosis (CF). Mrs. Stephens was accompanied by her daughter, Becky, who is afflicted with CF. She is chairman of the Granite City CF drive.

A linen collection for the Alcoholic Rehabilitation Community Home (ARCH) concluded the program. Articles gathered were presented to ARCH Director Walt Wichard.

Hazel Rollins, chairman of the BPW finance committee, was dinner chairman. LaVelle Stephens, first vice-president and program chairman or the year, introduced Dr. Petroff.

MISS DEBORAH COBB. Her engagement to Ralph Michael Whitmire is being announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis W. Cobb Jr., 2201 Glen Drive, An Oct. 21 wedding is planned.

Deborah Cobb bride-elect

Plans for an October wedding were disclosed with the engagement announcement of Miss Deborah Kay Cobb and Ralph Michael Whitmire, by the bride-to-be's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis W. Cobb Jr., 2201 Glen Drive.

The prospective groom is a son of Mrs. Hazel Marie Whitmire of Hoxie, Ark., and the late Jasper J. Whitmire Jr. Miss Cobb is a 1976 graduate of Granite City High School South.

Her fiancé, a 1976 graduate of Hoxie Senior High School, is employed at Midway Body Shop, Walnut Ridge, Ark.

The betrothed couple and their parents are planning an Oct. 21 wedding to take place at the Free Street Church of Christ, Walnut Ridge.

KNEE-HIGH WADING after heavy rainfall in the Quad-City area Wednesday as intersections and streets flooded with water due to overloaded catch basins and storm sewers. These children enjoy the water at the corner of 21st Street and Edison Avenue after 1.7 inches of rain fell Wednesday, most with a half-hour spate. Numerous cars were stalled by high water and wet brakes were blamed for several auto accidents.

Nameoki seeks GC approval for Maryville Rd. drainage tap-on Nameoki Township officials decided Monday night to urge the Granite City Council to vote on whether the township should be allowed to tap a stormwater line into the drainage system of the new Maryville Road construction.

Nameoki Township Highway Commissioner Frank Melchic said he has discussed the issue with several Granite City aldermen and has noticed some "differences of opinion," but feels permission should be sought while the road is still under construction and owned by Granite City.

The state Department of Transportation will assume ownership of the highway as soon as it is completed, he noted.

Melchic hopes to drain the Parkway Estates Subdivision into a holding pond near Stratford Lane and Maryville Road and then empty the holding pond into the Maryville Road drainage pipe during dry periods when the drainage system is not being used for Maryville Road runoff.

The township has sought a way to improve drainage in Parkway Estates for years, but using natural drainage was blocked by a court injunction. The injunction prohibits any drainage improvements which would turn more water to the east where it floods farmers' fields after going under the Alton & Southern Railroad tracks.

The township has contended the water drains naturally toward the east and said the court order to drain the subdivision in another direction is "ordering water to flow uphill."

An appeal to that decision was denied by the Appellate Court. A Circuit Court order for the highway commissioner to return all roadways and drainage improvements to their original elevations also was upheld and the township has been seeking a way to comply with that order.

Melchic noted, "We brought in anyone from the state we could," to try and find an answer to the drainage problem, but no inexpensive solutions were offered.

He also suggested that the Metro-East Sanitary District might help in financing the construction or in taking control of the holding pond and lift station after it is completed.

He is suggesting about 600 to 700 feet of underground pipe from Parkway Estates west to a holding pond about 200 feet from Maryville Road. A lift station and about 300 feet of underground line from the holding pond into the new Maryville Road drainage system also will be required.

The possibility of federal or state grant funds to aid in the project is being explored.

Mrs. Helen Hawkins, a precinct committeeman, said she feels the state may be reluctant to fund such "piecemeal" projects because all their plans are for the major Hillside Drainage program which should be started in about four years.

Hillside Drainage plans call for drainage canals to serve a large area west of the bluffs, including the Quad-City area.

Melchic said he does not know why some Granite City aldermen have expressed disapproval of the township's program. "It doesn't make any sense, because it is our money. All we are doing is asking permission to tap in."

He also said there is a danger that once the storm drainage line is completed, at the township's expense, Granite City might annex the area.

Trustee Norman Hessler responded, "It is our intent to try to help our residents any way we can."

Supervisor Harold Davis requested a formal written letter requesting the council's permission be sent and Melchic said his department's attorney, H. Carl Runge Jr., already has asked to draft such a letter.

Hessler also suggested that as many Nameoki Township officials and interested residents attend the council meeting as possible the night the issue is to be considered.

New fall programs for children at GC Library

By CHERYL HILLMER
Children's Librarian

A Reading Club contest marked the end of the children's department's summer program. Winners for reading the most books for children of their age in the club were:

Dawn Kostoff (75 books), 7-year-olds; Michelle Vasiloff (50 books), 8-year-olds; Jennifer Ortiz (50 books), 9-year-olds; Christine Brown (15 books), 10-year-olds; Paul Brown (15 books), 11-year-olds; Elena Ortiz (35 books), 12-year-olds; and Ricky Rozycki (15 books), 15-year-olds.

School supplies were awarded as prizes for winning by age group. The overall winner, Christine Brown, received a year's subscription to a magazine of her choice, "Young World."

Fall programs in the Children's Department will begin Sept. 6. Programs for all age groups are offered at these times:

Tuesdays, 4-5 p.m. Puppets (Ages 5 to Adult); 7-7:30 p.m. PJ story hour (preschool).

Wednesdays, 4-5 p.m. Reading club (ages 5 to adult); 7-8 Movies and games (ages 9 to adult).
Thursdays, 10-10:30 a.m. Story hour (preschool); 4-5 p.m. Macramé (ages 9 to adult).
Fridays, 10-10:30 a.m. Story hour (preschool).
Saturdays, 10-11 a.m. Movies and crafts (ages 9 to adult).
Special events will be scheduled monthly in a "Windows of the World" series of live performances or demonstrations on topics of interest to children. Community groups and school classes may arrange tours of the library, special programming, and library instruction by contacting the children's department.

All programs are free and open to the public. Donations of material scraps, old books, and wire clothes hangers would be appreciated.

Funds for SIUC Law School

Governor James R. Thompson announced Monday that he has signed a bill appropriating over $250,000 from the Capital Development Fund for the Law School at Southern Illinois University-Carbondale. The money will be used for construction planning.

H. B. 409 also appropriates over $11,000 in general revenue funds for a weather station at the Southern Illinois University Airport near Carbondale.

The Law School is currently scattered throughout Carbondale. The new facility will consolidate all the department's offices and classrooms in one location.

The total design fee will be approximately $425,000. When completed, the facility will cost $7.5 million.

The weather station, to be run by SIU students, will supply a service to the Carbondale area that normally would not be provided. The FAA recently took over air traffic operations at the operation and does not have a weather station at the facility.

The bills were sponsored by Representative Richard O. Hart, D-Benton, and by Senator Kenneth Dzubee, D-Carbondale.

News notes

Federal officials said that the administration of Gov. James R. Thompson illegally funded patronage jobs at the Illinois State Fair with money provided under the federal Comprehensive Employment Training Act (CETA) intended for hiring poor people. A maximum of 25 jobs were involved, according to a federal manpower development specialist who worked on the case.

Little difficulty is expected in moving 1,762 Air Force Communications Service employees and their families from Richards-Gebaur Air Force Base, Kansas City, to Scott Air Force Base, Belleville, said Brig. Gen. William R. Yost, the unit's vice-commander, who arrived Tuesday at Scott.

About 3,000 Belleville students will receive an extended summer vacation as a result of deadlocked contract negotiations between Belleville District 118 and its teachers. The first full day of classes was rescheduled from Tuesday to Tuesday.

A 70-to-120-foot-wide strip of land, south of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad — under which may lie thousand-year-old archaeological treasures — is all that separates the State of Illinois and the B and O Railroad from quick agreement of a 178-acre addition to Cahokia Mounds State Park, which contains Monks Mound, the largest prehistoric manmade structure north of Mexico. The railroad is insisting on keeping the narrow strip of land, testimony disclosed at an Illinois Commerce Commission hearing Tuesday in Springfield.

Damage has been placed at more than $2.5 million from the tornado which killed five people and injured more than 50 this week in the Lake Mattou area of east-central Illinois. Gov. James R. Thompson declared the three counties of Shelby, Cole and Cumberland state disaster areas Tuesday, the first step toward possible federal assistance.

Legislation signed this week by Gov. James R. Thompson will require an autopsy on a child under 2 years old who dies unexpectedly. The bill also requires that the child's parents or guardians get a preliminary report of the autopsy within five days of the child's death.

Prices on General Motors

new cars are going up an average of $405 a vehicle this fall, according to the nation's largest automaker. The increase — nearly six per cent from a comparably equipped car in 1977 — means the suggested manufacturers' price of a 1978 GM car, including options, will climb to an estimated $7,200.

About 3,000 Southern Illinois coal miners remained idle today in the wake of a wildcat strike at a dozen mines. The walkout, which spread Tuesday, was triggered last week by differences over interpretation of a holiday pay ruling at Freeman United Coal Co. Orient No. 3 mine near Waltonville.

Car falls on youth

Billy M. Hutchinson, 16, of 2629 E. 25th St., was injured when an auto he was working under slipped off its jacks and fell on the right side of his chest and head.

The Granite City Fire Department rescue unit freed him from under the auto and a Granite City ambulance took him to St. Elizabeth Hospital. X-rays showed no broken bones, but he was admitted to the hospital for observation of a possible head injury.

Road block in Venice

Venice police will set up road blocks Monday to check for city vehicle tax stickers that must be displayed on the windshields. Persons not having the stickers properly displayed are subject to arrest, according to Venice Chief of Police Ralph D. Brawley. The stickers may be obtained at the Venice City hall today and Friday from 8:30 a.m. until 4 p.m. Cost is $5.

Base stations a key part of CB

By LIL SQUAW
I keep hearing all this talk about how fast CB (citizen band radio) is growing. However, most of what I hear is about mobiles.

As far as I'm concerned, the real world of the CB mania is happening on the base stations. CBers are a funny lot. The hard core CBers are those with 10-8 base stations.

Most guys start out in radio with a mobile, simply because it's cheaper that way. We have so many new people out there, and they are all sitting in mobiles.

Some of these folks will sell out in disgust. They have trouble "getting out" because they ARE mobiles.

But some of these folks will hang in there and really get bit by the CB bug. Then, they will really find out what CB is all about when they go out and spend a lot of money and set up a base station in their homes.

The base station is far superior to any mobile unit. The difference is not in wattage, but in antennas. Having a far greater range than a mobile makes the base station reach stations that are farther away, and that makes CB more fun.

With the Illinois State Police finally getting CB radios in their squad cars, it's often the base stations which are the most help to them. Local React teams work closely with emergency people all over the state.

Most React stations are base stations. So, when you talk about the CB craze, don't forget that the mobiles are just a tip of the iceberg.

The mainstream of the CB explosion is taking place in the American home, on the base—hopefully for the betterment of everyone.

Catch ya later, the Lil Squaw, we're out!

NO MAD RUSH. Students of the Venice schools congregate outside of the school buildings yesterday morning until the last possible minute before the beginning of the 1977-78 school term. High school students attended a brief assembly then proceeded to their usual one-hour classes for only half-hour periods. The grade school pupils reported to their assigned rooms for the issuing of books and introduction to their new teachers. Full-day schedules began this morning for all students of the Venice schools.

Quad-City students returned to school Wednesday and today to begin the new fall semester.

Public and parochial schools opened with half-day sessions.

Classes in the Venice public schools opened at 9 a.m. yesterday and began a regular schedule at 8 a.m. today.

Mark's, Venice, St. Margaret Mary, St. Elizabeth Schools in Granite City, also held half-day sessions Wednesday and will continue the schedule until Monday when they begin full-day sessions.

Both Madison and Granite City public schools conducted half-day sessions today and will begin all-day classes on Friday.

St. Joseph School also held half-day classes today. The full-time schedule will start Monday at 8:30 a.m.

Sacred Heart School will open for a half-day session on Monday and begin full-time classes Tuesday.

Regular sessions for The Gateway Christian Academy and Lakeview Academy also are to begin Monday. Gateway is conducting half-day sessions today and tomorrow.

Books—from war to sports

JOHN L. McDONALD, vice-president and cashier of Granite City Trust and Savings Bank, was awarded a post graduate certificate at commencement exercises of the Graduate School of Banking at the University of Wisconsin, Madison, Wis., last week. Sixty bankers, all previous graduates of the school, attended a special one-week post graduate course on the Madison campus. The school is sponsored by the Central States Conference of Bankers Association, consisting of Bankers Associations from 16 Midwestern states.

AMERICANS REMEMBER—THE HOME FRONT; by Roy Hoopes; Hawthorn Books; 308 pages; $12.95. This is the way it was on the home front during World War II, as told to Hoopes by Celeste Kavanaugh. "Everyone was doing anything he could to help whether it was rolling bandages or addressing envelopes, civil defense or anything that came up, everybody was pitching in, patching up old tires, stretching the gasoline, going without sugar, because everyone had part of his family in the military. They were doing it not just for the country; they had a personal stake in it." Hoopes talked to scores of ordinary Americans who lived through the war years in the early 1940s and presents their recollections in this engrossing volume. Those were the days of victory gardens, war bond rallies and ration books—when America pulled together. (CO)

WILDERNESS PHOTOGRAPHY; by Boyd Norton; Reader's Digest Press; 179 pages; $14.95. This book is packed with exquisite examples of outdoors photography—and exact information on how the photos were taken. Once again there is a book that shows how photography can be elevated to the level of art. Nature's colors are captured by the photographer who knows how to arrange them and when to snap the shutter. For example, a little stream cascading over rocks is caught in a shimmering blue against a background of gold and green. The setting is Wyoming's Grand Teton National Park. This is an able textbook as well as a collection of stunning photographs. Norton tells you what you need to know to go hunting in the woods with a camera. (DC)

Social event to help finance vote campaign

A fund-raising social event is planned for Monday evening, Sept. 12, to help finance a campaign aimed at returning the Granite City street superintendent's post from an appointed post to an elected one.

Tickets are being distributed for $15 per person donations for hors d'oeuvres and refreshments at Charlie's Restaurant from 5:30 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. Sept. 12.

A spokesman for the People's Right to Vote Committee, the group organizing the campaign, said funds raised at the social event and through other activities will be used to distribute vast amounts of literature to inform the public of the implications of the upcoming election.

The city council has called for a special election Tuesday, Oct. 4, on whether the street superintendent's post should be elective or appointed.

Man charged with burglary

Donald Paul Lesko, 28, of 2204 Elm Ave., was charged at 3 p.m. Monday with burglary in connection with an Aug. 13 incident.

A 17-year-old Lee Avenue girl alleged she was awakened by a man on her knee in her bedroom at 2 a.m. Aug. 13 and found a young man kneeling on the floor.

She said the man tried to talk to her for nearly two and one-half hours before she jumped out of bed and ran out of her house.

The man left in a white pickup truck. The victim told police the man felt he had found "an unusual way" to meet her.

VELAZQUEZ SPANISH AND ENGLISH DICTIONARY; by Mariano Velazquez de la Cadena; Follett; 788 pages; $12.50. One of the most authoritative dictionaries in its field now has been revised and brought up to date. The trick in dictionaries is to keep up with modern cultural and scientific terms—a job that is made doubly difficult when dealing with two languages. For example, Spanish equivalents must be found for new words like ecology, analog computer, biodegradable, recycle and conceptualize. The languages of the world are constantly changing. With trade and travel growing between the United States and Latin America, there is an increasing demand for accurate translation. The Velazquez Dictionary contains about 150,000 entries, with guides to pronunciation. (JG)

Ancient gods or spacemen?

By ANDY LINDSTROM
CHICAGO — The moon-faced man with the melon-fat lips and funny, tight helmet was familiar. Conventional archeologists identify his statue, 18 tons of granite dug out of a Yucatan jungle, as that of an Olmec warrior from ancient Mexico.

The Ancient Astronaut Society says that he came from outer space. The chubby little figure with the Mae West midriff and wearing strange, round goggles that make him look like an Oriental Elton John, archeologists say, is a Japanese fetish or fertility symbol.

The Ancient Astronaut Society contends that he once visited Earth in a space ship. Other prehistoric figures, often riding flaming chariots or birds and wearing weird hats and bubble-shaped masks, are conventionally classified as gods or goddesses. Pyramids were their tombs, temples their homes and stone carvings their written records.

Admittedly, some of the pieces make an awkward fit, and some of the writings don't make much sense. But, the general outline of the past, as first sketched by Charles Darwin's theory of evolution, is firmly based on fact. Conventional archeologists say the puzzles will solve themselves as our knowledge of the past grows.

The Ancient Astronaut Society says that the chariots and birds are space ships, the men are wearing space suits and ancient ruins like the pyramids are guidelines for landing strips.

Conventional archeologists say the Ancient Astronaut Society is too far out to take seriously. But, then, Society members like to say, nobody thought much of Einstein, Freud and Darwin once, either.

And anyhow, conventional archeologists were in the minority in Chicago when the Ancient Astronaut Society held its mid-winter meeting.

For the nearly 800 persons — some members, some just curious — who gathered at the O'Hare Ramada Inn, directly beneath the flight path of the world's busiest airport, the record of the past was interpreted in a way they never learned in school.

"The Olmecs worshipped strange gods who came from outer space," reported Gene Phillips, a Park Ridge lawyer who founded the Ancient Astronaut Society in 1973.

"The hat he is wearing is actually a space helmet," Phillips, a graduate of the Northwestern University Law School and Harvard Business School, has had no formal training in archeology. He is what is known as a dedicated amateur.

"What the experts call Olmec warriors are actually astronauts," he said. "They didn't need to invent the wheel because they flew around."

A reporter was the only person to smile as Phillips "proved" his point by showing slides of a recent Society expedition to the Yucatan. Stone carvings of a man wearing what looked like roller skates were his crucial exhibits.

"These aren't roller skates," Phillips said. "Those are rockets that propelled him through space."

A huge jet thundered overhead, jiggling the slide in the darkened room. Most of the audience listened intently to Phillips' evidence. Some, however, wandered around the back of the room, browsing through a display of space-related books and a model of a purported ancient space ship.

With few exceptions, the audience looked middle-class normal. One man had a Kojak haircut and another was draped in turquoise jewelry.

But, no one wore a beanie with a propeller on top or sported pointy ears. None had two heads or fluttering antennae. The "Star Trek" groups and "future-shock" fanatics failed to make an appearance, although battalions of television camera-men and newspaper reporters scoured the crowd in search of a photogenic weirdo or two.

Even Erich von Daniken, the super star of rocket cars, was disappointingly normal. Dressed in a blue blazer and white turtleneck sweater, his only distinguishing features were an accent that sounded like he chopped his words off with a butcher knife and eyes that reminded one of a Biblical prophet.

Nonetheless, von Daniken was the man everybody had come to see. A Swiss writer and traveler whose book, "Chariots of the Gods?" in 1969 gave life to the quest for ancient astronauts, he came across as a guy with a gimcrack.

The gimmick, however, is a good one. Von Daniken contends that at some time in the past this planet was visited by beings from outer space.

These beings, he says, arrived in space ships and left numerous signs of their visit all over the place. And who can prove he is wrong?

Trapping coming back into style

By ART SCHUMANN

More area trapping licenses might be sold this fall than any year in recent history.

Suddenly, fur trappers will find an eager market for their product, since fur prices are expected to be the best in years.

Trapping was reduced to little more than a hobby just a few years ago when fur prices were low and there was little demand.

So, many veteran trappers discontinued trapping and hung their traps in the garage to rust, while synthetic fur took over for use in clothing.

With the lack of interest among the public for natural fur, suddenly trapping was determined to be cruel. Many people wanted fur-bearers protected against steel traps. Anti-trapping groups organized and went to work on politicians, trying to have the activity discontinued. Such groups called trapping inhumane and said there was a need to protect wild animals from the agony of being killed or maimed by leg-hold traps.

In some states, strict anti-trapping measures were passed as the result of the pressure.

But, in most states the well-organized Professional Trappers Association successfully fought anti-trapping campaigns.

Things have changed. No longer is the public so vocal against trapping — especially since clothing styles have changed and the demand for natural fur has increased.

Already the heavy demand for natural fur is having its effect in Illinois. The fur industry's demand for raccoon, muskrat and fox pelts is forcing the Illinois Dept. of Conservation to shorten this year's trapping and hunting seasons. Prime prices for pelts was already being paid last year — $30 for raccoon and up to $60 for fox, while muskrats were bringing up to $4 each.

According to the Dept. of Conservation, hunters and trappers are harvesting raccoons at about 300,000 annually. The fox population is also being harvested partly due to a loss of natural habitat.

Because of heavy pressure on fur-bearers this year, the state will delay the start of the raccoon hunting season. Although it opened Nov. 13, last year, this year the season will be Nov. 25-Jan. 26.

Trapping of raccoon will be shortened by two weeks — this year's season will be Nov. 25-Jan. 8. Fox trapping will be Nov. 30-Dec. 29.

Coyote, mink, muskrat, and skunk are also being harvested to increase in Illinois, particularly in the west-central and southeast portions of the state.

The hunting-trapping season breakdown:

Hunting — Squirrel (south) Aug. 1-Nov. 15; (north) Sept. 1-Nov. 15; Coyote Sept. 1-Feb. 28; pheasant, quail, rabbit, and Hungarian partridge Nov. 12-Jan. 15; raccoon, opossum, skunk (north) Nov. 15-Jan. 15; (south) Nov. 25-Jan. 26; red and gray fox Nov. 30-Jan. 31.

Trapping — Raccoon, opossum, skunk, weasel, muskrat and mink (north) Nov. 15-Dec. 29; (south) Nov. 25-Jan. 8. Red and gray fox Nov. 30-Dec. 29. Coyote through Jan. 13 (south); and Nov. 25-Jan. 23.

Latest fur market reports indicate the Europeans are now paying up to $60 for fox pelts of No. 1 and No. 2 quality and the market could take raccoon pelts up to $40 with muskrats up to $7.

Adventures in attitudes is Kiwanis topic

An organization known as YES (Youth Exploring Success), was explained last week to the Breakfast Kiwanis Club. Seminars for young people 17 to 21 cover what is described as "adventures in attitudes," according to Brenda Croak of Belleville, a teacher who works with the YES program, who explained the group's purpose and functions.

Topics discussed in the seminars by YES are: effective communications; diagnostics of attitudes; managing your mind; understanding people; managing personalities; good human relations; attitudes and leadership; motivation; goals and self-management.

The next seminar scheduled will be at Augustine's Restaurant in Belleville on Oct. 8, 9, and 10. The cost for the 30-hour seminar is $60 per person, which includes materials.

Kiwanian George Teller announced he is organizing an inner-club visitation.

Lew Bunch, presiding at the meeting, reminded the Kiwanians to turn in ticket money for the "hole-in-one" tournament.

New fee deferment policies set at SIUE

Changes in the policies concerning tuition and fee deferments at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville have been announced by C. Scully Stokes, vice-president for student affairs.

Deferments will be limited to students receiving some type of financial aid from the University. They must owe at least $75 in tuition and fees to qualify for a deferment.

Deferments will be issued at registration, Stokes said.

International students should apply for deferments through their foreign student adviser and veterans should apply to the Office of Veterans' Affairs.

Stokes said that the changes were made to improve the timing and delivery of service to students with a demonstrated need for deferments. By obtaining a deferment, the students can insure their financial aid awards are actually received, he said.

Any exceptions to the changes in policy should be appealed through the Office of the Vice-President for Student Affairs no later than Friday of the first week of classes. Classes for the fall quarter begin Sept. 26 at 7:30 a.m.

The changes in policy will become effective this quarter. Students seeking additional details of the deferment program should contact the Office of Student Work and Financial Assistance. The office is located on the second floor of the John S. Rendleman Building.

Social Security will issue separate checks

Q. I would like to know if when a man 62 files for and receives his Social Security, does his wife get a check in it with her name on it? — L.M.W.

A. If the wife is 62 or older she is entitled to a share of her husband's Social Security. Normally there is a combined monthly check payable to the husband and wife with both names shown on the check.

Separate checks may be issued if either party doesn't agree to the combined check procedure.

Q. I worked 13 years before my marriage. I have not worked for over 20 years. I will be eligible for Social Security sooner than my husband since I am older than he is.

Will I be able to collect on my years wages under Social Security or will I be ineligible since I have not worked recently? — L.C.

A. You will be able to collect. There is nothing in the law that says you must have worked in recent years.

Anyone who has worked for at least 10 years (starting in 1971) in employment covered by Social Security is eligible to receive a retirement benefit at age 62.

Q. My ex-husband is drawing disability benefits. I am 55 and we were married 23 years before our divorce. I remarried and was divorced after 3 years.

I am sick and cannot work. Can I draw from my ex-husband's account? — L.B.W.

A. To receive benefits as a divorced wife on your husband's account you must be 62 or older. In the event of his death you might qualify for disabled widow's benefits since you are over 50.

There's another possibility. If you have limited income and resources (e.g. $1,500 or less in the bank) you might qualify for Supplemental Security Income (SSI) payment.

Call your local Social Security Office for more details on the SSI program.

Q. My normal retirement date is Sept. 1, 1977. Will the salary I make from January through August have any effect on the payments due me after August?

In other words will I draw my full Social Security for the last four months of the year or will I be penalized for making more than $3,000 in 1977? — R.L.S.

A. You will be able to receive your full Social Security payment for the last four months of the year. The law states that you are entitled to a check for any month in which you earn $250 or less or do not render substantial services in a business regardless of the amounts earned in other months of the year.

Firemen plan road block

Granite City firefighters will man roadblocks at three locations tomorrow to receive donations to aid the fight against muscular dystrophy.

The firefighters will ask motorists to "fill the boot" with donations on Madison Avenue at 20th Street and at Niedringhaus Avenue, and on Johnson Road at Nameoki Road.

Proceeds will support the Muscular Dystrophy Association's international research effort and free services to MD victims.

Ed McGovern, president of Firefighter's Local 253, is requesting all motorists to stop at least one roadblock tomorrow and to give generously to aid the fight against muscular dystrophy.

INSURANCE SALES CAREER

NOT ALL INSURANCE SALES POSITIONS ARE THE SAME. This is how it begins:

1. The insurance company leads from your advertising and policyholders each and every week.
2. No servicing, no collections and no canvassing.
3. Top commissions paid 6 months in advance each week.
4. Training is important to both experienced and inexperienced people, and for the people we hire we will provide the finest of professional training.
5. Sales or insurance background not necessary.
6. Many fringe benefits such as $50,000 group major medical hospitalization free to you and your family.

If you are interested in a sales career with unlimited opportunity for both income and advancement, write or call collect weekly mailing.

Outreach program serves millions

Since 1967, when the Veterans Administration's first toll-free lines were installed, telephone counseling has played a major role in VA's outreach efforts to its clientele.

Free calls within state boundaries are now available to veterans in all 50 states, but this service is only one part of VA's total outreach effort to veterans and their dependents.

Another major segment of this massive program has been the direct-mail approach. Each of the 50,000 men and women who completed military service each month during 1976 received at least five communications from VA during their first six months back in civilian life.

VA letters advise all new veterans of their eligibility for benefits. Those without a high school diploma receive special attention through follow-up letters and even phone calls.

With the first letter is a postage-free card on which the veteran can designate those benefits on which he would like more information.

Since 1968, the VA has mailed 5.6 million such letters. Follow-up letters provide new veterans with certificates of eligibility for GI home loans and information on insurance and educational programs.

In 1972, the VA added a new letter. Six months after the veteran's discharge date, the letter from the VA reviews the timetable for veterans' benefits. Emphasis is given to those benefits which require application within a year of separation. VA has mailed 2.5 million of these.

Most recently, a VA office in a never-ending program in VA Mobile VA offices in recreation vehicle parks have crisscrossed the nation since 1972 bringing counselors to rural and urban areas remote from VA offices.

Periodically, benefit counselors from VA regional offices visit homes of the elderly to insure they are receiving the maximum benefits due them under the law. Such surveys have included widows of Civil War veterans, and veterans of the Spanish-American War and World War I and their dependents.

Last month, VA counselors from the Pittsburgh regional office visited 10 housing developments in the metropolitan area, identified as residences of predominantly senior citizens.

Masquers auditions on Sunday, Monday

The Masquers will conduct auditions for its fall production of the musical play "Gypsy." Tryouts will be conducted Sunday at 2 p.m. and 7 p.m., and Monday, Aug. 29, at 7 p.m. on the third floor of the BAC Miners Theater in Collinsville.

"Gypsy" is a large cast show with male and female roles for children, teenagers, and adults.

The show includes singing and non-singing roles and dancing and non-dancing roles. Singers are asked to have a musical number prepared for auditions. An accompanist will be provided.

Dancers will be asked to perform under the direction of the choreographer, but they are not required to have a dance routine prepared. Everyone will be asked to read from the script.

Rehearsals for the production will begin immediately after Labor Day.

The Masquers will stage "Gypsy" both in Collinsville and in Granite City. Production dates are in November.

Persons desiring more information may contact the director, Jim Swannick, of Caseyville, 344-1823, or the choreographer, Betty Darr of Belleville, 397-0326.

Anyone interested in auditioning for the show who cannot attend the scheduled tryout sessions may contact the director to arrange for a private audition.

Hearing Sept. 7 on state plea to control pollutant system

George R. Alexander Jr., midwest regional administrator for the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, has announced that the agency will hold a public hearing to consider the state of Illinois' request to take over the administration and enforcement of the National Pollutant Discharge Elimination System (NPDES) in Illinois.

Presently, the NPDES permit issuing authority in Illinois is vested exclusively in the U.S. EPA.

If the request is approved by the administrator of EPA after the hearing, Illinois will be the sixth state in EPA's midwest region to be granted permit issuing authority by the agency.

The hearing on the state's request will be held at 10 a.m. Sept. 7, in the Gold Room, Second Floor, South, Pick-Congress Hotel, 520 South Michigan Avenue, Chicago, Ill.

Under Section 402(b) of the 1972 Federal Water Pollution Control Act Amendments, individual states may assume responsibility for the federal permit system. Before a state is granted such authority, however, the EPA must hold a public hearing to provide an opportunity for comment from all interested parties.

The NPDES permit program requires all dischargers to obtain a permit to do so. The permits are issued with specific effluent limitations monitoring requirements and schedules for clean-up. If the dischargers fail to meet permit requirements they are subject to stiff civil (up to $10,000 a day) or criminal penalties (up to $25,000 a day).

Under the Act, the EPA administrator must take action within 90 days from the date a state files an application to take over the NPDES program. For Illinois, this 90-day period ends on Oct. 23.

There are approximately 2,600 municipal, industrial and agricultural sources requiring NPDES permits in the state of Illinois.

Of these, approximately 270 discharges are considered to be in the major discharger category. A three-member hearing panel will hear the matter. The panel will consist of the EPA administrator or his representative who will serve as the presiding officer, the director of the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency or his representative, and the regional administrator of the U.S. EPA, Region V, or his representative, it was reported.

The hearing will be open to all interested groups, and the hearing record will be left open for five days after the hearing to allow submission of additional written testimony or rebuttal of previous testimony.

For the accuracy of the record, all statements should be submitted in writing. If possible, although oral testimony will be received, statements should summarize extensive written material so there will be enough time to hear all interested parties. Those testifying are encouraged to submit extra copies of their testimony for the use of the hearing panel and other interested persons, officials said.

Comments are particularly invited with respect to the following issues: adequacy of manpower and resources to issue all permits on a timely basis; adequacy of manpower and resources to conduct on site compliance monitoring inspections and to support enforcement actions.

In addition, any person or group may comment on the state's request by writing to the EPA Region V office, 230 South Dearborn St., Chicago, Ill. 60604. These comments will be made available to the public for inspection and will be considered by the regional administrator who makes his recommendation on the state's request to the EPA administrator in Washington.

All comments should be directed to: U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, Attn: Carolyn Cates, regional hearing clerk, 230 South Dearborn St., Chicago, or to Illinois Environmental Protection Agency, Attn: Irma Laewell, 2200 Churchill Road, Springfield, Ill.

A copy of the Illinois request is available for inspection at the offices listed above.

The association has 1,500 members representing Army units which comprise the Sixth Armored Division under Major General Robert W. Grow in World War II.

As part of General George S. Patton's Third Army, the "Super Six" Division helped to initiate the breakout in Normandy after the D-Day landings in 1944, raced across Brittany to Brest, participated in the grueling battles to penetrate the Siegfried Line and then drove across Germany and Czechoslovakia into Austria. General Grow, now residing in Falls Church, Va., was among the 470 members at the convention. The general officer has attended each national meeting since the association was formed 30 years ago.

Mrs. Joan Yarbrough was elected and installed as president of the national association's women's auxiliary. She is employed in the assembly department at National Vendors, Inc., St. Louis.

Yarbrough succeeds in the office of president, Elwood H. Johnston (86th Reconnaissance) of Drexel Hill, Pa. Elected first vice-president was John J. Cvarovsky (86th Reconnaissance) of Parma, Ohio. Edward F. Reed (146th Signal) of Louisville, Ky., was named secretary-treasurer, and J. D. Stratton (231st Field Artillery) was elected board chairman.

Yarbrough has served in the association as first and second vice-president and was a member of the Board of Governors.

The association's new national president enlisted in the U.S. Army Nov. 28, 1940 and served in the 128th Field Artillery with the Sixth Armored Division from its activation in 1942 until September 1945.

He left the military service until 1960 when he re-enlisted and served in Korea and Vietnam. He retired in March 1968 as a master-sergeant, having served 25 years with the military.

Yarbrough was employed for seven years as foreman of a furniture and plating division of a St. Louis firm.

This month, he opened his own polishing and metal plating shop in Jennings, Mo. He noted the enterprise is so new, a name has not yet been decided upon.

Although the 30th convention just ended in Minneapolis, Yarbrough, and members of the St. Louis Unit Task Force Missouri have started planning the 1978 convention, he said.

The event, hosted by the local area Task Force Unit, will take place next midsummer at the Breckenridge Spanish Pavilion

PUNCH TRUNK LOCK

A thief punched out the trunk lock of a vehicle belonging to Gary Johnson, 2638 Grand Ave., and stole a 25-channel citizens band radio and power microphone, valued at $205, a brown tackle box and fishing tackle, worth $95, and a new tire, he reported last week.

Worms a problem in some soybean fields

By RON CORNWELL
Extension Farm Adviser

The green cloverworm and fall armyworm are becoming a problem in some soybean fields in Madison County.

The fall armyworm is a larva with three yellowish white hairlines down the back with a wavy, yellow stripe on each side. The most distinguishing characteristic is a prominent inverted Y on the front of the head. Fall armyworm is normally a problem in late planted corn and not soybeans.

The green cloverworm larvae is a light green worm with faint white stripes. The cloverworm normally feeds on foliage and not soybean pods like the fall armyworm.

If you find worms present, don't push the panic button. The problem may look worse than it really is. If worms are small, they consume very little foliage. By waiting a few days, parasites and fungus diseases can help control the insects.

The method to determine if spraying is necessary is to lay a plastic sheet 3 foot long between two soybean rows. Shake the soybean plants and count the number of worms dislodged from the plants. To justify treatment, there should be 12 or more half grown worms per linear foot of row, and 15 per cent defoliation during the pod set and fill stage. This means you need to find 36 worms or more on the 3 foot plastic sheet.

If control is required, apply Carbaryl (Sevin), Malathion, or Lannate.

Madison County farmers will have an opportunity to be updated on Agronomy research at the Belleville Agronomy Field Day, scheduled Wednesday, Aug. 31. The program will start at 1 p.m.

The field day will be held at the Belleville Research Center located near Scott Air Force Base.

Topics include cornweed control, soybean weed control, soybean variety study, foliar fertilization of soybeans, soybean cyst nematode, plus milo varieties, and weed control.

In some years, herbicides don't give the desired weed control in soybeans and a rank weed growth becomes a problem at harvest time. If this should be your problem, paraquat can be used as a "harvest aid" in drying weeds in soybeans.

You must follow label directions carefully when using paraquat in this manner. Do not apply paraquat before the soybeans are fully developed. Applying the chemical too early can result in a yield reduction.

It is suggested that the chemical be applied after the soybeans are fully developed and half the bean leaves have dropped. The remaining leaves should be turning yellow.

The recommended broadcast rate is one-half to one pint per acre. The higher rate is for cocklebur. A surfactant should be added for greater effectiveness.

Flies can become a real problem around homes with dogs and cats as pets. The flea has a life cycle of two or three weeks. In this period of time, they can multiply and infest humans and animals inside and outside.

Since infestations in homes become more evident after animals are removed, because warm blooded animals provide the source of food for the blood sucking flea.

Since dogs and cats are the present, pets can be treated by dusting with four per cent malathion or five per cent carbaryl (Sevin).

Use one to four tablespoons for a dog, depending on its size, and about one-half tablespoon for a cat. Treat every month during the warm months from May to October. Treat them once or twice during the colder months.

You can also buy flea collars, but watch for development of rashes if the pet is allergic to them. You can also spray a 0.1 per cent pyrethrum lightly over rugs, upholstered furniture, beds, and other flea infested areas in the home. It gives you a quick knockdown, but does not provide lasting protection.

Skate-A-Thon at Stardust

Stardust Skate Center, 3967 Lake Dr., Pontoon Beach, will participate in a nationwide Jerry Lewis Skate-A-Thon on Sept. 4 and 5 to benefit the Muscular Dystrophy Association (MDA).

All proceeds, including cash donations and pledges obtained by Granite City and area skaters, will go to support MDA's international research effort and its program of free services to patients.

The MDA program covers 35 dystrophies and related neuromuscular diseases. Clinics and other services for the patients in this area are provided through MDA's Mississippi Valley Chapter.

Anyone interested in participating in the skate-a-thon may register at the Stardust rink or by calling 931-5060. Prizes will be awarded for the largest amounts of contributions and pledges brought in.

Nationally, Jerry Lewis

Skate-A-Thons are sponsored by the Roller Skating Rink Operators Association of which Ray Robertson from Stardust is an active member.

Stewardess Alumnae Dinner planned for September 15

A repeat of the successful "Stewardess Alumnae Dinner" held last year which brought together for the first time former airline hostesses from 14 different airlines will be held Thursday, Sept. 15, at Greenbriar Hills Country Club in Kirkwood. This unique event is sponsored by the four organized alumnae groups in the St. Louis area: Clipped Wings, United Airlines Stewardess Alumnae, Inc.; The Kiwi Club, former American Airlines stewardesses; TWA Clipped Wings International; and The International Silverliners of Eastern Airlines. It is open to all former stewardesses from any airline. Cocktails are planned for 6 p.m. with a dinner buffet set for 7:45 p.m., according to Mrs. Charles Daniels, Clevela, Cour. Mo.

Four national officers of alumnae groups will fly to St. Louis to speak at the dinner. They include Mrs. Aurelia Lutton of Washington D.C., national president of United's Clipped Wings; Mrs. Polly Anderson of Los Angeles, national president of The Kiwi Club; Mrs. Marie Stevenson from California, national vice president of TWA Clipped Wings; and Mrs. Billie Schaffer from New Jersey, national president of Eastern's Silverliners. Local chapter presidents include Mrs. Karen Bylski of United's Clipped Wings; Mrs. Mary Lee Quinn from The Kiwi Club; Mrs. Thelma Welsh of TWA Clipped Wings; and Mrs. Sandy Hobart of Eastern's Silverliners.

Reservations and name tags are being handled by TWA, Clipped Wings, and the other chapters. The dinner will be held at the Greenbriar Hills Country Club, 10000 N. Highway 100, Kirkwood. Reservations should be made by Sept. 10. Tickets are $10.00. A national convention is held every two years with the next one scheduled for 1979 in Nashville, Tenn.

stated for Nashville, Tenn. in 1979.

The St. Louis Chapter of The Kiwi Club was formed in 1956, and in the past eight years has raised over $10,000. The chapter has twice received the national award for the hardest working chapter. In 1969 the club sponsored a casino night to benefit the Missouri School for the Blind. The endeavor proved so successful that future fund raisers for worthwhile charitable causes were planned. Money has been raised for severely retarded children at Good Shepherd School and for the Human Growth Foundation. A Monte Carlo party at Union Station and a wine tasting party at an antique shop resulted in $4,500 in proceeds to C.U.R.E. (Children's United Research Effort) for cancer research at the St. Louis Children's Hospital and to aid afflicted families.

Clipped Wings, United Airlines Stewardess Alumnae, Inc. was founded in 1941 in Chicago by Jacqueline Jos. Casper. Presently there are 37 chapters and worldwide members-at-large with a total membership of over 1300. Clipped Wings is incorporated as a non-profit organization, and has the Mentally Retarded as the nationwide philanthropic project. More than $500,000 has been contributed to this worthy cause. Each chapter supports an organization for the mentally retarded in their own community in addition to contributing to the national philanthropic project. The annual Clipped Wings National Convention is scheduled for Las Vegas, Nev. in July 1978.

The St. Louis Chapter of United's Clipped Wings was founded in 1973. This newest chapter supports the Lafayette Work Center (a sheltered workshop for the developmentally disabled of West St. Louis County) and in two years has contributed $1,325. At the national convention of Clipped Wings held in July in Los Angeles, the St. Louis Chapter received the Outstanding Chapter Award, the highest honor given by the organization to one of the 37 chapters. The award includes a large silver punch bowl and travel engraving with all past chapter winners which St. Louis will use for one year and return to Convention next July where it will go to the next chapter to be honored. Never in the history of Clipped Wings has a new chapter received the Outstanding Chapter Award.

TWA Clipped Wings International was organized in 1941.

reorganized in 1947, and became international in 1958. Currently there are 33 chapters with a total membership of over 900. At the 1975 convention in Phoenix, Human Growth Foundation which deals with growth problems in children was again selected as the group's charitable project. Since 1970 over $130,000 has been raised for Human Growth with last year's total of over $30,000 being used for two medical grants. The national convention will be held in Philadelphia, Oct. 26-29.

The St. Louis Chapter of TWA Clipped Wings International was founded in 1970. The highly successful "Annual Fashion Show and Tasting Luncheon" combined with the sale of a cookbook "Taste Pair 1976" has resulted in a sizable amount of funds being raised for Human Growth locally. Highlights of the 1977 year included the annual dance in May and participation in the "Spirit of St. Louis" parade. The chapter plans a "50's" party and dance.

In 1964 approximately 35 girls began the ex-flight attendant group for Eastern Airlines, which Captain Eddie Rickenbacker named the "Eastern Airlines Silverliners", commenting that his girls were the silvering in any dark clouds the passengers might encounter. After four conventions the group is twenty three years old and over 500 members strong. Each of the 30 chapters has their own annual fund-raising affair for the charity of their choice. "The national convention is set for April 1978 in Mexico City."

The St. Louis Gateway Chapter was formed in May 1973. A fashion show raised funds which were contributed to the Veterans Hospital at Jefferson Barracks. Other charitable endeavors included sending a boy to summer camp, donating food and a turkey to a destitute family. At Thanksgiving, a Christmas party for cystic fibrosis outpatients at Cardinal Glennon Hospital, party favors for patients at Christian Hospital N.E., and gifts to a nursing home at Christmas. Recent fundraising efforts benefited children afflicted with Cystic Fibrosis with the purchase of Cardinal Glennon Hospital for Children.

All former airline stewardesses from any airline are most cordially invited and encouraged to attend the Sept. 15 "Stewardess Alumnae Dinner" and should call Mrs. Richard Bylski 527-0890, Mrs. William Quinn 966-0118, Mrs. Gene Welsh 327-2223, or Mrs. Darwin Hobart 776-6703 for further information and for reservations.

PLAYGROUND FIRE
A vandal set fire to a tree stump and placed it inside a caboose on the playground at Johnson Elementary School last weekend. Firemen were at the scene 20 minutes. Little damage resulted to a play equipment from the blaze.

Shower honors Mrs. Brandes

Mrs. Marilyn Brandes, Mrs. Emma Steinberg, Mary Smallwood, Billie Bailey and Pat Becker entertained guests at a baby shower this week in honor of Mrs. Edward J. Brandes.

The event was held in the Fellowship Hall of St. Peter Evangelical United Church of Christ, which was decorated in blue, pink, yellow and green. A blue and pink decor was used for the gift table, centered with a stork and individual tables were centered with summer flowers.

Mrs. Brandes was presented with a yellow carnation corsage by the hostesses and was also given a silver baby spoon as a surprise gift from her son Steve Brandes.

A salad luncheon was served with a watermelon basket and a cake frosted with baby items. Stork songs were played and prizes awarded following by the honoree opening her gifts.

Roloff film at Central Baptist

The Lester Roloff film, "Freedom's Last Call," will be shown at Central Baptist Church, 3910 Highway 111, Sunday evening at 7:30. The 45-minute film depicts the nationwide ministries of Evangelist Lester Roloff. His work with young people is one of the most successful programs in the world, inviting the audience to attend. There is no admission fee and a nursery is provided, he said.

Women's Aglow meeting set

A Women's Aglow Fellowship, Granite City Chapter, meeting will be held on Thursday, Sept. 1, at the Edwardsville Holiday Inn. Theme for the monthly meeting will be "Come With Us to the Islands of the Sea." Reservations for the breakfast at 9 a.m. costing $2.95 must be made no later than Tuesday, Aug. 30, by calling 931-1350 or 931-2443, it was announced. The Rev. Henry Redmond, pastor of Full Gospel Tabernacle in Fairview Heights, will be the guest speaker at the 10 a.m. meeting. No reservations are needed for the meeting it was noted. Chapter officers report special music will be provided and a nursery is also available for a fee of 50 cents per child.

Lioness Club organized

The Lioness Club of Pontoon Beach elected their charter officers at their first business meeting last week at the Pizza Pit Restaurant in Pontoon Beach, according to the club secretary Maribeth Dake. Charter officers are, Mrs. Charlotte Fowler president; Mrs. Donna McIntosh vice-president; Dake secretary; Mrs. Linda Schermer treasurer; Miss Cindy Niepert Lioness tanager and tall dresser; Mrs. Veronica Shanks director; and Mrs. Glenda Duval director.

The new Lionesses then began the procedures of adopting their constitution with the assistance of Pontoon Beach Lions Club past president, Donald D. Patrick, who has been appointed as the Lioness Club liaison officer by Lion Club President Richard G. McIntosh. The members selected the first and third Thursday of each month at 7 p.m. as meeting nights to be held at the Pizza Pit Restaurant, Pontoon Beach.

The Lions Club of Pontoon Beach meets on the first and third Thursday of each month at 8 p.m. at Frank's D-A-P Restaurant and Lounge in Pontoon Beach.

The meeting will be Thursday, Sept. 1, to complete the club bylaws. Others attending the meeting were Mrs. Ellen Douglas, Helen Teller, Miss Sandy Stein, Mrs. Kathy Briggs, Mrs. Alice Johnston, and Mrs. Judy Wasson.

Clay Breihan of Edwardsville Lions Club who is the Illinois Lions District 1-G, Region 4, Zone 3 chairman was present as a guest.

Ordination at Central Baptist

Dennis McCaslin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don McCaslin, 3963 Lake Drive, will be ordained by the gospel ministry Sunday afternoon at 2:30 at the Central Baptist Church, 3910 Highway 111.

McCaslin was a member of the 1977 graduating class at Lakeview Christian Academy. He is enrolled at Hyles-Anderson College, Hammond, Ind., where he will start his freshman year next month. Pastor John Lamb of Central Baptist will lead the ordination service Sunday.

Delivering the sermon will be George Trask, pastor of the New Testament Baptist Church in Cahokia. Other churches to be represented at the ordination service will include the First Baptist Church in Brighton and Grace Baptist Church of St. Louis.

GC RESIDENTS VIEW PRESLEY FUNERAL
Mr. and Mrs. William Colp and children Ricky and Vicki of 40 Kirkpatrick Homes, have returned home after motoring to Memphis, Tenn., to view the funeral entourage of Elvis Presley.

The local family was standing near the cemetery gates as the funeral procession passed, according to Mrs. Colp.

Former residents receive Peace Corps assignments

David and Carol Shanks, formerly of Granite City, will leave shortly for Peace Corps assignments on the island of Dominica, in the eastern Caribbean. David is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Shanks, 25 Devon Hill Lane. Carol is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Carver, formerly of Granite City.

They graduated from Granite City High School in 1970 and 1971, respectively. David attended Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville in 1971 before transferring to Colorado State University. Mrs. Shanks attended Eastern Illinois University in 1972 before her transfer to Colorado State.

The two-year assignment in Dominica was arranged through the Smithsonian Peace Corps Environmental Program. Mr. Shanks will be a forest land use planner in that country's Department of Forestry. The job entails inventory and planning future use of the island's tropical hardwood forest. Mrs. Shanks will be teaching in a newly developed open classroom primary school in Roseau, Dominica. The island is a former British colony in the Lesser Antilles chain, and is English-speaking. Dominica is the least developed, most mountainous, least traveled of the Caribbean islands.

Mr. and Mrs. Shanks have done similar work in the U.S. since their graduation from Colorado State University in Fort Collins, Colo. Mrs. Shanks received a bachelor's degree in Child Development and Family Relationships in 1975, and has taught pre-school and kindergarten in Fort Collins since 1974, and an M.S. in Regional Resource Planning in 1977. She has been a research technician at the Rocky Mountain Forest Service for four years.

The young couple will be visiting relatives and friends in the Granite City and St. Louis area until Sept. 8, when they begin training in Barbados.

RETURN TO TEXAS
Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Martin and children of Corpus Christi, Tex., have returned to their home after a visit here with their parents. Mr. and Mrs. Warren Martin and Mrs. Fern Corey of Lenox Avenue.

SOUTHERN TOUR
Mr. and Mrs. Frank Snodell of Douglas Place and Mrs. Lois Weeks of Cynthia Lane returned home from Nashville, Tenn., where they visited Opera Land and the Grand Old Opera. They also visited the Hermitage, home of President Andrew Jackson. They accompanied husband of people from Granite City.

Orientation for families hosting international students Sept. 7 at SIUE

Orientation for families hosting international students who will be attending Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville this fall will be held Wednesday, Sept. 7, at 7:30 p.m. at the Religious Center on campus.

The meeting will be of interest to families hosting students for the first time as well as those who have served as hosts for several years, Delores Wegman, member of the International Hospitality Program, (IHP) said.

The IHP is a volunteer program made up of community residents who help watch over more than 200 international students attending the University, and the SIUE Office of Student Affairs.

"Families who have had foreign students before will be able to answer questions new families might have concerning the program," Mrs. Wegman said.

The evening's activities will include a film presentation, "Echoes of the Mind," panel discussions on what is expected of students and host families, and a question and answer period.

Anyone who is willing to be a host family to an international student should also attend the meeting. Host families are expected to meet students at the airport, provide a temporary home for them while they get adjusted to the community and the University campus, help them find housing, and act as a friend during their stay at SIUE.

Most of the students eventually will move either into University housing or an apartment of their own.

University housing is filled and apartments in the Edwardsville area are difficult to find. For these reasons, more host families will be needed while the students are making the transition from the world they left behind and the campus environment.

In addition to orientation night, other social activities have been planned for the international students, including a fall picnic, hayride, discussion groups, and a culture sharing program.

The International Women's Culture Sharing Organization will meet at the Religious Center on campus Sept. 1 at 7:30 p.m. Women from Iran will be in charge of the program, providing a glimpse of women's lives in their country.

A potluck picnic for IHP members will be held Sept. 24 at the SIUE Faculty Club. Games and other activities will begin at 2:30 p.m. Dinner has been scheduled for 5 p.m. Members are encouraged to bring enough food for their own families and for several students.

No sure cure for psoriasis

(American Medical Association)

The name of the ailment is psoriasis (so RYE ah sis). It is a skin disorder that affects at least one out of 50 persons in the United States.

It's exact cause is not known. There is no sure cure. Psoriasis appears as itchy, silvery-scaled red patches on the elbows, knees, scalp, trunk, and on the hands and other parts of the body.

The under arm and genital areas may be involved. The elbows, knees and trunk most frequently are the areas with the characteristic thick red scaling plaques. In the scalp, red plaques with sharp borders usually are visible at the hair line. These shed large quantities of silvery white scales resembling severe dandruff.

Acute psoriasis causes many small rain-drop-like lesions over the body.

Much more is known about psoriasis today than in the past. It is not an infection, and is not contagious. It may be hereditary. Injury to the skin sometimes precedes psoriatic lesions.

Changes in the seasons cause variations in the lesions. Psoriasis usually improves during the summer and worsens during the winter.

Certain medications and treatments are now available that often alleviate the symptoms and ease the problem of psoriasis. They do not cure, and the condition returns when the treatment is discontinued. In some instances psoriasis responds well to sunlight at the beach or outdoors elsewhere, particularly during the summer.

There are medications that your physician can prescribe to help remove the scales and ease the itching. Research still continues in a number of centers in efforts to learn the cause and to find means to prevent and cure psoriasis.

Until that time arrives, the patient's understanding of the disease and sympathetic understanding by his friends, family, physician and others will greatly lessen the burden for those who must live with psoriasis.

DEBORAH GRAY

Texan training

Airman Deborah Marie Gray, daughter of Mrs. Doreen P. Gray, 3945 Park Lane, has been selected for technical training at Brooks Air Force Base, Tex., in the Air Force medical service field.

She recently completed basic training at Lackland AFB, Tex., and studied the Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special instruction in human relations.

Completion of this training earned her individual credits towards an associate in applied science degree through the Community College of the Air Force.

Airman Gray is a 1974 graduate of Granite City High School North. Her grandfather, Noah E. Troyer, also resided in Granite City.

Sightless Sunday radio programs

Annually, Radio Information Service invites its listeners to participate in Sightless Sunday at the National Shrine of Our Lady of the Snows, Sunday, Sept. 4, there will be specially prepared liturgies for the blind and handicapped at 10 and 11:30 a.m., although the public is encouraged to attend.

Participants, various RIS listeners throughout the area, will deliver the readings from the liturgies and carry the gifts to form the Offertory Procession. Father Boni Wittenbrink, OMI, executive director of RIS, will be the homilist for the 10 and 11:30 Masses, respectively. He is Father Al Burak, OMI, co-director of the Missionary Association of Mary Immaculate, and Father William Clark, OMI, administrator of the apartment community at the Shrine.

Radio Information Service offers closed-circuit, entertainment and informational programming to its listeners daily. It is non-commercial, non-profit and non-sectarian in its scope. Additional information about Radio Information Service or Sightless Sunday, Sept. 4, is available from the Shrine at 1-397-6700 or from St. Louis, 1-314-241-3400.

Stretching dairy dollars

By DARLENE HEER
Madison County Extension Adviser

Today, the price of milk products depends upon the manufacturing process. Is the milk fresh, cultured, canned, or dried? Has the fat been removed? Have vitamins been added? The size of the milk container, where you buy milk, and whether it is home delivered make a difference in the price of milk, too.

Natural cheeses, particularly those marked aged or sharp, cost more than processed cheeses. Cheeses in large boxes and jars and cottage cheese in large cartons cost less per pound than in smaller containers.

Cheese spread from a pressurized can costs more than cheese spread from a jar.

Breads and cereals cost only pennies per serving, and those that are whole grain or enriched provide additional amounts of vitamins, minerals and food energy.

To help you get your money's worth from breads and cereals, consider these points:

Whole-grain or enriched products are more nutritious than unenriched products. Spaghetti, macaroni, and noodles in packages marked "enriched" are more nutritious and usually cost more than unenriched ones.

Ready-to-serve cereals in multipacks of individual boxes may cost two or three times as much per ounce as the same cereal in a larger box. Cereals you cook yourself are almost always less expensive than the ready-prepared ones.

Sharon Koesterer wed in afternoon ceremony

St. Elizabeth Roman Catholic Church was the scene of the wedding of Miss Sharon K. Koesterer, a daughter of Mrs. Norma J. Koesterer, 50 Cambridge Drive, and Robert J. Koesterer of Granite City, and Timothy A. Swigert, a son of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Swigert, 2540 Jerden Ave., on Aug. 6. Arrangements of pink gladiolus, pom poms and maroon carnations intermingled with sprigs of greenery adorned the altar for the 2 o'clock afternoon ceremony performed by Father Kenneth Becker.

Nuptial selections included "Colour My World," "Evergreen," "You Are So Beautiful," "Nadia's Theme," "The Wedding Song," "Theme from Romeo and Juliet" and "The Lord's Prayer." Dan Vizer presided at the organ and accompanied David O'Dell, soloist.

For her wedding, the bride selected an ivory Qiana gown fashioned with a fitted bodice lavishly accented with tiny seed pearls and Alencon lace, and designed with a Sweetheart neckline, and Empire waistline. The bishop style sleeves and flounce which encircled the skirt and full sweep train were created in a pleated organza. She wore a Juliet headpiece of Chantilly lace encrusted with pearls, to secure a fingertip veil of bridal illusion. Her bouquet was an arrangement of white carnations and roses tipped maroon color with baby's breath.

Maid of honor Miss Elizabeth Doroghazi and bridesmaids Miss Elaine Koesterer, a sister of the bride, Miss Wanda Simpson, Miss Donna Snow and Miss Cathy Weissenberg, chose identical gowns of ivory voile embellished with pink roses.

An ivory eyelet trim defined the square necklines, high rise waists and sleeveless bodices. A pink floral edging created an apron effect on the front of the skirts and terminated in the back with a bow at the waist.

The flower girls, LeAnn and Lori Swigert, sisters of the groom, were dressed in identical frocks, matching the adult attendants.

Steve Jachino, the bride's cousin, was the ringbearer.

The groom chose his brother, J. Mark Swigert as his best man. Groomsmen and ushers included Joseph and Robert Swigert, brothers of the groom, John Koesterer, the bride's brother, Chris Norman, Stojan Popovsky, Robert Koesterer, a cousin of the bride, and Lonnie Bailey.

An evening reception was hosted at the Operating Engineers Hall in Mitchell. Mr. and Mrs. Swigert, parents of the groom, served dinner to the wedding party after the church rehearsal in their home on the evening preceding the wedding.

The newly married couple honeymooned at Lake Geneva, Wis., and are now residing in Granite City.

A 1978 graduate of Granite City High South, the groom is employed as a manager at Burger Chef in Madison. The bride is a 1975 North High School graduate.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Koesterer selected a full length peach Qiana gown fashioned with long sleeves, a high turndown collar, a self fabric belt in the front of the dress enhanced the softly flowing caftan back.

The groom's mother was attired in a mint green polyester Empire dress featuring a pearl design on the sleeveless bodice and worn with a caplet of matching chiffon. Both mothers wore carnation corsages in hues to match their apparel.

Word-Head betrothal told

The engagement of Miss Sandra Jean Head and Donald Ray Word, 2018 Iowa St., is being announced by the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hershel Head, 2921 Marshall Ave.

ENGAGED, Miss Sandra Jean Head and her fiancé, Donald Ray Word, of Granite City. Their engagement is being announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hershel Head, 2921 Marshall Ave. A 1978 summer wedding is planned.

Fall bride-elect honored

A September bride-elect, Miss Stephanie Roth, was honored at a surprise bridal shower given this week in the home of Mrs. William Sage, 2825 Grand Ave.

Hostesses for the event were Jennifer Sage, Chris Kaczork, Christy Emiling and Marguerite Roth, who will serve as bridesmaids. They used the wedding colors of blue and white to decorate the tables.

After the guest of honor opened her gifts games were directed by the hostesses and prizes awarded to Rhonda Sharp and Ruth Valencia.

Others present were Junior bridesmaids Carolyn Roth, sister of the bride-to-be and Kathy Lathrop, Jeanie Edwards, Patty Bude, Vickie Butch, Mrs. Sage, and mothers of the bride couple Mrs. Gertrude Roth and Mrs. Doris Lathrop.

Mr. and Mrs. Clint Potter Sr. of Granite City became the parents of their first child, a son, born Aug. 8 at Christian Northwest Hospital, Florissant, Mo.

The infant weighed eight pounds, 15 ounces and has been named Jason Michael. The mother will be remembered as the former Miss Tina Pressey. The maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Pressey of Granite City.

Paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Clint Potter Sr., also live in Granite City. Mr. and Mrs. Darnie Bradshaw of Edgar Springs, Mo., and Mr. and Mrs. Jiles Potter of Granite City are the paternal great-grandparents.

MR. AND MRS. MICHAEL DAVID KELLY. They were united in marriage at Our Lord's Lutheran Church, Collinsville. Formerly Miss Lisa Carol Gendron, the bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Gendron, 2331 Zippel Ave.

Lisa Carol Gendron and Michael Kelly are wed

Miss Lisa Carol Gendron, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Gendron, 2331 Zippel Ave., became the bride of Michael David Kelly, a son of retired Granite City Police Captain and Mrs. Everett Kelly of Granite City, on July 30, at Our Lord's Lutheran Church, Collinsville.

Floral arrangements of painted daisies in rainbow hues adorned the altar, centered with a wedding candle, and the stained glass window directly in back of the altar trimmed with fresh greenery and candles, provided the setting for the 6 p.m. double ring ceremony performed by the Rev. Charles E. Miller.

Organist Alan Bogovich played "Heather" as the processional and accompanied Mrs. Catherine Casey as she sang, "Evergreen."

Mr. Gendron escorted his daughter down the white carpeted aisle and gave her in marriage. She chose a full length white dacton organza gown designed with a fitted Venice lace bodice featuring a high neckline and an organza ruffle around the yoke which extended over the shoulders and created short sleeves.

Venise lace edged a gathered flounce at the hemline of the modified A-line skirt and chapel train. She wore a white picture hat enhanced with a Venice lace crown and a softly flowing chiffon veil attached at the back. Her bridal bouquet was a cascade of white roses, gardenias, stephanotis, intermingled with pastel shades of baby's breath.

Attending the bride as maid of honor and bridesmaids were her sisters Miss Lori Marie Gendron, Miss Paula Lynn Gendron and Miss Penny Lee Gendron and the groom's sister, Miss Laura Kelly.

They selected formal length Empire styled sundresses trimmed with white lace and princess line skirts complemented with floral print voile jackets, in shades of blue, green, yellow and pink.

Each attendant wore a matching picture hat enhanced with fresh daisies and they held nosegay bouquets of daisies and baby's breath, in colors to match their attire.

Shayna Gochen, the flower girl, was dressed in a long blue voile sundress accented with a lace trim, and worn with a matching cape.

She also wore picture hat trimmed with multi-color daisies and she carried a white straw basket of rose petals.

Dean Sheikh served as the ringbearer.

Jack Mitchell attended the groom as best man. Frank Milner, Scott Hillmer and Brian Willis were groomsmen. Serving as ushers were Rick Horn and Jerry Duncan and candlelighters included Misses Debi Herman and Susan Hackney.

Mrs. Bette Easler presided over the guest book at a reception held at the Polish Hall, hosted by the parents of the bride couple.

Members of the wedding party were entertained at a rehearsal dinner given by the groom's parents at the Barrel Restaurant.

The newly married Mr. and Mrs. Kelly are residing in Granite City following a wedding trip to Ailey Springs, Mo.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Gendron appeared in a champagne color floor length voile dress and Mrs. Kelly, the groom's mother selected a green gown. They both wore white cymbidium orchid corsages.

Both young people graduated from Granite City High School. The bride also graduated from Belleville Area College and is presently employed at St. Louis University Medical Center as a laboratory technician. The groom attended Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville for a year and is now working as an Emergency Medical Technician for the city of Granite City.

She also received a Quality Step Increase which advances her to another step in her federal pay grade. Mrs. King is a supply clerk in Col. Levi's directorate.

Gardenaires attend workshop

The Gardenaires Garden Club held a combined meeting and workshop in the home of Mrs. William Long, Edwardsville. Members were busy preparing centerpiece for the Presidents' Council Day which the club will host in October.

Mrs. Mary Kristian, president, called the meeting to order and members answered roll call naming a wild flower suitable for a rock or wall garden. Members were informed of the arrival of the publication, "Our Fiftieth Commemorative Book" dealing with the 50 years of Garden Clubs in Illinois, and it was displayed. Mrs. A. A. Malotki also had engagement calendars, which are published by the National Council of State Garden Clubs, Inc., for sale.

Mrs. Earl Glenn, mini-garden chairman, reported that "Lawns" was the recent library display. A lesson on the American Land Trust was presented by Mrs. Glenn, who explained that the purpose of the trust is the preservation of natural areas. In the state of Illinois, the American Land Trust is preserving the Cedar Glen Eagle Roost, Hancock County, and the Little Black Slough, Johnson County in Southern Illinois. Members also voted to contribute to the Trust Fund.

Others in attendance were Mesdames Jerry Arbeiter, C. E. Eads, Roy Hermann, Charles Kohl, Tom Layloff, Abe Shannon, Alex Tarpoff and Robert Hints.

The next regular meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Malotki on Sept. 8.

Diane L. Moore becomes Mrs. David K. Hudson

The wedding of Miss Diane Lynn Moore, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otto J. Moore, Rural Route One, Ironton, Mo., and David Keith Hudson, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Hudson, 3513 Wabash Ave., was solemnized on Aug. 13 at Graham Chapel on the campus of Washington University, St. Louis.

Brass candelabra holding burning white tapers and Boston fern lavishly arranged on the altar and chapel railing, provided the setting for the double ring ceremony performed at 7 o'clock in the evening by the Rev. Kenneth Reeves and the Rev. Richard Dorthe.

Mrs. Fern Hlod presided at the organ and the Rev. John Polizzi served as trumpeter and played "Trumpet Voluntary" and "Ode To Joy." Soloists Mrs. Linda Schmitt sang, "The Wedding Song" and "Lord Make Us One" and Mrs. Deanna Collins sang, "Wherever You Go." Virgil Hudson sang "The Lord's Prayer."

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride chose a white peau de soie gown fashioned with a wedding band neckline created in Alencon lace which was repeated on the molded bodice forming a V-design on the sheer yoke.

The long tapered sleeves of matching lace terminated at the wrists with a tiny ruffle. Floral lace motifs were appliqued on the full circular style skirt.

A cathedral length veil of bridal illusion was attached to a lace headpiece and she held a cascade of white roses, white stephanotis and baby's breath interspersed with trailing ivy.

DWIGHT PARTRIDGES NAMES SON JOEL RAY
Former Quad-City residents, Mr. and Mrs. Dwight R. Partridge, now of 3014 Elsiebeth, Channelview, Tex., are announcing the birth of their third son, born Aug. 13 at San Jacinto Methodist Hospital in Baytown, Tex.

The new arrival weighed six pounds, four ounces, and has been named Joel Ray Partridge. He has a 6-year old brother Jimmy and a two year old brother Dwight.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Dwight A. Partridge, 2016 Beckwith St., Madison, and Mr. and Mrs. Harvey L. Bunker, 1905 St. Clair Ave.

reception held at the Wohl Reception Center. Assisting were Misses Brenda, Jackie, Karen, Lila and Patte Hudson, Keith Cox, Kathy King, Beth King and Donna Kessler.

The rehearsal dinner was given at Stix International House, Washington University. The newly married couple will be at their home in Clayton, Mo., later this month after a Caribbean cruise.

A 1975 graduate of Arcadia Valley High School, the bride is now a junior student at St. Louis University School of Nursing. She will graduate in 1979 with a bachelors degree in science and become a registered nurse.

The groom was graduated in 1971 from Granite City High School as valedictorian and in 1975 he graduated from Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Cambridge, with a bachelors degree in electrical engineering. He is presently attending Washington University as a graduate student in physics and plans to receive his PhD. in the spring of 1979.

Much-needed new Madison middle school will proceed

The "green light" just given by the Illinois Capital Development Board permits prompt action to construct a "middle school" for sixth, seventh and eighth grade students in Madison Community Unit School District 12.

The $3 million structure on Caine Drive east of Farish Street will be financed by state grant and by an $800,000 bond issue approved by local voters two years ago. Construction bids will be opened in Springfield Sept. 13 and 20.

The school will allow improved instructional space and techniques, and also will provide badly-needed capacity.

Half-day attendance on a split-shift basis at the junior high school level will end, enabling all pupils to have a full day of classes and time for extracurricular activities.

In addition to the traditional range of classrooms and equipment, the new school will include facilities for special education classes and physically handicapped youngsters.

Laymen will help state try to avoid financial disaster

Governor James R. Thompson may make some points with taxpayers—and reduce governmental costs—by his plan to have volunteers study bureaucratic procedures and recommend improvements.

It was disclosed at a luncheon this week that he has asked 140 business and labor leaders to donate $400,000 and the time and efforts of 65 of their management experts to begin a three-month investigation Sept. 19. No tax money will be used.

With the state's financial reserve decreasing by more than $400 million in the past three years, a changed pattern is needed quickly unless services are to be cut and taxes boosted.

Less certain of public approval is his decision Monday against calling a special session of the General Assembly. Northwestern Cook County residents have been seeking a legislative remedy while protesting property tax hikes and a sharp increase in their real estate assessments.

Quadrants and Madison Countyans can sympathize to a degree with the Cook County families, since the property tax is tied directly to home values.

Residential prices have escalated dramatically since the middle of this decade, and the state has taken a "hard line" ruling that assessment levels must keep pace with the fast-changing price tags on homes.

"Waste" and "surplus" for governing bodies are being alleged in the northern part of the state. While many official and public employees could argue that a broader tax base is long overdue, the extent of the increase within a short span of time has led to the citizen concern that took the form of an appeal to the governor.

Thompson's response is that the real estate property tax system "is bearing just about all the burden it can bear" and decide how to replace the corporate personal property tax as they are mandated to do in 1979.

Human rights abroad, 'police state' tactics in America

Press-Record Washington Bureau — "When freedom destroys order," Eric Hoffer wrote, "the yearning for order will destroy freedom."

Confusing freedom with license, Hoffer would lead us to suppose that freedom and order are at war, that one prevails only at the expense of the other.

This statement of the relationship between two desired goals catches Americans in a dilemma.

Many people are inclined to think they must work out a compromise between antagonistic principles. So begins the battle of d'ruthers; one group d'ruthers have this while the other d'ruthers have that.

Neither is likely to see that it has been neither an intellectual tug-of-war in which neither can possibly win its true objective — a tolerable, harmonious yet open social environment.

Moreover, Hoffer's depiction of freedom and order as opposites bent on destruction — at first blush — seems to be in accord with the observed evidence.

For certainly, there is a conflict in the civil forum, in the academic halls, even in the streets. And the struggle is between those who espouse liberty and others who proclaim as primary the necessity for order. The question arises not as to the effects, but as to the cause.

Does the threat to a peaceful life originate from that very latitude of thought and action that makes life enjoyable?

Not according to what we believe. What we see is this:

The conflict in society begins when these men trespass upon the freedom of others. Occasionally, the trespass is committed by criminals. More usually it is committed in the name of society itself.

For example, some men who wield governmental power declare that others shall not be able to buy artificial sweeteners, such as cyclamates or saccharin. That is a transparent invasion of personal choice and not by masked men.

Even when President Carter was talking about human rights in some far-off land, his attorney general was lobbying Congress to permit the Internal Revenue Service to continue police-state tactics against those in his own land with impunity. That's another example. The exhibits would fill a library.

Obviously, disturbances also arise from man-made lawlessness as well as from man-made laws, though usually in smaller degree. In such a situation, the principle of freedom declares the misdeed.

R. C. Hoiles, late founder of Freedom Newspapers, often defined freedom as "100 per cent control of your own property and zero control over the property of others."

He conceived that property includes not merely material possessions, but also an individual's time, ideas, skills and action.

Thus, freedom is self-governing by definition.

When one individual trespasses upon another, at that moment he ceases to act under the authority of freedom and instead becomes an aggressor. Whether he intervenes by law or by gun is only a difference of means.

So it is not freedom that wars against order; it is coercion.

By AL MANNING
SPRINGFIELD — Supporters of the Equal Rights Amendment are planning to get tough with political leaders in an attempt to win passage of the measure in Illinois.

In past years, supporters have sought approval based simply on the merits of the resolution.

But most legislation, at least in Illinois, gets approved only after being plugged into the political formula with horse-trading and political deals being cut on both sides of the issue.

The Illinois General Assembly, as tough as any in the nation, according to those lobbying across the nation on behalf of ERA.

So here's what they're thinking about doing:

At the urging of ERA supporters, several organizations which hold national conventions have agreed to boycott states which have not ratified ERA.

Thus Chicago stands to lose numerous conventions unless ERA is ratified in the state's spell economic trouble for the acting director rather than full director for the time being, hopes they will be encouraged by tension-relieving moves now underway and he patient for a while longer.

"They keep very close tabs on what's going on through the media and I think I can see at least in talking to the guys who are there — I see: 'Well we hear it, but we have to see it to believe it.' They're really taking a wait and see attitude."

Rowe is cautiously optimistic that the immediate crisis can be resolved: "The basic problem is that addressing the present population — and I think we can do that effectively by my own contention — that everyday the population is growing. In the last two weeks the population at the institution increased by 125. If that continues every two weeks, we're talking about a lot of additional people who are being incarcerated. And that takes a lot of money."

Rowe, 36, has moved into the state's hottest executive spot with some solid qualifications and experience. A career corrections man, he joined the penal system in 1962 as a teacher at the Sheridan Correctional Center, advancing to superintendent. He was advanced to Springfield as an assistant to the director of Corrections in 1971.

He was serving as chief of administration when he became acting director last August, succeeding Director Alvin Slatoff, who resigned to take a similar job in Wisconsin.

Rowe first met Thompson during the transition period that followed the November election. The Thompson transition team apparently recommended that Rowe be retained.

"I agreed that although he did not know each other, I would be willing to try it for a few months to see if he and I could get along. My major concern is the lack of resources that have been available to this agency. In my conversation with the governor I felt a real commitment from him to commit (more) money to the agency."

Rowe himself is a committed person. He puts in 14 to 15 hour days. Although swamped with paperwork, he tries to keep in close personal contact with conditions at the various prisons. There are 32 correctional institutions and he visits two to four each week.

Taxes too high — Governor

(Second of three articles on Governor James Thompson)

Q. A tax cut at the national level would put more money back into the economy and would create more jobs.

President Carter has promised tax reform, but he hasn't come through with any proposal yet.

Republicans in Congress are insisting on across-the-board tax cut as a means of creating jobs. What types of tax reform would you like to see?

Thompson: Well, I think the President bit off more than he could chew in the campaign. He made a lot of promises. He made one promise to balance the national budget by 1980 or 1981, and I don't know if he's capable of doing that. That's an awful lot of money.

He promised to reform the tax laws, and then he came up against the creature known as Congress.

Congress has an awful lot to say about the tax laws and they have been for a long time. And there are an awful lot of interests that are involved in reforming the tax laws.

I think taxes are too high. Start with that general proposition. And I think a tax cut — a permanent tax cut — would stimulate the economy and would create jobs.

At the same time, I think that the notion that we should be trying to eliminate some of the budget deficit is correct, so I don't want to appear to be charging off in two directions at once.

You can't offer significant tax relief and at the same time allow the budget deficit to grow.

That's just the same as saying that we should have tax relief now, and let someone else worry about paying the cost of government later on, and I've resisted that in Illinois.

We had a tax relief proposal here in the General Assembly, one which I endorsed in principle, which was to index exemptions on Illinois individual income.

You now get a $1,000 exemption.

That hasn't changed since 1970.

It's worth about 600 bucks now because the cost of inflation has driven it downward.

The proposal to index it — to have it rise with the cost of living — was in theory a proper proposal, I think. The difficulty is that we're in a tight budget year.

I would have cost about $18 million out of the treasury at a time when we're running on a skin-tight budget.

And it would have offered individual taxpayers only $1.50 in tax relief. I can't agree with that kind of concept.

Q. When you came into the office four years ago, you found a Democratic administration. Illinois was practically bankrupt.

You have met this financial crisis without raising taxes, and yet Illinois still offers its citizens programs and services you feel are necessary. How did you do it?

Thompson: I've stopped spending money I don't have. It's my first principle of political behavior: Don't spend money you don't have.

In the spring of 1974 we had a balance in our treasury of $43 million, the highest in our state's history.

That made the governor (Democratic Dan Walker) and the General Assembly reckless, and they started off spending it and they spent into deficits three years in a row.

In fact, the two fiscal years after that surplus were the largest losses in the history of the state.

In fact, the deficit for fiscal year '75 was $78 million, so you can see how bad it was the two years before we came in and said that if we have another deficit year on that order — since we anticipate only $48 million in the bank here at the end of the year — we'll be broke, we'll be bankrupt, so we can't do that anymore.

So in March of this year I submitted a balanced budget — balanced in a real sense.

It proposed to spend less than we took in in current revenues and to put approximately $87 million back in the bank to build up our available balance — to get us through cash-flow problems and to give us some financial stability.

I stuck with it through the General Assembly and I went on the budget for it.

I went all over the state of Illinois and I made 21 speeches on the budget.

I went out there with a big chart and a red ink pen and I showed people what the budget process in government was like, and most people didn't understand it when I started.

They thought that you got in $60 million of new revenue next year, you could spend $500 million.

I had to subtract things from their like last year's deficit, debt service, income tax refunds, supplemental budgets because that's what developed deficits during the year, unavoidable spending over what the legislature and the governor had no control.

We finally figured out that $500 million turned out to be $153 million in spendable revenue.

Well, when you get through holding the rest of the government to about three per cent growth, which is about half the rate of inflation — and spend all the rest on schools, you didn't have any more money.

Well, I made enough speeches and I talked enough about a balanced budget that I think the message got through.

Q. The Illinois General Assembly, though they sent me a general revenue funds budget that is $85.5 million over my recommendation, still sent me for the first time in a long time in Illinois a balanced budget.

That's a real credit to you, isn't it?

I'm going to veto down about $22 million of that and my budget is about $2 million over my recommendations, which is extraordinary in Illinois.

The legislature also provided me with a little bit of additional revenue during the session that I hadn't counted on, so we'll be able to absorb that.

We've been able to negotiate wage increases with state employees that will provide for no contract re-openers for the next year, so we'll have stable labor relations for the next two years in Illinois.

I'll full-fill the schools in 1979 because we'll have a balanced budget this year.

I just drew the line and I said I'm not going to spend more money than we take in and I'm not going to allow you to do it, either.

I took my case to the people and the feeling got through.

Q. You've evidently had success in dealing with the legislature while Dan Walker, your predecessor, had extraordinarily bad luck. What did you do differently?

Thompson: Number one, I talked with them instead of yelling at them.

Number two, I am as much concerned — as a politician — with the limits of power as I am with the reaches of power.

Q. Many politicians are concerned only with the reaches of their power, and not with their limits.

Number three, I did not embark on an ambitious legislative program. I thought that was wrong for a rookie governor and the General Assembly controlled by the opposite party.

Q. This year's legislative program was meaningful — balanced budget, crime, energy, health and government efficiency — five-point package; that's enough for a first term.

I don't believe that to be successful in government you have to come in with an extraordinary legislative agenda in your first term.

Maybe people would like to be let alone for a while.

Enough laws get passed out of the General Assembly without my adding to the pile.

I'm better off running a competent administration and letting the legislature take some legislative initiatives.

Also, I believe I'm correct in saying that in Illinois the governor has more legislative power than in any other state in the Union.

I can sit at this desk and rewrite a law and send it back to them (the General Assembly). Now that puts me squarely into the legislative process and, if I'm going to be in the legislative process by virtue of the constitutional powers that I possess, then I ought to act like a legislator.

And the essence of the legislative process is compromise. I have a willingness to accept the idea that all good ideas don't come just from the governor; that the possibility exists they might come from somewhere else, especially the legislature or from an interest group.

And so I approach the legislature in terms of compromise.

I don't let partisan politics get in the way, I couldn't.

I had a Democratic General Assembly. I presided over the Senate as its president for the first six weeks, and so I made, I think, lasting relationships that helped.

I won by 1,390,000 votes (last November). There were an awful lot of Democratic votes in the Senate and I have a responsibility to my Democratic constituents as well. I carried 100 of 102 counties.

I don't believe that the most Democratic county in the state — Madison County — by 19,000 votes — carried Pekin, Ill., the hometown of Sen. Dirksen — something he was never able to do, so I'm Democratic.

I think that a governor has got an obligation to respond to that sort of bipartisan sentiment and to carry that over into his legislative relations. And, by and large, it worked.

'Get tough' drive for amendment

Windy City.

So the ERA supporters are planning to spell out the dollar and job loss to Chicago Mayor Michael Bilandic, who is now in a bind. He is voting against the measure.

Bilandic has expressed more than a casual interest in ERA, as witnessed by his support of an ERA committee at the National Conference of Mayors in Phoenix, Ariz.

But Bilandic has not yet supplied any political muscle in an attempt to get ERA ratified.

If Bilandic and Cook County Democratic Chairman George Dunne want to provide more than enough votes for passage in the House of Representatives.

The measure fell only six votes short of passage. Can Bilandic or Dunne deny that can't influence these Chicago Democrats?

Well, the Senate session supporters fear President Tom Hynes will vote in favor, but to nothing else.

All of the blame or credit doesn't lie with the Democrats — 45 of the 74 representatives who voted against ERA are Republicans.

As ERA supporters see it, Gov. James Thompson didn't do anything to help their cause either.

He pussy-footed around and finally put out a news release the day before the vote in the House reiterating his position in favor of it.

Hard-nosed politicians see that move as a minimum effort on behalf of a governor who realizes that anyone with presidential ambitions must be in favor of ERA.

They want him to get involved in ideological issues, to recruit some votes for them in the Legislature. They think there are Republicans with no strong opinion on ERA who come from safe districts who are voting against it.

Democrats think they have two options on forcing the Senate into a stronger ERA position.

One, House Speaker William Redmond and Senate President Hynes could call a special session for the sole purpose of considering ERA. That would put the spotlight on Thompson's effort on behalf of ERA.

Two, by waiting for another ERA vote in the spring, the Senate would be a candidate for re-election and the Democratic nominee for governor could blast him for not taking a stronger position.

A major reason for the failure of ERA being approved in this state is its lobbying effort on its behalf.

With all due respect to the feminists, most of them are ineffective lobbyists because they are inexperienced. Most of them have no known legislators for very long, and few of them are of such standing to sit down and discuss the issue on a one-to-one basis with the powers in the state.

Some of them are intimidated by rank-and-file lawmakers.

Rowe is committed to improving prisons

By KEN WATSON
SPRINGFIELD — "I'm just not sure we can get everything done we need to do, fast enough."

Of the top-level administrators named by Gov. James Thompson, Charles "Chuck" Rowe, director of the Department of Corrections, is under the greatest pressure.

While other directors must struggle with saving and stretching the state's available dollars, Rowe deals with a problem infinitely greater — the preservation of human lives.

Overcrowding already has sparked flashes of violence and death in the state's largest prison, Stateville, and the potential for more trouble is great.

It is up to the Thompson administration to head it off. A crash program is under way to relieve overcrowding and Thompson has placed the main responsibility for carrying it out on Rowe.

But the ultimate decision as to whether violence can be avoided at Stateville or elsewhere rests with the prisoners themselves.

Rowe, who retains the title of acting director rather than full director for the time being, hopes they will be encouraged by tension-relieving moves now underway and he patient for a while longer.

"They keep very close tabs on what's going on through the media and I think I can see at least in talking to the guys who are there — I see: 'Well we hear it, but we have to see it to believe it.' They're really taking a wait and see attitude."

76 counties still accepting pleas for fuel bill aid cooperation in providing the maximum amount of services to those eligible for the program.

Six Illinois counties have already expended their emergency Energy Conservation Program's aid to offset last winter's increased utility and fuel bills.

The governor urged all Illinois citizens who believe they may be eligible for fuel bill assistance to contact their local administering agency, local office of Public Aid, regional office on Aging or local office of Vocational Rehabilitation before Aug. 31, the program's deadline.

Thompson commended these agencies for the Illinois Commerce Commission and the Governor's Office of Manpower and Human Development on their full

University of Illinois Medical Center
Home births are becoming more common throughout the country because they give an alternative to hospital delivery. The reasons for the increase vary from high medical costs to a desire for a totally natural experience.

Unfortunately, home births increase the possibility of harm to both the mother and baby. The major problem in a home birth is that there are no emergency facilities to help the mother and her child if either experience difficulties.

Dr. Silvio Aladjem, professor of obstetrics and gynecology, at the University of Illinois at the Medical Center, Chicago, advises couples not to plan home births because they would not be giving their baby the best odds at a healthy beginning. "Home deliveries are not good," Dr. Aladjem said. "If you look at the hard statistics, 20 per cent of all obstetrical complications occur unexpectedly. If I were to have a child I would not want to take that chance. It's a terrible risk."

We have to look outside our own country to the countries that traditionally have had home births. Dr. Aladjem said, England, France, Norway and others, are shying away from the practice because of the inherent unexpected problems that may occur.

"At an international obstetrics meeting I was talking with a distinguished French professor, who holds the most important chair of obstetrics in France. He said to me that he found the issue of home birth in the U.S. quite ironic. In France obstetrical care is just starting to catch up to where the U.S. was 10 years ago. People here seem to be trying to slip back to where France used to be."

To state that birth is a natural biological function is an undeniable truth but, says Dr.

Aladjem, to state that birth is a naturally safe act for a woman is a false assertion. "The overwhelming majority of women having their first child have never seen a live birth or ever had any instruction on the process of delivery," he said. "These expectant mothers would not be able to tell normal from abnormal."

The underlying reality to home delivery is that even if the woman could recognize a problem the home does not have any facility to cope with a health threatening condition. "You can make the hospital as homey as you want," says Dr. Aladjem. "You could have a family room for the whole family. You could make the labor rooms look like bedrooms. I don't object to any of that, but as the obstetrician, want to have an operating room nearby. If the baby and mother get into trouble I want to be able to do something for them."

Response strains budget for energy aid program

"The rapid exhaustion of funds for the federally funded Special Energy Assistance Program in Madison County, which was administered on the state level by the Governor's Office of Manpower and Human Development, indicates how hard the energy crunch has hit our lower income citizens," Senator Sam M. Vadala (D-Edwardsville) said.

The program, which provides funds for needy families in meeting their utility bills, expended in excess of $280,000 in Madison County from the time the money was made available this summer, 19 days before the Aug. 31 deadline for filing applications for these funds.

"Last week we were alerted by the Office of the Assistant Majority Leader, Senator Terry Bruce, that Madison County had been allotted its share of a total state program amounting to $13,640,000," Vadala said. "When we announced this to the public, further demands on the already strained budget were made."

"The fact is that cooperation from township officials in the County would the word on the program to the public."

Vadala said, "Estimates showed that a projected 6,400 families would be eligible for the program. When funds ran out, approximately 1,200 had been served.

"If possible, we will attempt to get more money from the federal or state funds to meet this drastic need. "I want to apologize to those whose hopes had been raised by our reminder of the Aug. 31 cutoff date of the program, but the important thing now is to do all we can to help those who will need this kind of help," Vadala concluded.

Two purses stolen at GC night club

Miss Christine Commons of St. Louis and Miss Benita Bryant of Bridgeton, Mo., reported during the weekend their purses were stolen while at Rocco's II night club, 3675 Nameoki Road.

A rust-orange colored purse contained keys, medication, billfold, credit cards, driver's license and $38 cash. The other, a Moroccan leather handbag, contained a wallet, checkbook, key ring and four keys, driver's license and identification cards.

State fiscal outlook improving

Illinois Comptroller Michael J. Bakalis has released figures which indicate that the state finished the month of July with an average daily balance of $84 million.

"But the really good news," Bakalis said, "is that the state took in $72 million more than it spent in the month of July. This compares quite favorably with the $22 million deficit we experienced in July of last year."

The Comptroller pointed out that the general fund revenues were $91 million higher than July of last year, primarily because of the tax acceleration program which was implemented last October.

Bakalis, in his monthly fiscal report for July, also pointed out that the $84 million average daily balance could have been about $22 million higher. "In addition to the general funds, the state ordinarily has some other funds which are readily available for use in paying bills," said Bakalis. "The main source of this money comes from balances in special state funds which could be transferred."

"Secondly, the administration could suspend payments to several debt service funds which have accumulated sufficient earnings to make the required payments."

The Comptroller pointed out that, "Even without those adjustments, the state can reasonably expect to keep its daily balance above the $100 million level at least until October, when a series of large expenditures may temporarily reduce them to about the $50 million level."

Looking toward the future, Comptroller Bakalis pointed out that the administration has signed appropriations totaling $42 million more than the budget called for.

The major approved increases over and above the budget recommendations are $185 million in highway funds, $143 million in bonds and $107 million in federal trust funds.

The governor has yet to act on 22 bills totaling $38 million in appropriations.

'Cycle passenger faces 2 charges

Noah E. Tidwell, 26, of 2541 Lincoln Ave., a passenger on a motorcycle at Niedringhaus and Washington avenues this week, was recognized by a Granite City officer and arrested on two warrants issued by the Madison County Sheriff's Office.

The warrants charged Tidwell with violation of probation ($10,000 bond set) and unlawful delivery of a controlled substance ($25,000 bond set).

Time near for apple harvest

By CHRIS DOLL

Extension Garden Adviser Apples are showing lots of color and home owners and orchardists are anxious to begin picking. But there is a best time for harvest and an art in picking.

The time for harvest is based on the condition and maturity of the fruit. The first indication of harvest time is when normal, unblemished fruit begins to drop. (Wormy and diseased fruits usually fall first.) Then check to see if the flesh color has turned from green to yellow-green as noted by the bottom end of the fruit.

The taste test should indicate some sugar content rather than starchiness. Red apples should have good skin color.

But just because the skin is red doesn't mean the apple is mature. Red color sports of major varieties that color early but mature at a normal time are now available. When picked before they reach proper maturity, flavor will be lacking and full quality will never develop.

When all the maturity signs are present, the apples should pick easily with the stem attached to the fruit. This is done by rolling or twisting the apple away from the fruit spur. If apples are paired or clustered, grasp both or all the fruits with the other hand while twisting off the first one. Avoid breaking the fruit spurs and branches in the trees.

Picked fruits should be gently placed in a container, and handled carefully thereafter to avoid bruising.

If apples are to be stored, select firm, unbruised specimens that are free of insect and disease blemishes. Place them in a poly or plastic bag to prevent dehydration and store in a refrigerator. A good cool cave or basement is second best to a refrigerator.

With plenty of warm weather ahead in this early 1977 season, storage without refrigeration for the long term. However, most orchardists will store in refrigerated storages for late season selling.

Being able to harvest vegetables right is a basic reason for gardening. The best quality and condition for culinary use is found in garden freshness with good timing of the harvest. Late gardens are still producing and proper harvesting should give the best quality and/or yields available.

Snap or green beans should be picked at the peak of flavor — when they are young and tender. When they are bulging with beans, the pod loses tenderness. For dry beans, wait until a heavy crop of pods has set and matured. Then pull or cut the plants to dry a few days before shelling.

Brussel sprouts are broken off when they are large enough. Usually this is when they are one to one and one-half inches in diameter.

Carrots are ready for use when young and crisp. Repeated plantings are needed for continuous quality through the season.

Eggplant should be cut from stem with a knife or garden scissors when the skin is shiny and the fruit is large enough — usually 4 inches in diameter.

Peppers are picked when firm, full-sized, and just before they turn red. Red peppers are satisfactory to use but have shorter storage life.

Summer squash should be picked when young and tender. Once the seeds form inside or the skin hardens on the outside, quality is lost. Keep over-sized fruits picked off to keep young ones coming on.

Winter squash and pumpkins should be picked when the rinds are hardened. For storage, they should be cured in a warm, dry room for a week.

Spinach tops can be picked or cut when leaves are 4 inches long. New shoots will follow till frost.

Turnips can be harvested

when moderately large, firm, and smooth. This stage should last for several weeks. Watermelons need to be picked when ripe. A dead curl by the stem, a dull sound when thumped, a yellow skin on the bottom, and a slightly dull skin on top are all indicators.

'Battle of Gettysburg' waged on Capitol Hill

By ROBERT ESTILL
Press-Record
Washington Bureau
Washington — The "Battle of Gettysburg" is being waged anew, with Capitol Hill as the battleground.
The objective in the conflict this time is not territorial, but historical. The prize is one of two copies of Abraham Lincoln's Gettysburg Address, now in possession of the Library of Congress.

SEEKS APPOINTMENT
Mrs. Helen Hawkins of Nameki Township said this week she has received verification of the receipt of her application for appointment as a member of the National Democratic Committee. Committee members and women are appointed by the National Committee through the state committee. Appointments are made every four years.

It is a struggle between the library and those who want to give a new address to "the address" by transferring one of the copies to the Department of the Interior for display at the Gettysburg National Military Park.
Only five copies of the address — in Lincoln's handwriting — are known to exist.
The other three are in the Illinois State Historical Library in Springfield, the Lincoln Room in the White House, and the Library at Cornell University in Ithaca, N.Y. Each of the copies differs in some respect.
Copies held by the Library of Congress are those named for Lincoln's Secretaries, John Nicolay and John Hay, and were donated by Hay's children.
The Nicolay copy is presumed to be the one Lincoln read from in dedicating the Gettysburg Cemetery Nov. 19, 1863 the story about him writing the address on the back of an envelope on the train to Gettysburg is regarded as a myth among most Lincoln scholars).

The Hay copy is believed to have been written by Lincoln shortly after his return to Washington from Gettysburg. Supporters of pending legislation to authorize the transfer of one of the copies include the Gettysburg Travel Council, more than 12,000 petition signers and Pennsylvania lawmakers.
Standing fast in its opposition is the Library of Congress, which successfully resisted a similar effort two years ago.
The library has not changed its position since then, a spokesman said.
Among the library's objections are problems of preservation and precedent. The copies are not on public view at all times; they currently are off public display and are in the manuscript room where they can be examined by scholars. They are tested periodically to guard against deterioration.

The library also feels allowing a transfer would set a "highly undesirable precedent." Other museums, parks or libraries with historical ties might want to follow suit. Might not Illinois lay claim to the library's Lincoln Collection? Might not potential donors be reluctant to contribute if they could not be assured their contributions would remain in the Library of Congress?
The library also takes the position it has an informal contract with the Hay family to be the custodian of the manuscripts.
"That is a lot of bunk," said James M. Cole, executive director of the Gettysburg Travel Council and a leader in the current effort to obtain a copy.

He said the 1916 letter of transference from Clarence L. Hay, son of John Hay, said the manuscripts are presented to the "government of the United States." Cole does not believe that limits the display to the Library of Congress.
Transferring the copy would not be leaving the doors open to a raid on the library in Cole's judgment. He said the difficulties they have had in trying to get a copy do not signify the library is preparing for any "wholesale dispersal" of government documents.
As for the question of preservation, he said the study in 1974-75 on how to preserve the document while making it available for viewing by the four million Gettysburg visitors each year. Under that plan, the document would be subjected to a maximum of five candlepower lighting.

By contrast, the copy at the white house is enclosed between two pieces of plexiglass and is not protected against light or temperature, Cole said.
At this point, Cole seems to be fighting a losing battle. His request for support from President Carter drew a non-committal form letter. Rep. Lucien Nedzi, D-Mich., chairman of the Subcommittee on Libraries and Memorials where the bill is lodged, has not committed himself either; it is uncertain if the bill will get a hearing this year.

If efforts in Washington fail, Cole said the council may try to persuade Cornell University to loan or give its copy to Gettysburg.
But he said he does not plan on making a pitch for the Illinois copy, which has an interesting and, mysterious history.
The Illinois copy is named for Edward Everett, who was an ordained minister, ambassador to England and president of Harvard University. One of the great orators of his time, Everett preceded Lincoln in speaking at Gettysburg that day.
Everett later proposed that copies of remarks made that day be bound and sold at a fair in New York in April of 1864, with the proceeds to go to Civil War widows and orphans.

Lincoln complied, but there is no record any copies were sold at the fair, Cole said.
Instead, the Everett copy passed through several hands until 1944 when it was purchased for the State of Illinois from Mrs. James C. Ames with funds donated by Illinois schoolchildren.
With that history in mind, Cole said he does not plan to ask Illinois to donate its copy.
"With that state's ties with Lincoln, I believe it would be inappropriate," he said.
"Illinois should have a copy." But he believes Pennsylvania also has a historical claim and plans to keep pushing it.
